M'GOWAN ADMITS WRITING 'HE MADE 'EM COME ACROSS'

Lorimer-Hines Witness Says He Received $300 from Wiehe in Chicago Hotel.

TRIES TO EXPLAIN LETTER

"Them" Meant One Person, "Him" Another; Settlement Was for "Losses," He Testifies.

CONFESSES ASKING $5,000 LOAN

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Charles McGowan, the Lorimer-Hines witness, who was "roped" by Detective Arthur C. Bailey of the Burns agency, made two vital admissions today before the Lorimer investigating committee. They were:

That he received $300 from Christian F. Wiehe, brother-in-law of Edward Hines, on Oct. 28, 1911, at the Brevoort hotel in Chicago.

That he wrote to Detective Bailey his letter of Nov. 19, in which he used this language:

"I made them come across at that—not all I expected though—and I had a hell of a time getting it, too. Had to threaten him with all kinds of exposure."

By "them" the witness testified he meant Wiehe, who, according to William Burgess, stated in the smoking car of the Winnipeg Flyer that he had contributed $10,000 to the Lorimer jackpot election fund; and by "him," R. J. Shields, the agent of Wiehe, who secured the original affidavit from McGowan, denying the testimony of Burgess.

Explains Emphatic Expressions.

McGowan explained that by the expression "to made them come across" he meant he had quite a time in getting the money he believed was legitimately due him on account of "losses" he had sustained from being absent from his business.

"I had to wait nine days in Chicago," he said, "and had a row with Shields over it, and I considered I had quite a time getting it."

He said he learned the expression "come across" from Bailey. The expression "h—l of a time" was his own. As to the kind of "exposure" he "threatened" he asserted he meant to ask the committee, which at that was was sitting in Chicago, to force Wiehe to reimburse him for his "losses." These "losses" were for profits he might have made from his well drilling machine.

Cites Testimony of Last July.

Senator Lea called attention to the testimony the witness gave last July, that he did not have any understanding of any sort with Wiehe or Hines with reference to compensation for his loss of time and expected to be reimbursed only for his expenses. The committee, McGowan said today, had paid his traveling expenses, including sleeper and meals, and a per diem of $3 while in Washington, the total amount he received being $90 or $300. While in Washington last July McGowan stopped at the Willard hotel, where he is at present. His hotel bill in July was paid by Wiehe and Edward Hines is defraying his expenses now.

McGowan said today that when he got back to Canada last July following his discharge by the committee he came to the conclusion that he ought to be paid by Wiehe for the "losses" he had suffered through his well drilling machine lying idle.

Asked Wiehe for $5,000 Loan.

He asked Wiehe for a loan of $5,000 which the lumberman refused to give him without security. The committee evinced some curiosity that McGowan should make this request of a stranger, particularly when McGowan Sr. is a bank director and a man of property.

In spite of the well known care with which the Hines company produces every scrap of paper it receives Mr. Hanecy explained that the McGowan letter had not yet been found. Wiehe's reply, however, was placed in evidence and besides making reference to the land deal which McGowan proposed and "etc." it suggested that nothing be done until next spring, by which time the Lorimer case, it was expected last fall by every one, would be out of the way.

Confirms Bailey's Testimony.

McGowan confirmed Bailey's testimony in every detail, except as to admission of perjury, particularly in connection with the celebrated dictagraph conversation. For example, Bailey told of McGowan's visit to the home of Edward Hines in Evanston and of the discussion there of the Stephenson and Lorimer cases. The young Canadian said he had made the visit and that the Stephenson and Lorimer cases were talked about, but he could not remember in what connection.

Senator Kern called attention to his testimony of last July, in which he recalled clearly minute incidents in the smoking compartment of the Winnipeg flyer. The witness claimed he did not mention to Hines that he was waiting in Chicago to see Wiehe. He did not know how Shields learned he was in Chicago, but he stated the Duluth man came to his hotel and told him what Bailey testified—that he had said to Shields he was entitled to remuneration for the time he had lost in Washington.

Shields, according to McGowan, declared he was not entitled to anything and that if he were dealing with him he wouldn't get anything. Shields left in a "blustering, angry kind of way." This is confirmatory of Bailey's reports.

McGowan admitted he told Bailey the reason he wanted to see Wiehe. The lumberman came to the Brevoort hotel on Oct. 28. There was some discussion as to the amount McGowan should receive. McGowan declared he did not ask for $5,000, or any

WIFE ABANDONED SAYS LOAN SHARKS DROVE MAN AWAY

Husband Bought Little Home; Lapsed in Payments and Sought Money Lender.

AMOUNT OF LOAN WAS $125

Agreement Called for Payments of $14 for Twelve Months, Victim Forced to Embezzle.

INTEREST RATE 89.6 PER CENT

If you are in the hands of the loan sharks, and you want The Tribune's legal bureau to help you out, answer the questions in the blank on Page 7.

Don't call; don't telephone. Fill out the blank and mail it. If your case is a meritorious one, it will be fought or compromised, as seems best.

Your confidence will be respected. Your case will not be taken into court, nor will it receive any publicity, without consent.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Anti-Loan Shark Bureau, THE TRIBUNE, Chicago: I take the liberty of writing you after reading yesterday's Sunday paper about the loan sharks. My husband took a loan of $125 from the Atlas Loan company, 118 South Dearborn street, Room 604, making payments of $14 monthly, in all twelve payments to be made. This was including the interest. Five payments of $14 have been made.

The loan was taken on the furniture. Nov. 7 my husband left for work and never came back. I did not know what was wrong. I thought he was hurt, held up, or killed until the firm he was working for told me he was short in his accounts and more than likely had got out of town. I was not aware of this until they told me; he had kept it from me. Our home life was perfect, but we had had a lot of trouble, had lost the savings of years, came out here to get on our feet again, and there is where we made a mistake.

Repayment Scheme Shows "Joker."

The payments were a little too high, living was so high, and we could not make both ends meet. My husband worked about seven years for —— & Co., first as teamster, then as shipping clerk. Last February he went as salesman in the city, thinking he could earn more. But that was the worst; that was our downfall. That is how he took up the loan, to pay up what he was behind on the home. But it seems he thought there was no other way out of it.

He left his family of four children, the oldest 13 years, the youngest 2 months, without one cent—nothing but debts. I have worked and got along nicely until now. I am thrown out of work because the children have scarlet fever. I am writing you facts, thinking you will please advise me what to do. There are two payments due on the loan now and I cannot pay them. Cannot my husband be compelled to pay it in place of me? In the spring we will have to get out of the home because the payments were not made, and now I am not able to work, so do not know what I will do. Hoping you will take interest in my case and let me know what I can do, for I cannot come down at present on account of sickness, I am, MRS. A. B.,
35 years old, living at No. —— —— street, Chicago.

My husband's name is ——— ——. Last heard of him he was out west.

"Joker" Found in Contract.

The foregoing letter is printed after verification of its contents, because it is typical of many of the cases that have come into the anti-loan shark bureau for settlement.

The borrower received $125 which he agreed to pay back in twelve monthly installments of $14 each. At first sight this does not appear to be an especially exorbitant rate of interest. He received $1...; he returns $168, or $43 more, which is $4.4 per cent.

But there is a joker skillfully hidden in the transaction, as a glance at the following table, prepared by an auditor for THE TRIBUNE, will show:

| | Borro'er has use of | Borro'er pays back |
|---|---|---|
| July | $125 | $14 |
| August | 111 | 14 |
| September | 97 | 14 |
| October | 83 | 14 |
| November | 69 | 14 |
| December | 55 | 14 |
| January | 41 | 14 |
| February | 27 | 14 |
| March | 13 | 14 |
| April | —1 | 14 |
| May | —15 | 14 |
| June | —29 | 14 |

Or interest at the rate of 89.6 per cent a year.

Husband Just Ordinary Man.

The husband in this story was not a vicious sort of man, according to his former friends and acquaintances, but rather weak, good humored, and sociable. When the pressure came he broke and unloaded his troubles on his wife and children.

Like a good many other men, he had had an ambition for a home of his own. His wife encouraged him in this ambition; indeed, she has confessed that perhaps she had a good deal to do with promoting it. So he arranged for a frame house in an outlying ward on the installment plan. After a time he fell behind in his payments. He had steady work and fair wages, but he didn't know how to make the money stretch.

The installment man came around several times, and the last time he was ugly and

VACUUM CLEANER DELAYS A DEATH

Woman Declared "Incompletely Dead" Revived by Machine in 29 Hour Battle of Physicians.

FIRST CASE ON RECORD.

Doctors Arrive in Nick of Time to Use Novel Method; See Aid to Asphyxiation and Drowning.

For twenty-nine hours, ending yesterday morning, a Chicago father and mother stood by while a machine kept the daughter alive. The machine was an ordinary vacuum cleaner, with some important mechanical additions.

Operating it were its inventor, Dr. Harry M. Richter of Northwestern Medical college, and Dr. F. A. Besley, also of the surgical faculty. With them were Dr. W. D. Herriman and Dr. George B. Dyche.

The patient, the first human being on whom the machine ever has been used, had ceased to breathe before it was applied. In the twenty-nine hours that followed the adjustment of the machine the color came into the cheeks of the girl who had been scientifically termed "incompletely dead," the heart beat with approximate regularity, the pulse measured the flow and ebb of the blood stream, the respiration was clocklike.

Signs of Life Gone.

Now and again the machine was removed from the patient. All signs of life at once departed. Hastily the physicians attached the clocklike device again. Life—in all its physical aspects, at least—returned. In the thirtieth hour of mingled hope and agony for the parents and actual awe for the attending physicians something stopped. The lungs continued their forced respiration, but the heart ceased to respond. The suspense to which this put an end was a relief to both the doctors and the family.

The name of the patient, her father, and her mother have been carefully protected by the attending physicians, but the truth of the experiment is attested not only by the physicians but the attendants of Wesley Memorial hospital. It is believed the machine will make a difference between life and death in cases of asphyxiation, drowning, chloroform and morphine poisoning, shock, and operations in which anaesthetics are used.

Description of Machine.

The complete apparatus consists of a vacuum cleaner, an electro-magnetic valve for turning on and off the flow of air at regular intervals of three or four seconds, and an ether vaporizer. The valve is timed by clockwork. In operation a tube connected with the exhaust port of the cleaner is inserted in the windpipe of the patient and the motor which drives the vacuum pump is connected with an electric lighting circuit. The motor pumps the lungs of the patient full of air, the automatic valve shuts off the supply, the air rushes out of the lungs, and one breathing operation is complete. The process is repeated eighteen or twenty times a minute.

The inventor, who is assistant professor of surgery at the Northwestern Medical college, has experimented on animals for several years.

The first case, and so far the only case, of a human being was that of a young woman who was dying of an infection of the brain which began in the inner ear. Dr. W. D. Herriman and Dr. George B. Dyche were at the bedside when the patient ceased to breathe. They noted that her pulse still was active, though growing less so. They began to produce artificial respiration after the well known manual method.

Dr. Richter, in company with Dr. Besley, arrived as the manual method of producing artificial respiration was failing.

Called "Incompletely Dead."

The patient then was what a layman would have called "dead." But complete death is a slow process, according to science. Scientifically speaking, the patient was "incompletely dead." The apparatus was set up, the tube connected with the patient's windpipe, and the electric current turned on.

Dr. Richter and Dr. Besley then went to work to perform an operation which was the only hope of saving the young woman's life. It proved, as they expected, a forlorn hope. Yet they succeeded in performing an operation on a patient who was alive only because she was kept alive by the machine which they had brought with them.

After the operation was performed they stopped the machine for a moment. The patient's pulse began to die away. Final dissolution was a matter of seconds. They turned on the current quickly and the pulse came back to show the heart again was beating strongly.

When the patient's heart finally ceased to beat, the world's record for prolonging life by artificial means had been, it is believed, far exceeded. The worth of the apparatus had been established in the case of a human being.

Revived by Pulmotor.

Dr. Richter's device is different from the pulmotor, a German device. The pulmotor owned by the Commonwealth Edison company consists of a tank of oxygen under 3,000 pounds pressure to the square inch. A valve reduces the pressure two pounds to the square inch. The gas operates the valve and pump. When in use the pulmotor induces artificial respiration whether the subject is alive or dead, except that oxygen instead of air is introduced into the lungs.

The disadvantage in the use of oxygen is that it sometimes produces irritation which the air the lungs are accustomed to breathe does not. Also it cannot be prolonged in application.

Three persons who had been overcome by illuminating gas were resuscitated early yesterday morning by means of the pulmotor. They were Nathan Robowski, 25 years old, 1825 West Division street; Mrs. Rose Robowski, 23 years old, and Dennie Riffski, 22 years old, a boarder in the house.

CHICAGO TEACHERS GET SALARY BOOST; TO DIVIDE $600,000

Board of Education Votes Increases; Advances Will Affect 6,500 Instructors.

NEW SCALE IS ESTABLISHED

Maximum in Different Grades Put Forward $100 to $500; Effective Immediately.

BUDGET SETS ASIDE $8,222,345

The pay of 6,500 school teachers of Chicago was raised yesterday at the meeting of the board of education. An apportionment of $8,222,345 was made for the year, more than $600,000 above that of last year. Only kindergarten teachers, of whom there are about 250, were excepted from the salary increase.

The raising of the salaries yesterday came in the regular budget and was passed unanimously. The scales of increase vary for the different grades of teaching, ranging in increases of from $100 to $500. Most of the scales provide for a gradual increase to the maximum, raising the wages from $50 to $100 on the year from the minimum to the maximum, which is reached, in most cases in four years. Some teachers, however, are to receive $100 increases of salary every year until the maximum is reached, at eight and nine years.

New Basis of Salaries.

Following is a list of the old and new salaries:

Teachers of drawing and singing, elementary schools; old maximum, $1,800; new maximum, reached in eight years, $2,200.

High school teachers; old maximum, $2,100; new maximum, tenth subsequent years, $2,600.

Teachers of physical education, music, art, and manual training in high schools; set at $1,400 first year, $2,200 in ninth and subsequent years.

Teachers in high schools holding limited certificates as instructors as teachers of French, German, commercial subjects, or household arts; salaries set at $1,350 first year, $1,700 in seventh and subsequent years.

Teachers of music in high schools; set at $1,400 first year, $1,900 in sixth and subsequent years.

Head assistants in elementary schools; old maximum, $1,300; new maximum, reached in fifth year, $1,500.

Upper grade teachers; present maximum, $1,125; new maximum, reached in fourth year, $1,225.

Teachers of the deaf and teachers in schools for crippled children; present maximum, $1,200; new maximum, reached in the fourth year, $1,300.

Increases Effective at Once.

The changes are to be effective at once. Teachers who have already reached their old maximum salaries and have served long enough to be eligible under the new maximum schedule, will receive the new salary.

In addition to the raises in salaries for the regular teachers, the salary of Robert Smith, manual training supervisor, was increased from $3,500 to $4,000. Henry Suder, supervisor of physical education, received the same increase.

In raising the maximum wages the minimum wages are raised also. In several cases new teachers, just beginning work, will receive for their salaries what former teachers received as the maximum, after several years of service.

The finance committee made a report showing a saving of $98,599.33, resulting from the reorganization of the business department and putting it under the direction of Secretary Lewis E. Larson in the latter part of 1910.

Board to Condemn Land.

The board decided to institute condemnation proceedings to acquire land adjoining the Bass school at Sixty-sixth and South May streets, the McClellan school, Thirty-fifth and Wallace streets; the Longfellow school, West Thirty-fifth and Lincoln streets; and the Grant school, on Wilcox avenue, between Western and Campbell avenues.

Spring comes this year on April 29—to the school children, at least. The board yesterday fixed that day as the beginning of the week of spring vacation. The closing time for the schools this year was fixed at June 21.

RAT BITES VOID HIS LEASE.

Judge Sabath Says Pestered Flat Dweller Must Pay Rent, if He Stays, but Can Move.

The end of a battle to the death between M. F. Malloy and a colony of rats that insisted on occupying his apartment on the third floor of 4458 Cottage Grove avenue came yesterday in the Municipal court. Malloy, in consideration of the rats, had refused to pay his rent, and Mrs. Emma C. Hamberg, owner of the building, had brought a suit for ejection.

"The place is dead ratty," Malloy told Judge Sabath. 'Why, honestly, they're so thick you're not safe unless you sleep under an inverted bathtub. One of 'em bit my father-in-law the other night. We killed forty-eight in a couple of days and it didn't make any difference."

Judge Sabath decided Malloy had sufficient occasion to break his lease, but said he was not justified in refusing to pay his rent. He was ordered to move.

WALKS OUT WITH $20,000 IN JEWELS

FOOLS FOOTMAN ON GUARD

Stranger Tells Questioner That He Carried Packages In and Now He Was Taking Them Back.

A nice looking little man walked into the jewelry store of Spaulding & Co., Michigan avenue and East Van Buren street, at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Straight as a bee he walked to a sample case behind which were two heavy leather bags. He picked them up and started out of the building.

"Here, where are you going with those cases of jewelry?" asked Spaulding's footman.

Fools Spaulding's Footman.

"C. A. Holbrook of Sloan & Co., New York, owns these," smiled the little man. "I brought 'em in here and now I'm taking 'em back to his hotel. Don't you remember me?"

Maybe the footman thought he did. Anyway, he let the little stranger walk off with $20,000 worth of jewelry.

Two hours later the robbery was discovered when Mr. Holbrook, the owner, called for the sample cases. The companies involved lost no time in notifying police, private detectives, any one who could help in catching the thief. Up to midnight he was still unapprehended.

Mixup First Feared.

At first it was thought a mixup in sample cases had been the cause of the disappearance, but later in the day Holbrook became alarmed and telegraphed his firm, Sloan & Co. of New York.

P. McDermott, a sample carrier who had taken the cases to the store for Holbrook, was found by the police, and when he was taken before the footman the latter said he was not the man whom he saw take the cases.

At first when Holbrook returned to the store and learned that the two cases were gone efforts were made to conceal this fact from becoming public, but later Capt. John Halpin was notified.

The two cases contained chiefly diamonds.

According to E. J. Weiss, local head of a detective agency, no stranger could have taken the cases away.

"Only the regular sample carriers employed for this kind of work could find their way about in the store to the sample room," said Weiss.

WILL EXTEND SHERIDAN ROAD FOR THIRTY MILES NORTH.

Lincoln Park Board Plans Rival of Lake Shore Drive—Seeks Consent of Frontage Owners and Suburbs.

The Lincoln park commissioners yesterday took action which contemplates the transforming of Sheridan road into one of the longest and most beautiful boulevards in the world.

It is planned to extend the boulevard north from Devon avenue thirty miles as the crow flies to Lake Bluff. The road will be turned over to the park commissioners, who propose to boulevard, park, and illuminate it until it resembles the Lake Shore drive in every way.

The action taken was the adoption of two resolutions. The first provides for the extension of Sheridan road to the northern city limits. The second directs that the board should take over Sheridan road through the north shore suburbs when the consents of the latter are obtained.

For months the Sheridan Road Improvement association has been working to have the drive taken over by the park board and made into a boulevard. Under the law it is necessary to obtain the consent of the owners of a majority of the frontage along the drive and that of the municipalities through which the road passes.

At present Sheridan road is a boulevard under the board's control only as far north as Devon avenue.

BOY FINDS RING; REFUSES $100.

Returns Diamond to Woman—Says, "It Isn't Honest to Take a Reward"—Works in Theater.

Elliott Conroy, a 15 year old boy of Hammond, Ind., yesterday refused a $100 reward when he returned a valuable diamond ring which he found in a theater at Hammond. Mrs. W. A. Buchanan, who lost the gem, was surprised when the boy said:

"I think it is dishonest to take money for finding an article when a person knows to whom the article belongs. My mother always taught me to be honest. I cannot take your money."

Young Conroy is a studious boy, having won the second county oratorical contest held in the Hammond public school last spring. He was working in the theater to earn a little "pin money" when he found the ring.

Miss Harbertunninnibertunnia Pillow Joins "Long Titled Immortals" When She Appears in Court.

The Vankingshoulenstelnhousenboughenklatzer-Pappatheodorokoummountourgeotopoulos niche in the hall of immortals was congested yesterday by the sudden insertion of Miss Harbertunninnibertunnia Pillow.

Miss Harbertunninnibertunnia made her first public appearance in Judge William E. Dever's court. She was there to prosecute Frank Alexander on a charge of having attempted to attack her. She gave her age as 15.

Judge Dever was surprised when Miss Harbertunninnibertunnia introduced herself.

"How do you spell it?" asked the court.

"H-a-r-b-e-r-t-u-n-n-i-n-n-i-b-e-r-t-u-n-n-i-a," replied the girl with ease.

"A rather striking name," remarked the court. He then consulted the indictment.

"Case continued," he added.

TALE OF $1,000,000 GRAFT IN 'ST. PAUL'; BRANDED AS FALSE

Report That Group of Stockholders Will Seek Light by Suit in Court.

OFFICIALS MAKE DENIAL

Say Construction of New Line Was Economical and Has Already Shown Earning Value.

STORY FOLLOWS DIVIDEND CUT

Rumors arising in New York and heard in Chicago yesterday afternoon were to the effect that there was upward of $1,000,000 in graft connected with the construction of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad's Puget Sound extension.

Coupled with this rumor were further reports that suits would be filed shortly here and in Seattle, the western terminal, by certain unnamed stockholders, seeking to bring to light in the courts the facts regarding these same rumors.

This development follows by only a few days the cutting of the St. Paul's common dividend rate from 7 to 5 per cent a year because of decreased earnings. It was said minority stockholders after carrying on a four months' investigation blamed this decrease to methods of building the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound line.

Denied by President Earling.

A. J. Earling, president of the St. Paul road, in which William Rockefeller is a leading power, denied the allegations. A similar statement was made by E. W. McKenna, vice president in charge of operation. The Chicago directors of the road, Stanley Field and J. Ogden Armour, denied any knowledge of the matter.

"The statement that the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound has been defrauded of the sum of $1,000,000, or any other sum of money, in connection with the construction and equipment of that railway," said Mr. Earling, "is absolutely and unqualifiedly false."

The rumors intimated that a relative of one of the St. Paul's officials "had profited largely by contracts for equipment placed with a supply company of which he was the head." The officials deny knowledge of any one who could have so profited, had there been irregularities.

A conference was held in Mr. Earling's office during the afternoon. It was admitted that rumors of graft had reached the ears of the officers from time to time, especially since the Illinois Central graft disclosures, but had been discredited because of the close check kept on expenditures. No investigation by the company in contemplated.

Not a Dollar Spent Dishonestly.

"I was directly responsible for all of the equipment purchased for the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound railway, representing between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000," said Vice President McKenna, "and I know positively that not a dollar was expended dishonestly. No relatives of any officer of either road is connected with any supply house that furnished the equipment for the Puget Sound railway.

"As to the charge that there was grafting in the purchase of the equipment, all of the equipment was bought in open competition, with the exception of the freight cars, and 60 per cent of the locomotives, which were built in our own shops at Milwaukee.

"The passenger equipment was purchased of the Pullman company, the American Car and Equipment company, and the Barney & Smith company of Dayton. The locomotives that were not built in the company shops at Milwaukee were bought from the Baldwin and American Locomotive works.

No Grafting in Repairs.

"There was no grafting in repairs or equipment, as in the case of the Illinois Central, as all of the repairs were made in the Milwaukee shops with the exception of the steel coaches, which were repaired at the Pullman shops."

"It is a canard pure and simple," commented Burton Hanson, general counsel of the road.

President Earling said his only relatives in the employ of the roads are S. M. Earling, a son, assistant to the traffic manager of the Puget Sound road, and H. B. Earling, a brother, assistant general manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, with headquarters in Chicago, neither of whom had anything to do with the purchase of supplies for the Puget Sound road, he said.

New Line Big Enterprise.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound has 1,401 miles of main track from Mobridge, S. D., to Maple Valley, Wash.; 833 miles of branch lines, with Tacoma and Seattle terminals, and 344 miles under construction, a total of nearly 2,200 miles. The entire $100,000,000 stock is owned by the St. Paul, and the parent company holds in its treasury $129,909,000 of the $200,000,000 authorized bonds, with $45,041,000 reserved in the subsidiary for additions, and $25,000,000 outstanding.

The building of the road was heralded as the most economic construction possible.

From the operations of the first full twelve months period, ended June 30, 1911, a dividend of 2.2 per cent was declared.

Some time ago the Wall Street Journal editorially criticised the St. Paul for shortage of equipment, forcing the hire of rolling stock during the crop moving season. This circumstance is explained by the officials. It appears the Puget Sound was overstocked and that expected heavy business, owing to the crop shortage in its territory, did not materialize. As a result its surplus equipment was rented to the parent company, and payment for the St. Paul's hired equipment went into the treasury of its subsidiary—"taking from Paul to pay Puget," they express it—and there was no resultant loss.

NAGEL LIKELY FOR HARLAN VACANCY

Believed Taft Will Appoint Secretary to Supreme Bench.

PLACE FOR CHICAGOAN?

Julius Rosenwald Among Those Mentioned for the President's Cabinet.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—The existing vacancy on the Supreme court bench—the fifth in the present administration—probably will be filled by the appointment of Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel of St. Louis.

President Taft is expected to send the nomination of Mr. Nagel to the senate within a few days. United States Judge William C. Hook of Kansas, who until last night was most prominently mentioned for the vacancy, is said to have been eliminated from further consideration at an hour's session of the cabinet today.

All of the lawyers in the cabinet, except Mr. Nagel, were present, and afterward it was learned that the president had made clear his intention of appointing his secretary of commerce and labor.

Chicagoan May Get Place.

This report was so generally credited tonight that rumor was busy with a possible successor to Mr. Nagel in the cabinet. Louis Marshall of New York and Julius Rosenwald of Chicago were mentioned among those who would be considered by President Taft.

Judge Hook's name was scratched from the president's list today almost at the eleventh hour. This action was said to be due to his concurrence in a "Jim Crow" law decision in an Oklahoma railroad case. Both the president and Attorney General Wickersham are understood to hold the opinion that Judge Hook "went too far" in this case, and Secretary of State Knox, Secretary of War Stimson, and Secretary of the Interior Fisher, the other lawyers present at the cabinet meeting, evidently agreed.

Case That Caused the Trouble.

The case that caused the trouble was decided on Feb. 10, 1911, by the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth circuit, consisting at the time of Judges Hook, Sanborn, and Adams. E. P. McCabe and six other negroes were the plaintiffs and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé and other railroads were defendants. Judge Adams handed down the opinion and Judge Hook concurred. Judge Sanborn gave a dissenting opinion.

McCabe and six other negroes sought sleeping car accommodations upon the Santa Fé railroad in Oklahoma, and were denied. The case was tried under the laws of Oklahoma. These laws require railroads to provide separate coaches or compartments for the accommodation of the white and negro races equal in all points of comfort and convenience. Judge Adams decided that it was optional with the railroad to furnish dining and sleeping car privileges to the negroes.

Nagel Long Considered.

Secretary Nagel had been mentioned among those whom the president was considering for the Supreme court place ever since Justice Harlan's death last fall. Attorney General Wickersham and Postmaster General Hitchcock are both known to have urged his appointment strongly. Mr. Taft's only objection to the appointment has been the fact that Mr. Nagel is 63 years old, and although a lawyer of wide practice, has had no judicial experience.

Charles Nagel was born in Texas on Aug. 9, 1849, and is a graduate of the St. Louis Law school and the University of Berlin. He was admitted to the bar in 1873; in 1871-'73 was a member of the Missouri legislature. He was president of the St. Louis city council in 1893-'97 and is a member of the board of trustees of Washington university and the St. Louis Museum of Fine Arts.

IT'S NEWS TO ROSENWALD.

Julius Rosenwald when told last night of the Washington report that his name had been mentioned in connection with a cabinet position said it was news to him.

LAWYERS ATTEMPT TO SOLVE KIMMEL INSURANCE TANGLE.

Company's Attorney Declares Man on Whom Policy Was Paid Still Lives as Andrew J. White.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7.—Attorneys in the Kimmel mystery case in the United States District court here completed their statements to the jury today and numerous depositions were read.

The first explanation offered in court for the disappearance of George A. Kimmel, bank cashier, from Arkansas City, Kas., July 28, 1898, was given by Edward O'Bryan, attorney for the insurance company which the receiver of a defunct bank of Niles, Mich., is suing for insurance on Kimmel's life.

O'Bryan said Kimmel owed $52,000 on paper, about to fall due, had only $1,200 to meet the debts, and was in danger of exposure in connection with a $10,000 express robbery.

He said Andrew J. White, the former New York convict—to whom he referred without qualification as "Kimmel"—would tell his story to the jury.

Railroad Officials Say Robbers Who Held Up Train Near Memphis Were Poorly Recompensed.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 7.—According to officials, the bandits who held up Rock Island train No. 48 near Hulburt, Ark., early this morning were poorly recompensed for their efforts. Express company officials deny there was a large amount of specie on the train, and postal officials say only one pouch of mail is missing. An all day search of the heavily wooded territory bordering the Mississippi river near Memphis in an effort to find the five men who robbed the train was barren of results.

NO. 4—ANOTHER STEP IN A GIGANTIC UNDERTAKING.

DEMOCRATS REJECT BRYAN

Caucus Backs Underwood in Purposed Money Inquiry.

HENRY SCHEME DEFEATED.

Standing Committees Will Have Full Charge of Investigation.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—An investigation of the "money trust" was ordered by the Democrats of the house in caucus tonight after the Henry plan for a special committee, which was favored by W. J. Bryan, had been defeated, 115 to 66. The caucus then instructed the standing committee of the house on banking and currency, judiciary, interstate commerce, and elections to proceed with the inquiry.

This action was taken after a spirited debate, a feature of which was the reading of a telegram from William J. Bryan to Representative Henry of Texas, who led the fight for investigation by a special committee. The telegram was, as follows:

"I regard the caucus on the money trust inquiry as a crisis. Its results will largely affect our chances in the coming campaign. Please say to any one who values my judgment that I am heartily with you in a demand for a special committee. There are many objections to an investigation by regular committees, but it is enough to know that Wall street prefers regular commitees. We cannot afford to allow accused parties to select this jury. Success to you. If our party is afraid to offend the powerful financial interests that have fought us since 1896 we cannot xpect public confidence."

The Democrats adopted the plan offered by Representative Underwood, the majority leader, as a substitute for the special investigating committee asked for in the resolution submitted by Representative Henry of Texas.

Clark Supports Underwood.

Sharp criticism of William J. Bryan for his imputations that the banking and currency committee of the house leaned toward the financial interests, and the passage of a resolution expressing confidence in that committee characterized the debate.

A roll call, enforced under a new rule, was made public after the caucus. Among those who supported the Underwood resolution were Speaker Clark, Chairmen Fitzgerald of the appropriations committee, Clayton of the judiciary committee, Adamson of the interstate commerce committee, Pujo of the banking and currency committee, and members of those committees.

The Henry resolution was supported by Representatives James of Kentucky, Burleson of Texas, chairman of the caucus; Stanley of Kentucky, Moss of Indiana, Rainey of Illinois, and the Bryan Democrats of the house.

Caucus Proves Lively.

The caucus was the liveliest the Democrats have had in years, and certainly the most spirited since the party has been in control of the house. From the beginning there was a fight between the Bryan and the anti-Bryan Democrats.

Chairman Henry, in urging the appointment of a special committee to investigate the "money trust," made a strong appeal for the adoption of his plan. Mr. Henry denied he was inspired by Mr. Bryan to demand a special committee. He emphasized the influence of the "money trust" over the capital of corporations, railroads, and banks, and its influence in national elections and in legislation.

Majority Leader Underwood made a powerful appeal for the adoption of his substitute for the Henry resolution. His plan, which eventually was adopted, set forth primarily that all matters of legislation and investigation of the character proposed should be confined to the standing committees of the house, and provided specifically that the subject suggested for inquiry in the Henry resolution be referred respectively to the committees on banking and currency, election of president, vice president, and representatives in congress, interstate and foreign commerce, and judiciary.

Take Slap at Bryan.

Mr. Underwood pointed out that the integrity of the house should be guarded against interference, though his talk was entirely impersonal. Others who championed the Underwood substitute were not so reserved. They broadly stated that Mr. Bryan had tried to force the Democratic congress to conduct an investigation of his own proposal and in his own way.

Representative Pujo of Louisiana, chairman of the committee on banking and currency, frankly declared that he never was a Bryan Democrat, although he had voted for him. Representative Hardwick of Georgia, a member of the rules committee, criticised Chairman Henry for taking initiative action in the matter without consulting his colleagues on the committee. Others who declared they "would not put on the Bryan yoke" were Representatives Stevens of Mississippi, Glass of Virginia, and Garner of Texas.

Ollie James of Kentucky, senator-elect and long time friend of Mr. Bryan, was Mr. Henry's chief lieutenant in the debate.

PARKER TO DEFEND LABOR MEN

One Time Presidential Candidate Reported Retained.

FEAR 'HIGHER UPS' INDICTED

Chicago Leaders in Conference Talk of Raising Big Fund.

Speculation as to the identity of the labor leaders indicted by the federal grand jury in Indianapolis, and defense plans for the men caught in the dynamite investigation net yesterday furnished topics of animated discussion in Chicago's labor circles.

Secret conferences of labor chiefs were held, and some of the reports that emanated from the carefully guarded sessions are:

That certain of the confreres expressed fear that high officials of the American Federation of Labor have been named in the true bills.

That Alton B. Parker, one time Democratic candidate for president, has been selected as the labor chiefs' choice to lead the defense battle.

That several Chicago labor heads have decided to retain Daniel C. Cruice as their attorney if they are named in the conspiracy indictments.

That a campaign to collect an enormous defense fund is to be started in every union local in the country.

That the indictment of three Chicago attorneys in connection with the McNamara witness and jury tampering investigation in Los Angeles is imminent.

Bail Plans Perfected.

All plans for getting bonds in any amount for Chicago men who may be made targets of the federal prosecution have been perfected, it is said, but another conference of the leaders has been called for today to consider any new development. The conference will be held in a downtown hotel.

It was said at night that the local men are completely in the dark, according to their own statements to each other, as to the number of Chicagoans who have been named among the thirty or forty indicted in Indiana.

The report that Mr. Parker had been decided upon to lead the labor chiefs' defense was circulated late in the afternoon after several telegrams had been received in Chicago from eastern labor leaders. Mr. Parker is counsel for Samuel Gompers in the boycott case at Washington. It was said that whether or not any of its officials are named in the indictments, the American Federation of Labor leaders will support the defense of the accused men.

Cruice Admits Tentative Employment.

Attorney Cruice's name was mentioned as likely to assist in the big fight after it was learned that he had been approached by a Chicago labor leader and retained in the event the labor man is indicted. Mr. Cruice denied he had taken part in the labor conferences, but admitted that if certain men were included among the accused he might be of counsel for the defense.

"I do not believe these men who might want me for their attorney have been named," Mr. Cruice said, "nor do I believe the reports that big leaders of the American Federation have been included in the list. I can't understand how that would be possible. Secretary Frank Morrison of the federation was called as a witness before the grand jury and brought with him for inspection the books and records for the investigating body to examine."

Those who professed to fear that the indictment lightning might have struck in high places cited the interviews given out by Detective William J. Burns at the time the McNamara brothers pleaded guilty to the Los Angeles dynamiting outrage. The detective assailed Samuel Gompers, head of the federation, and declared the labor chief knew the brothers were guilty before they pleaded. He also declared national leaders of labor knew much about the dynamiting plots in various parts of the country.

Raise Big Defense Fund.

Reports from Indianapolis to the effect that several labor men had made confessions involving men "higher up" were discussed and it was said labor investigators already have started to work to try to get information as to the extent of the government's knowledge for defense purposes.

It was said the campaign to raise a defense fund of hundreds of thousands of dollars will be started within a few days after the indicted men are taken in custody.

FORTY IN DYNAMITE CASES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 7.—Capiases for the simultaneous arrest of all the men named in the thirty-two indictments returned by the federal grand jury in the dynamite conspiracy cases were completed today in the expectation that the arrests might be effected within five days.

Although the men, most of them labor union officials, are scattered from Boston to the Pacific coast, the papers for their apprehension have been so arranged that they are to be arrested and afforded an opportunity to give bond on the same day and as near as possible within a few hours.

The bond for all the men, said to aggregate $300,000, is to be asked for their appearance in Indianapolis on March 12, when they are to be arraigned before Federal Judge A. B. Anderson.

It has developed that the defendants, accused of complicity with the McNamaras and Ortie E. McManigal in causing more than 100 explosions before and after the wrecking of the Los Angeles Time building, will number at least forty and probably more. Some of the indictments returned contain more than one name.

GOMPERS SLAPS AT COURT

Says One Should Decide for Self if He Thinks Judge Errs.

IN CLASH WITH ATTORNEY.

Objects to Question Put Him in Buck Stove and Range Contempt Case.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Verbal clashes between President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor and Attorney Darlington of the prosecution in the Buck Stove and Range company contempt case proved the feature of the hearing in court today.

In the course of his testimony Mr. Gompers told the court which is trying him, Frank Morrison, and John Mitchell for contempt, that when he wrote "go to —— with its injunction" he had used the expression in the Shakspearian sense and not a profane one.

He also declared that when a citizen thought the court transcends its right said citizen should decide for himself.

Attorney Darlington read the injunction decree to Mr. Gompers and questioned him on it, phrase by phrase. When he asked Gompers why he had not obeyed it and had permitted articles to appear in the American Federationist in violation of the injunction, Gompers said he believed his constitutional rights had been invaded and that those portions of the injunction to which he took exception were void.

Seeks Free Speech.

"You set yourself and your counsel up as an intermediary court of appeals to pass on the injunction?" suggested Mr. Darlington.

"No," said Mr. Gompers, "the point that we are contending for is the American right of free speech and a free press under the constitution."

"Now, who is to decide these points, you or the courts?"

"The Supreme court of the United States. I contend that when the court transcends its right that the citizen shall decide for himself. If he is of the opinion that the court went too far he must decide for himself," said Mr. Gompers.

Mr. Darlington asked Mr. Gompers if he had not repeatedly violated the federal injunction by printing coercive statements under the "guise" of news.

Gompers Forced to Answer.

"I object to the word 'guise,'" said Mr. Gompers. "I ask that when you address me you do so in respectful language."

"I repeat that this was printed in the 'guise of news,'" retorted Mr. Darlington.

"That is untrue and an insult, and I shall insist, under the protection of the court, that counsel use proper language in addressing me," shouted Mr. Gompers. Justice Wright ordered the question read and Mr. Gompers answered it.

HINT OF CATHOLIC PARTY IN SPEECH OF CARDINAL.

Significant Words Spoken by O'Connell—Says Action May Come to Protect Altars and Homes.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Speaking tonight at a banquet given by the laity of the diocese of Boston, William Cardinal O'Connell hinted that if the elements now undermining the Catholic church abroad were transplanted to America, it might result in the formation of a Catholic political party "to protect the altars and homes."

The significant words came during the cardinal's peroration. The cardinal said:

"Let us reveal the injustice of the past in the conquest of the future. We mean no political conquest. We want no Catholic party until the tactics of European Freemasonry and anarchy compel every Christian to stand, if need be, with ballot in hand and defend our altars and our homes.

"No, it is the conquest of right and justice. A fair field for all and no favors. We are tired to death of misrepresentation from within and misunderstanding from without; and the solid hope which tonight fills our hearts at the sight of this noble presence before me is that the five years whose crown we wear tonight is but the harbinger of happier and holier days. Let us face them tonight with the splendid assurance which comes from our noble Christian faith."

HONOR DICKENS IN LONDON

Floral Tributes Placed on Grave of Famous Author.

MONEY FOR HIS RELATIVES.

Sum Which May Reach $50,000 Expected to Be Subscribed by Friends.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The centenary of the birth of Charles Dickens occupied hundreds of columns in the newspapers throughout Great Britain today. These tributes are eulogistic, reminiscent, and anecdotal.

It was intended at first to have services at various places made famous by the great novelist, but these were abandoned on account of the death of Alfred Tennyson Dickens, the son of Charles Dickens, in New York. Many wreaths were sent to Westminster abbey and placed on the grave of the immortal writer. Among the numerous floral tributes were many from the United States.

Visit Tomb of Dickens.

Great crowds visited the tomb of Dickens in the abbey during the day and rendered homage. One of the most interesting visitors was the Rev. Edward Horton, chaplain of the Massachusetts senate, who was deputed by the Dickens club of Boston to lay a tribute on the grave.

It was announced at a meeting of the Dickens committee tonight that the subscriptions to the fund for the benefit of the five granddaughters of the novelist would approach $50,000.

MASSMEETING IN NEW YORK.

New York, Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Lovers of Dickens filled Carnegie hall tonight at the concluding meeting of the two day celebration of the Dickens centenary in Manhattan. The meeting was held by the Dickens centenary committee with the assistance of the League for Political Education and the Civic Forum.

Hamilton Wright Mabie presided. President John H. Finley of the City college, Elgin R. Gould, Augustus Thomas, and Dr. Henry Van Dyke were the other speakers.

William Watson, the English poet, read a poem written for the centenary, and Miss Edith Wynne Matthison read from Dickens.

Robert Erskine Ely, in opening the meeting, said that the total so far raised in America for the fund for the support of the five granddaughters of the novelist was only $8,000, while the English fund had reached $35,000. Mr. Ely made an appeal for further subscriptions.

BRANDT MINUTES ARE FOUND.

Grand Jury Paper Contains No Evidence That Employe of Schiff Could Be Indicted Upon.

New York, Feb. 7.—[Special.]—The grand jury minutes in the case of Folke Englebrecht Brandt, who formerly was employed in the household of Mortimer L. Schiff, the banker, upon whose complaint Brandt was sentenced to serve thirty years in Dannemora state prison, were found this evening.

A transcript of the minutes was made by George Kemp, the official stenographer, and laid before District Attorney Whitman. Tonight the district attorney showed a copy of these minutes to Judge Rosalsky.

The minutes contain no testimony upon which an indictment of burglary in the first degree—for which Brandt was sentenced to thirty years in prison—could have been found legally. Had an inspection of the grand jury minutes been had before pleading the judge on the bench would have been compelled to dismiss the indictment on the ground that it was found upon insufficient testimony.

Is Woman's Beauty Only Skin Deep?

You may have thought the old adage was a kind of a joke, but later developments show that it is literally true. It has been discovered that even the biotchiest and muddiest complexions are merely masks that cover perfect pink and white skins which may be easily revealed. All that is necessary is to rub on ordinary pure colesated belsam, the purifying and cleansing properties of which become active at once and the outer skin quickly flecks off in tiny particles—then behold! there is the bright, young complexion of sweet sixteen. Any good drug store keeps colesated balsam and also its sister old-fashioned remedy, thermodized jelly, which really has a wonderful effect in smoothing out wrinkles, filling hollows, etc., by drawing the flesh back again to its old time smoothness and healthy firmness. —Advt.

MISS HOGAN CALLS PROSECUTOR LIAR

Girl Witness Breaks Long Silence to "Protect Name"; Startles Court.

"I'LL PUNCH YOUR FACE"

Woman Who Refuses to Testify Against Doctor Objects to Attorney's Attack.

Miss Hazel Hogan, who has been sentenced to the bridewell for six months and fined $1,700 by Judge Lockwood Honoré for refusing to talk, broke her long silence yesterday after thirty days in jail.

She was in Judge Honoré's court to listen to the arguments in the case of Dr. Irving Singer, an optician, and others who are once accused of having robbed her. Assistant State's Attorney Frederic Burnham was talking. He referred to the relations alleged to have existed between Miss Hogan and Singer against whom she refused to testify.

Miss Hogan suddenly started up excitedly in her chair.

"You're a Liar," Girl Shouts.

"You're a liar. You're a liar," she shouted. "I'll punch your face. You're a liar and I'll ever get you outside I'll give it to you good."

"Silence," exclaimed the court and the bailiffs.

"He's a liar," insisted Miss Hogan. "I'll punch his face."

"Take that woman out of this courtroom," said Judge Honoré.

Detective Sergeant Charles Hepp, who had arrested Miss Hogan in Detroit, advanced to carry out the courts order.

"Keep away from me," exclaimed the woman, "you—you kidnaper. You kidnaped me from Detroit. I'll give it to you, too, when I get you outside."

One Defendant Goes Free.

The woman did not make good her threat however. She was led out of the courtroom to the county jail muttering: "He attacked my character. Wait till I get him outside. He's a liar."

The case against the defendants went to the jury during the afternoon. Judge Honoré instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty in the case of Jerry Mack, one of Sissinger's alleged accomplices. Owing to the fact that Miss Hogan would not testify against him the state had not been able to connect him with the alleged robbery.

HUNT STANDS PAT; WILL NOT RESIGN

Police Captain Puts Blame for Loop Vice Conditions on Detective Bureau.

BOARD OUSTS THREE MORE

Sergeant Cleghorn and Policemen Hart and Baker 'Fired'; Matrons Questioned.

Closely following a city civil service commission decision which dropped three members of the police department from the force, Capt. Nicholas Hunt last night declared he was ready to defend himself against charges before the commission.

Much pressure has been brought to bear on the captain to resign rather than face questions of neglect of duty and inefficiency, and the word went forth during the day from supposedly authoritative sources that he would resign.

Will Contest Every Step.

"I'm going to give them a chance to fire me if they want to," the captain said at night. "I have been told that charges against me are ready to be filed. It makes no difference to me whether or not they are filed, I'm going back and I'm going to fight to the end. I am able to prove that I've worked hard and faithfully in the discharge of my duties as head of the downtown division."

It is expected the charges against Hunt and commanding officers of the Central Detective bureau will be filed today. Capt. Hunt asserted that charges were brought against Capt. Gibbons in charge of the Central Detail station and lieutenants at the station that they would adjust.

"Capt. Gibbons never was held responsible for gambling and vice while I was in command down there," he said. "His men were in charge of traffic, looked after the patrol of the streets and were held responsible for the closing of the saloons on time. The gambling and vice were taken care of through the detective bureau."

Three Ordered Discharged.

The men ordered discharged from the force during the day following trials before the commission, were Sergt. Bertram Cleghorn and Policemen James C. Hart and W. Baker, a negro. Cleghorn and Hart were members of the detective bureau, were accused of discharging firearms without provocation, and disorderly conduct. Baker, who was stationed at the Sixth precinct, was charged with being intoxicated.

The trial of Cleghorn and Hart consumed almost all day. The accusations against them grew out of an occurrence in a State street the night of Jan. 14. Creating a disturbance in the Pekin theater, they discharged their revolvers and Policeman Nielson, who was trying to arrest the pair. Testimony to the effect that the men were drunk and disorderly and that Cleghorn had to be beaten into submission before he would allow himself to be placed under arrest was offered by the prosecution.

All Stories Alike.

Both of the defendants swore that they were sober the night in question and that they fired their revolvers at a negro who assaulted Cleghorn when, the detectives stopped the man and questioned him. A half dozen negro witnesses testified for the accused men and told of seeing a big fight with Cleghorn. The similarity of the stories of all these witnesses, even to the words used in describing the occurrence, caused comment among the members of the commission.

Chief McWeeny during the day interviewed twenty-six matrons of the department in investigation of charges of alleged graft against Chief Matron Anna B. Murphy. An anonymous letter received last week by Mayor Harrison. The letter said Mrs. Murphy had ordered forty-six matrons of the department to turn over their first month's increase in pay to her to be given to an invalid who got the salary raise for them through the city council.

"Every matron I have questioned denies the charges untrue," the chief said last evening.

Raid Hustion's Dive Again.

Detectives acting under instructions from Capt. Michael Ryan last night raided Jim Hustion's "coke castle" at 2311 Harborn street, arresting thirteen men and four women. Hustion was among the prisoners were taken to the South Chicago station. No charge was made against them.

Hustion, who is a negro, was arrested two weeks ago by detectives employed by the civil service commission. He was a witness in the cases against Former Inspector Wheeler and other commanding officers of the south side.

Hustion testified that he had paid $1,000 a year for police protection.

Trade Council Adopts Resolutions Urging President O'Donnell Says Workingmen Will Benefit by Deal.

Contrary to action on Sunday by the Chicago Federation of Labor, the Chicago Building Trades council at a special meeting yesterday adopted resolutions indorsing the deal between the south park commissioners and the Illinois Central railroad for the improvement of the lake shore. The resolutions were sent to the city council committee on docks, wharves, and bridges.

Simon O'Donnell, president of the Building Trades council, said the working class of Chicago would be benefited most by the deal both from the standpoint of labor and recreation.

"I don't care if the Illinois Central runs the wheels of Lake Michigan," he said. "I am for the working people and I know the working classes will win by this deal.

"Some of these chronic calamity howlers are squawking about riparian rights and other things which they say the Illinois Central does not possess. This may be true, but it will give the people what they need when the opportunity presents itself."

High School Class Bulletin Shows Classics a Necessity; Tribune Text and Cartoons Cited as Proving the Point.

Frances E. Sabin Says "Fair Education" Demands It.

CAN APPRECIATE "B. L. T."

Cartoons and Newspaper Stories Contain Classic References.

Latin and Greek have been taken out of the luxury class by Miss Frances E. Sabin, head of the Latin department of Oak Park High school. In the first of a series of wall lectures she set them forth as necessary adjuncts to even a fair education. Some of the things which the man who neglected to study Latin and Greek misses are:

B. L. T.'s verse.
McCutcheon's cartoons.
Some "Tribune" editorials.
Classical poetry.
Mythological references.
Sixty-five per cent of the roots of the English language.

The "verse," cartoons, editorials, and other classics appear on the wall of Miss Sabin's recitation rooms. 'Most of them are accompanied by a challenge to the non-Latinized to find the point.

Quotes from Sporting Pages.

Miss Sabin, by investigating the sporting pages, has even found the following:

"Hart cast himself for the 'skulking Achilles' rôle when he failed to appear for the final scrimmage."

"What," inquires the bulletin, "is meant by 'skulking Achilles'? Only a Latin or Greek student is apt to know."

The bulletins are in simple form, as they are designed to appeal particularly to the high school students, most of whom range from 13 to 17 years of age.

Greek and Latin Alive.

"My effort," explained Miss Sabin, who originated the idea, "is to prove that Latin and Greek, far from being dead languages, are alive and kicking. Classical references form a part of every day's news. The advertisements often contain them."

She indicated the official poster of the automobile show, with a presumable Mercury at the wheel.

"Now if you know that a winged cap refers to the speed god that poster carries additional meaning. But it doesn't stop there."

She pointed to a cover of "Alexander's Rag Time Band," adorned tastily with a lithograph of Pan.

"Heaven knows," said Miss Sabin, "what a person without mythological knowledge might imagine that to be. However, this general knowledge is only a part of the real value of Latin and Greek."

She singled out the opinions of certain successful professional men on the value of Latin and Greek to students of journalism, engineering, the ministry, and the law. "You see, they all say it is essential."

Shown by Charts.

Other charts conveyed in simple diagrams the fact that the percentage of Latin and Greek derivatives in the English language is about 65, in the French 75, in the Spinish 85, in the Portuguese 85, and in the Italian 90.

"Certainly," she concluded, "in the face of these things it can't be said that either Greek or Latin is a dead language."

Miss Sabin, with the help of two other teachers, prepared the exhibit in "leisure" hours. Her assistants were Arthur Chenoweth and Miss Loura Woodruff, both Latin teachers at the high school. The school contains between 500 and 600 Latin students.

Former City Employe Wins Suit.

A jury in Judge Gibbons' court yesterday found Thomas Kiernan, former assistant superintendent of the water pipe extension bureau, not guilty on the charge that he had the benefit of a city employe in building a porch at his home. Kiernan was discharged in 1904.

'CLEAN BILL' FOR DR. WILLHITE: BOOKS AUDITED; 'CORRECT.'

Holds McLaren's Receipt for All Dunning Moneys, He Says at Coast, and Ridicules Bartzen's Charges.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Dr. O. C. Willhite, one of the proprietors of the Livermore sanitarium at Livermore, accused by President Bartzen of the Cook county board at Chicago in connection with alleged misapplication of funds while superintendent of the Dunning institution, denied tonight that he had left the Cook county institution owing a cent. He said he did not leave Chicago until all his accounts had been audited and had been found to be correct.

"The charge is the outgrowth of political trouble, I imagine," asserted Dr. Willhite.

"Before I left Chicago I turned over all moneys in my charge to Superintendent of Public Service William McLaren. I have his receipt for that money.

"There never was any great amount of money in my hands. I do not believe there was more than $200 or $300 a year turned over to me during any one year I was there.

"Shortly before I left the institution the books were audited and found to be correct.

"If there is any discrepancy it must be one of the booking. The same clerk employed during my term as superintendent was employed after I left. He is C. M. Campbell.

"A statement that there is a misappropriation of $20,000 seems absurd to me. All amounts turned over to me by County Agent Belmont were properly accounted for and a record of them kept."

SUIT STARTED TO PRODUCE WILL OF MRS. F. L. HONORE.

Attorney for Woman Insists, However, That He Never Drafted Testament Which Is in Dispute.

Suit to produce a will alleged to have been made by Mrs. Francis L. Honoré will be heard by Judge Cutting this morning. Relatives of Mrs. Honoré, who was the wife of the late Francis L. Honoré, uncle of Mrs. Potter Palmer and Judge Lockwood Honoré, have filed the suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Honoré died within two months of each other. Both had property and they were determined that none of it should fall into the hands of Mr. Honoré's relatives. Frederick C. Hale, who was Mrs. Honoré's attorney, said he never had drawn up a will. He frequently advised her, but she never heeded the advice.

Ever since 1880 Mr. Honoré had resided with Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cowles.

In 1904 Mr. Cowles died and on May 30, 1905, Mrs. Cowles became Mrs. Francis Honoré. He was 72. She was 56. They resided at 3646 Indiana avenue.

Honoré, his uncles, Henry and Benjamin, and others of the family are said to have been indignant and would not recognize their relative.

According to Attorney A. F. W. Siebel, representing the Francis Honoré estate, Mrs. Honoré thought she would survive her husband. According to the alleged will she provided that all her property was to go to her relatives.

Mrs. Honoré died in June, 1909. Her husband died two months later. Their combined property amounted to a little over $7,000.

Honoré's will left everything to his wife and he neglected to make a new will after she died. No will of Mrs. Honoré ever was found.

After Francis Honoré died Mr. Hale was hired by Adrian C. Honoré as attorney for the estate. Relatives of Mrs. Honoré found themselves unable to claim their share of the property.

Francis Honoré formerly was a wealthy hardware man.

Adrian Honoré is the only one of the defendants in Chicago. His uncles, Henry and Benjamin, are spending the winter in Florida.

"STAR SPANGLED" STILL BEST SONG

Dr. J. B. McFatrich Calls Off Contest to Bring Forth National Anthem.

MANY OFFER POEMS, BUT—

Judges Conclude the Muse Is Sleeping; Will Return Fund of School Children.

O! say can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
* * * *
O! say does the star spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

"The Star Spangled Banner" is to continue to wave as America's national anthem. President James B. McFatrich of the board of education announced yesterday that his campaign, organized throughout the whole country and prosecuted for many months, to effect the creation of a new national song had proved an utter and dismal failure. It will be abandoned at once.

"Yes," said President McFatrich sadly last night, "We had to give it up. Apparently the patriotic muse is dormant in this country. We weren't able to revive her from her state of coma. We had plenty of songs submitted to us—some 5,000 in all, I believe—but none of them was so good as 'The Star Spangled Banner' or even approached it in excellence. Perhaps the inspiration wasn't there. Perhaps we are not a poetic people. At any rate, our extensive arrangements for the incubation of a new national air haven't encouraged the nation that we are a nation of song writers."

Yes, Some Were Bad.

"Some of them pretty bad, doctor?"

"Bad?" replied Dr. McFatrich. "O, of course, some of them were bad—we expected that—but the worst of it was that all of them, or practically all, were commonplace. They lacked the fire and ring of real poetry. They rhymed nicely and the 'feet' were all in the right place, but they lacked inspiration. Some way they hadn't the 'go' of 'The Charge of the Light Brigade' or any of the other dozen or so patriotic poems in the English language that will live."

Examination of some of the manuscripts submitted indicated that some of the songs were certainly bad. This one, for instance:

O, liberty so sweet!
O, freedom most profound!
Wherever floats our fleet
Both of you can be found.

Dewey and Paul Jones,
Upon the ocean drear,
Protect our lives and homes;
Then why should U. S. fear?

Walt Whitman in the House?

Here is the opening stanza of one after the style of Walt Whitman:

O, nation, protected and cherished,
By your stalwart sons and enchanting,
Mesmerizing daughters
That have brought fame to us.

A New Yorker submitted the following:

We dwell in sweetest liberty,
From ocean unto ocean;
As far as naked eye can see,
Without the least commotion.

Money in greatest quantity
In all banks can be found;
And men of highest quality
Extract it from the ground.

Might Please Luther Burbank?

By way of something along the line of postoral poetry came the following:

Our army and navy
Are brave and full of power;
And they are full of glee
To see all nations cower.

We have both poor and rich men,
Merchants and artisans,
Magnates and humble switchmen,
Winners and also rans.

The pineapple and cucumber,
As well as kindred fruits,
U. S. grows without number;
And our factories turn out suits.

Upon the bounding main
We troll for nimble herring,
Codfish of color plain

MAY BAR THEATER SMOKING.

Building Commissioner Says Practice Increases Fire Risk and He Will Have Ordinance Drafted.

Smoking in Chicago theaters may be prohibited. Building Commissioner Henry Ericsson said last night he will have an ordinance prepared forbidding the practice in amusement houses. At present it is permitted by the management of several vaudeville and burlesque theaters.

Corporation Counsel Sexton, in an opinion, says the city council cannot prohibit smoking in theaters unless it can show conclusively that "smoking is injurious to the public health, or that it is dangerous to property by reason of the probability of fires being started thereby."

Mr. Ericsson says smoking in theaters increases the fire risk, and therefore the city has the power to suppress it.

"In most theaters," he said, "there are carpets on the floors, which would easily be ignited by matches or cigar and cigaret stubs."

APOLOGIZES FOR ENDING LIFE

Maid Leaves Note Begging Pardon for Committing Suicide.

APRON STRINGS AS NOOSE.

Servant of W. M. Salisbury Said to Have Been Insane.

The residence of Warren M. Salisbury, at 1104 Lake Shore drive, was the scene of a suicide yesterday. Miss Emma Siniger, a maid, after writing a note apologizing to her employer for taking her life in his house, made a noose of her apron strings, attached one end to a door hinge in a bathroom and hanged herself.

Owing to Salisbury's English butler, the police had difficulty in getting at the facts. This servant made so much mystery over the tragedy that at first the woman was believed to have been murdered. Finally it was demonstrated that the maid was the victim of hereditary insanity and had taken her life in a fit of overpowering despondency.

Cuts Down the Body.

It happened at 8 o'clock in the morning. Mr. and Mrs. Salisbury are in Palm Beach, Fla. The butler was left in charge. He testified after cutting down the body he did nothing.

It was at first stated there had been a quarrel and that the maid had been killed. Then it was asserted the butler had mysterious motives for suppressing the facts. Finally the story went abroad that the suicide was a relative of the Salisbury family and that she had left notes revealing a scandal.

After a time the butler was persuaded to call up Dr. Thomas E. Crowe. He told him the woman had killed herself and Dr. Crowe communicated with the police. The butler refused the police admittance. Dr. Crowe arrived and made representations as to what had actually taken place.

Leaves Two Notes.

Arrangements were made for the inquest. This was held in the Salisbury suite. It developed that Miss Siniger had left two notes. One was addressed to the butler. It instructed him to "Notify Mr. Salisbury and look up everything and keep them straight for him." The other read: "Please notify my brother, Frank, at Galena, Ill. Emma."

The butler said that on Tuesday night Miss Siniger retired at about 9:30 o'clock. She had been in ill health and suffering from melancholia.

PROFESSOR, ACCUSED BY GIRL, FAILS TO APPEAR FOR TRIAL.

Pittsburgh Court Orders Bond Forfeited —Defendant Claims to Be Member of Faculty of University of Chicago.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Prof. W. T. Mackey, formerly assistant professor of Latin in the Allegheny High school, but now said to be a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago, today forfeited his bond by failing to appear for trial on three serious charges brought by J. K. Elliott of Aspinwall on behalf of his young daughter, Sybell Elliott.

Mackey is married and his family lives at 421 Marshall avenue, Chicago. He met the young girl while a teacher in the Aspinwall High school. Mackey resigned on obtaining a position in the Allegheny High school. The girl then became a pupil in the latter school.

It is alleged Mackey enticed the girl into a room and assaulted her. Two weeks before her child was born last June, Mackey disappeared.

President Harry Pratt Judson of the University of Chicago last night denied that Prof. Mackey is in any way connected with the institution.

DEMAND RENT FOR CITY HALL.

Noel Construction Co., Builder, Says Some Uncompleted Offices Were Occupied Without Its Consent.

The city of Chicago is now asked to pay rent for space it occupies in its own city hall. The Noel Construction company, builder of the municipal building, wants to collect the rentals.

The city hall is not completed, although most of it has been occupied for nearly a year. The contractors charge the city moved into some parts of the building without their consent and therefore should pay rent.

Members of the council committee on city hall and public buildings considered the company's demand yesterday but took no action. They decided to make an inspection of the building on Monday. The city has not yet accepted the building. About $200,000 is still due the construction company. This will be withheld until the differences are settled.

La Grange School Board Will Force Mandamus if It Attempts to Bar Masonic Orphans.

Differences between the La Grange school board and officials of the Illinois Masonic Orphans' home may be taken into the courts. Members of the school board, of which Gen. According to the school board, it costs $35 a year to provide for each child, and only $4 of this is obtained through taxation from the home. Capt. Charles E. Bassitt, in charge of the home, said that if the town board issued an order excluding the children mandamus proceedings will be begun.

DROPS SUIT WHEN MAN TELLS STORY

Mrs. Martha Arbuckle Quits After J. W. Turner Says Woman Did "Courting."

"I LOVE YOU!" SHE CRIED.

Defendant Declares He Was Lured to Park, Fed, and Cuddled.

"Back to Joliet without the cash," was the alternative chosen by Mrs. Martha Arbuckle, who was suing John W. Turner for $20,000, alleging breach of promise. After the defendant had told his story of a one sided "courtship," and her counsel had waived cross examination, she whispered a few words to her attorney, who then asked that her suit be dismissed.

This was the end of an alleged man hunting expedition dating back as far as 1908, when the plaintiff was still married to Oscar E. Arbuckle. At that time she began to consult Mr. Turner, who was an old friend of the family, concerning the advisability of a divorce. Mr. Turner, who is president of the Pneumatic Transmission company, testified that he tried to convince her of the frivolity of her plans, pointing out that he knew Mr. Arbuckle only as a good and dutiful husband, and that after over twenty years of married life and with five children she would take a big chance by separating.

Yet Mrs. Arbuckle decided to put all her eggs in one basket. She plunged into this program: Divorce in 1908, courtship and wedding bells in 1909.

Two Stories Differ.

On Tuesday the plaintiff testified to advances made by Mr. Turner during 1909, ardent love letters written by him, his impecunosity in requesting meetings, the admitted emptiness of his life without her, his persuasion to overcome her objections, his chivalrous declarations of love and the fatherly interest he took in her 16 year old daughter, Julia. The story was painted in less romantic colors by Mr. Turner. Here is part of his testimony:

"Before she started her divorce proceedings Mrs. Arbuckle asked me for financial assistance and to appear as a witness against her husband. I denied her both, being a friend of Mr. Arbuckle and convinced that her accusations were at least grossly exaggerated.

"After her divorce, in March, 1909, she requested me to meet her in Chicago, because she had an important matter to communicate. Instead of that, she told me how nicely the children were getting along, how much the boys were earning, and that they had just bought a $500 piano. Since then she asked me several times to meet her, always pretending to need my advice in important matters, which never appeared.

That Meeting in a Park.

"In October, 1909, she wrote me that it was not pleasant for her to do all the writing. By that time I was thoroughly tired of her affection. Yet when, during that same month, she called me by phone and pleaded that my presence in Joliet was of the utmost importance, I went. She met me at the cars, carrying a little basket, and took me to Bush Park. My questions as to the 'important affairs' she evaded continually, and in their place I had to listen again to eulogies on her children, her home, etc.

"She insisted on our taking lunch together there in the park. The contents of the basket proved so delectable, that I, knowing conditions in the Arbuckle household, inquired where it came from. She admitted that she had it put up in a store or restaurant, just to please me. I told her that was foolish spending of money, and made her accept $5 to cover expenses.

"I Love You!" She Cries.

"Neither her daughter Julia nor anybody else was present at that meeting. When, after lunch, I had tried again in vain to extract the 'important business' from her, I said I wanted to catch my train.

"But before we reached the gates of the park she sank on a bench, and announced that now she would divulge the 'important affairs.'

"She suddenly grasped my hand, and, laying it in hers on my knee, ejaculated:

"'O, cousin John, I love you!'

"I answered, her: 'What a silly woman you are. I am astonished at you.'

"Not wishing to create a disturbance, I then left her in the park and went for my train."

At the morning session several witnesses from Joliet had testified that Mrs. Arbuckle had been living with her former husband at her home recently.

M'GOWAN ASSERTS WIEHE PAID $300

Admits Writing "He Made Them Come Across," but Had Trouble.

KEPT BUSY EXPLAINING.

'Them' Meant One Person, 'Him' Another; Settlement Was for 'Losses.'

other amount; that he merely told Wiehe he had lost six weeks' time; five weeks in Washington, and one week on a fishing trip, and that he made from $10 to $100 a day, and sometimes more, with his well drilling machine. Wiehe asked him if $10 a day for thirty days would be satisfactory, and he acepted the check for $300.

Denials Made by McGowan.

McGowan stated he did not tell any one he intended to "hold up the Hines' bunch"; that he never asked Wiehe $1,500 for perjuring himself; that Shields did not lay a pile of money on the table at the time he signed the affidavit last June; that he never said to Bailey the only mistake he made was in swearing to the affidavit; that he never split the first $50 he is alleged to have received from Wiehe with his partner, Orme Stewart, and that he never said he had the "Hines' bunch" in his power, or that Hines, Wiehe, and Bolling Arthur Johnson committed perjury. He denied admitting he perjured himself and swore the testimony he gave last July was true.

Senator Lea brought out that the witness came from Elora to Chicago with Edward Hines and from Chicago with Hines and Attorney Hynes. Since he has been in Washington he has been with Hines' secretary, even sleeping in the same room with him, while his father is in a different part of the house.

The dictagraph test will be made tomorrow night.

Dispense with Character Witnesses.

When the committee met it was announced that character witnesses would be dispensed with as the senators felt able to judge the value of the testimony without such aids. Chairman Dillingham said it was the desire to end the investigation as soon as possible.

McGowan on the witness stand identified the letter of July 10 last from Wiehe, and which Bailey says McGowan showed him. McGowan said when he returned to Regina from testifying in Washington he found his well drilling machine idle and that he had lost from $10 to $100 a day on unfinished contracts. This also corroborated Bailey's statement. He described meeting Bailey at Regina in company with Stewart and going fishing with them, hunting later with Bailey and coming with him to Chicago, all as related by Bailey. He said he sold his $1,500 drill for $1,000 and quit the business.

MR. HANECY — Did you ever tell Mr. Bailey or Mr. Stewart or anybody else in the presence of either of them, at any time or place, that you had perjured yourself in this investigation in Washington?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

Denies Admitting Perjury.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever tell Mr. Bailey or Mr. Stewart or say to anybody in the presence of either, or any one else, that everything Burgess had testified to in this investigation was true?

MR. McGOWAN—I did not.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever say to Mr. Bailey or to Mr. Stewart or to anybody else that you had perjured yourself terribly in the interest of the Hines people?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever tell Mr. Bailey or Mr. Stewart or anybody else, at any time, that you were going to hold the Hines bunch up or anybody else for $5,000 for your testimony in this investigation or because you had perjured yourself or for any other reason?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

Mentioned It to Bailey.

MR. HANECY—During the time you had been absent, and with Mr. Bailey and Mr. Stewart, did they talk to you about this investigation.

MR. McGOWAN—O, yes. I mentioned it several times to Mr. Bailey.

MR. HANECY—Was there any extended conversation between you and Bailey?

MR. McGOWAN—No; no extended conversation.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever ask Mr. Wiehe, or anybody else, to pay you $5,000 for your testimony?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Or because you had testified?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Or for any other purpose in connection with your testimony in this hearing.

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever ask Mr. Wiehe for $1,500?

MR. McGOWAN—I did not.

Wiehe Asked Him to Testify.

MR. HANECY—Who asked you to come to Washington to testify?

MR. McGOWAN—Mr. Wiehe.

MR. HANECY—When?

MR. McGOWAN—In his telegram to me; just the day I left I received his telegram.

MR. HANECY—Did you have a talk with Mr. Shields before you left Regina to come to Washington?

MR. McGOWAN—I met him in Moose Jaw on the 24th of May.

MR. HANECY—Is that the time you made the affidavit that you were on the train and in the smoking compartment, going from Duluth to Virginia, Minn.?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

MR. HANECY—Did Mr. Shields on that occasion take out a lot of money, or any money, and lay it on the table that you and he sat at or near, and shove the money toward you, and say that the Hines people had lots of money?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir, he did not.

MR. HANECY—Did he shove out any money at any time when he was talking to you, or in any way indicate that he wanted to give you any money?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Did you take from a roll of money or bunch of money or a lot of money on the table that Shields had placed there, a $5 bill?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Or any other sum of money?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Did B. J. Shields give you any money of any denomination or any amount whatever at any time?

MR. McGOWAN—He did not.

MR. HANECY—Did anybody give you any money at any time in any amount before you left Regina or Moose Jaw, or Saskatchewan Territory to come to Washington to testify?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir, they did not.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever split $50 with Stewart or anybody else?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever tell Bailey or say to anybody in Bailey's presence or at any other place or under any circumstances that the only mistake you had made in the matter was in swearing to the affidavit which you did swear to as to your presence on the train and in the smoking compartment going from Duluth to Virginia, Minnesota?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

The witness said he was willing to submit his Regina and Elora bank accounts. He said that when he finished testifying in Washington there was a balance of $12 or $15 due from Wiehe for expenses. That was all he expected Wiehe to pay him till he discovered the business losses incurred by his absence. He said Wiehe had telegraphed him he would reimburse him for his expenses, but he had not been able to find the telegram. He understood "expenses" to cover losses.

Word "Loss" Not Used.

SENATOR KENYON—Nothing was said in any of these messages about loss, was there?

MR. McGOWN—No, that word was not used, senator.

SENATOR KENYON—Did you have any such thing in your mind?

MR. McGOWAN—Not when I came down here; I did not think there would be any loss.

SENATOR LEA—And that would be all you would be entitled to?

MR. McGOWAN—I thought my business would go on up there, and that I would not ask for anything more.

Bailey was again corroborated when McGowan said he called up the Hines company in Chicago Oct. 19 and found Wiehe was out of town.

SENATOR GAMBLE—Why did you want to see Mr. Wiehe?

MR. McGOWAN—To get a settlement from him for the loss of business.

SENATOR GAMBLE—Had you written to him before that?

MR. McGOWAN—I had some communication with him; yes.

MR. HANECY—In what way?

MR. McGOWAN—Not in that respect at all.

MR. HANECY—Did you write to him anything about that settlement?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

Didn't Write of Loss.

SENATOR LEA—Had you ever advised him that you had suffered any loss in your business on account of your absence in testifying here?

MR. McGOWAN—I do not remember of writing it.

SENATOR LEA—But you were not going to ask him any more than you had actually lost, or that you believed you had actually lost, were you?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir; I was not.

SENATOR LEA—What estimate did you have at that time?

MR. McGOWAN—I was going to present the facts to Mr. Wiehe.

SENATOR LEA—No, I understood you to say that you did have a mental estimate of the amount at the time you came to Chicago?

MR. McGOWAN—No specific amount.

THE CHAIRMAN—What did you say you were going to do, you intended to do, at that time?

MR. McGOWAN—To talk it over with Mr. Wiehe and see what he thought would be a reasonable amount.

Planned to Take It Up with Wiehe.

SENATOR GAMBLE—Did you have it in mind when you went back there and found that you were idle and that loss had come to you, that you would subsequently take it up with Wiehe?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

SENATOR GAMBLE—And present it?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

SENATOR GAMBLE—Then you did have it in mind, did you, although you did not communicate to him in writing?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, that is it.

McGowan was then examined on the letter he wrote Wiehe asking a loan of $5,000, as related by Bailey.

SENATOR KERN—What was the occasion of your writing to Mr. Wiehe the first time?

MR. McGOWAN—I had in mind a section of land up there, 640 acres, and I thought it was a good buy; but I did not have enough money to finance it myself and I wrote to Mr. Wiehe for a loan, asking if he could grant me a loan. Of course I would give him what security was needed.

SENATOR KERN—You were a stranger to Mr. Wiehe, were you not?

MR. McGOWAN—Except that I met him in Washington here.

SENATOR KERN—You had never seen him until that summer?

MR. McGOWAN—Not until the 7th of March.

Says Loan Was Bigger than Debt.

SENATOR LEA—Why did you ask the loan of Mr. Wiehe when he owed you money for your losses?

MR. McGOWAN—The loan was a good deal larger than what he owed me.

SENATOR LEA—If he had given you the loan you would have released him from the losses?

MR. McGOWAN—No. I do not think so.

SENATOR LEA—Do you not think it would have been fair to him at that time to advise him, when you were trying to borrow money, that he also owed you an amount of money for your losses?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, I did not, any way, that I remember of.

Hanecy and Wiehe have been unable to find that letter.

SENATOR KERN—Was that the only subject that you referred to in that letter—the matter of the loan you were soliciting?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, I think so.

SENATOR KERN—Why, among all your acquaintance in Canada and the United States, did you select Mr. Wiehe as the man to whom you should apply for the loan?

MR. McGOWAN—I thought he was most able, perhaps, to negotiate the loan.

SENATOR KERN—You knew nothing about his financial circumstances, did you?

MR. McGOWAN—I understood that he was a rich man.

Letters Regarding $5,000 Loan.

The letter of Wiehe to McGowan and McGowan's reply about the $5,000 loan follow:

"West Baden, Ind., Aug. 19, 1911.—Mr. Chares McGowan, Regina, Canada—My Dear Mr. McGowan: You letter of the 10th inst. received. I am pleased to know that you arrived back home all right. I note what you say about wanting a loan of five thousand dollars [$5,000] for purchasing land, etc., in that part of the country. As I am unable at this time to personally make you the loan, for the reason that I am tied up in quite a few enterprises, and it has taken all the surplus money that I have, but it might be possible that I could arrange for a loan through one of our banks, providing the proper security was put up with the bank for the same.

"How much land had you in mind purchasing? I might go in partners with you on the land deal if you thought it advisable to do so. How much security could you put up for the $5,000, or say one-half of it? You say in your letter that you desire $5,000 to make part payment on the land. How much of the deficiency would there be left and would the $5,000 have to be second mortgage?

"Please write me fully the details and just what you have in mind in regard to the land proposition; how many acres you expected to buy and what you expected to do with it. Is it not pretty late to start in on such a proposition this time of the year? Would it not be better to look around this fall and winter, locate the land that you desire to buy, and then be prepared to put a crop in next spring so that you would begin getting revenue at once?

"Let me hear from you. Yours truly,

"C. F. WIEHE."

McGowan's Reply to Wiehe.

McGowan's reply is as follows:

"Regina, Sask., Aug. 28, 1911.—Mr. C. F. Wiehe, Chicago, Ill.—My Dear Mr. Wiehe: Your favor of the 19th inst. received. With reference to proposed loan, I regret to say there is no security I could give. If I had, of course there would be no trouble in getting all the money required right here. My object was to purchase a section, 640 acres, of land and pay thereon $3,000, and use the balance to procure horses and implements and if the farm was without buildings, of course part of the money would go in that direction.

"As regards the security I doubt if we could purchase land in such a way that a mortgage could be obtained. The rule here is the seller does not surrender the deed until half the purchase price is paid, then he takes a first mortgage for the balance. It would be both an honor and a pleasure for me to have you as a partner and from a business standpoint I would advise it. It would necessitate as you understand the purchase of double the amount of land.

"The object in getting hold of the land this fall, in fact right now, is that it can be bought so much cheaper. The spring and summer is when the price of land increases. Thanking you, I am, yours very truly,

"CHARLES McGOWAN.

"P. S.: Give my kindest regards to any inquiring friends, particularly Mr. Johnson.

"McG."

Says Wiehe Loaned Him Nothing.

MR. HANECY—Did Mr. Wiehe loan you $5,000, or any other sum of money?

MR. McGOWAN—He did not.

McGowan, in reply to a question by Senator Lea recalled that he saw Hines in Chicago while waiting for Wiehe, as Bailey testified.

SENATOR LEA—Had you communicated to him what you desired to see Mr. Wiehe about?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir, I had not.

SENATOR KENYON—How did he know you were there?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, I don't know.

SENATOR KENYON—Did you telephone him or communicate with him in any way?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir, I did not.

SENATOR KENYON—Did he seek you in Chicago, or did you seek him?

MR. McGOWAN—I received a telephone message from him.

He said Hines took him to his Evanston residence in his car. Mrs. Hines, he said, had invited him in Washington to visit them.

MR. HANECY—Did you talk to Mr. and Mrs. Hines about what you wanted to see Mr. Wiehe for.

MR. McGOWAN—I did not.

MR. HANECY—Did you say anything to Mr. Hines or Mrs. Hines about any losses you had?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Why did you not talk with Mr. Hines or somebody other than Mr. Wiehe about that?

MR. McGOWAN—I considered that I was doing business with Mr. Wiehe, not with Mr. Hines.

McGowan said he was surprised to meet R. J. Shields while in Chicago, as he did not know Shields was in the city. The meeting was in the Brevoort hotel lobby, and McGowan said Shields seemed surprised, too.

MR. HANECY—What was the conversation?

Asserts Shields Became Angry.

MR. McGOWAN—He asked me what I was doing in town. I told him I had been there for eight or nine days. He asked me what I was doing there. I told him I wanted to see Mr. Wiehe. He said, "What do you want to see him about?" I told him I thought I was entitled to some remuneration for the time I had lost in Washington; that my machine had been idle all the time I was away. He said that I was not entitled to anything. I told him I thought I was. He said, "Well, if I was dealing with you you would not get anything." I told him I was very glad he was not dealing with me; and he left in a kind of a blustering, angry way.

SENATOR KENYON—What day was that with reference to the night you spent at Mr. Hines'?

MR. McGOWAN—O, that was the Friday before that I was out to Mr. Hines'—the Friday before I met Mr. Shields.

SENATOR KENYON—Did Shields seem glad to see you there?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, yes, he was rather pleasantly surprised, I should think.

SENATOR KENYON—And he got over that before he left, did he?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, he did.

SENATOR KENYON—Did he leave you in an angry way?

MR. McGOWAN—He did.

SENATOR KENYON—Was that because you were asking for money?

Disagreed About Money.

MR. McGOWAN—That was because he thought I was not entitled to anything, and I thought I was. We disagreed on that.

SENATOR KENYON—Did he call you any names there?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—Or say anything about putting up a job on Hines?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir. He said I was not entitled to it. That is the words he used.

McGowan admitted he told Bailey what he wanted to see Wiehe for.

SENATOR FLETCHER—What did Mr. Bailey say when you told him you were going to ask Mr. Wiehe to compensate you for your loss of time and the machine being idle? What did he say?

MR. McGOWAN—He agreed with me, senator, that he should.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Did he advise you from time to time, or rather press or urge you, to make that demand?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, in Chicago he did. He urged me to press it.

SENATOR LEA—What amounts, if any, did you receive from Mr. Wiehe?

MR. McGOWAN—Three hundred dollars, senator.

MR. HANECY—You said you met Mr. Wiehe at about 1 o'clock in the rotunda of the Brevoort house, in Chicago?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

MR. HANECY—What was the first thing that took place between you and Mr. Wiehe at that meeting.

MR. McGOWAN—We just exchanged greetings and shook hands, and he said that he did not have lunch, and asked me if I had. I told him I had already had lunch. So he said he was going to have some, and asked if I would wait until he came out. He went into the dining room of the Brevoort, just behind the lobby there, and had his lunch and came out. So, then, I told him my purpose of stopping off; that I wanted to see him, and he asked me the reason why. I told him that my machine had been idle all the time I was away on his account and that he had guaranteed my expenses, and I thought he should pay me some money in compensation for the time I had lost.

"Next Agreed on Amount."

He agreed with me that that was right; that I was entitled to some money. Then he next agreed on the amount. He asked me what my loss was. I told him that was pretty hard to get at, as to just what my loss was, but I said that sometimes I made $10 a day, sometimes I made $100 a day, and sometimes I did not make anything, but had a loss; and that I was away for six weeks from my machine; five weeks on his account and one week on the fishing trip. He said, in the first place, that he did not think he should pay for the week I was on the fishing trip. I told him that was all right; that I was quite agreeable that he should not. He said: "What is your average per day?" I said: "I do not know how to strike an average." He said: "How would thirty days at $10 suit you, to cover everything?" I said: "That would be all right. I will agree with it." I accepted that amount. This was all transacted in the lobby of the Brevoort hotel.

MR. HANECY—Did you, at any time, go to your room, or any room other than the lobby of the hotel?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Have you told us, now, substantially all of the conversation?

MR. McGOWAN—In the lobby of the hotel? I think so.

MR. HANECY—Then what took place?

Suggested Going to First Hall.

MR. McGOWAN—He was going to pay me. He did not have the money, and we made to go over to the desk, the register desk, and write out a check and receipt there, but there was such a crowd around there that we would have had to squeeze in, and perhaps be bunted around there, and I suggested to him that we go up to the first hall.

I had noticed a little writing table in each of the halls up stairs. So I suggested to him that it would be very handy up there to write out the receipt and the check. So we went up to the first floor, and he wrote out in the hall there the check. He wrote out the receipt, and I signed it, and he wrote out the check and handed it to me, and I put it in my pocket. This is the last I saw of Mr. Wiehe until I came to Washington here this last time.

Shows Check and Deposit Slip.

MR. HANECY—Is that all the communication you had with him in any way, personally, by oral talk, or over the telephone or by telegraph or letter or otherwise?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

MR. HANECY—Is that the check that Mr. Wiehe gave you on that occasion? (exhibiting check to witness.)

MR. McGOWN—Yes, sir, it is.

MR. HANECY—What did you do with the check when he gave it to you?

MR. McGOWAN—I took it to Elora and deposited it to my credit in the Traders bank at Elora less $25.

McGowan exhibited the deposit slip and the receipt on Brevoort hotel stationery for "losses incurred through trips to Washington."

SENATOR FLETCHER—Did you have an appointment with Mr. Wiehe there at the hotel, Mr. McGowan?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir, except that some one at the office of the Edward Hines Lumber company told me the day before that he would be in town tomorrow and would meet me there.

Fishing Trip Rate the Same.

SENATOR KENYON—Why did you want him to pay you for the time you were on your fishing trip? What had he to do with that?

MR. McGOWAN—Really, I should not have asked him for that.

SENATOR KENYON—At what rate per day did you ask for the time you were on your fishing trip?

MR. McGOWAN—At no rate, specifically.

SENATOR KENYON—Was it from $10 to $100 a day?

MR. McGOWAN—The same as the rest.

SENATOR KENYON—And from $10 to $100 a day for six weeks is what you proposed to Mr. Wiehe, is it?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, that was my first proposition.

SENATOR KENYON—You wanted to start at some good sized figure, and then compromise?

MR. McGOWAN—No. My idea in asking him that was that before I got settled down to work it was six weeks, and that I was away on his account.

SENATOR KENYON—Did you say anything to him about your coming back to Washington again to testify?

Had No Disagreement, He Says.

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir; I did not think I would be called back here.

SENATOR KENYON—Did you tell him anything to the effect that he had better pay you?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir. I had no disagreement whatever with Mr. Wiehe.

SENATOR KENYON—What did he say?

MR. McGOWAN—He said he did not think it was fair that he should pay that, and I agreed with him.

SENATOR KENYON—Was he in a good frame of mind about it all the time?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes.

SENATOR KERN—Why did you not write to him something about this matter?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, but I thought if I could see him personally I could explain it better to him.

SENATOR KERN—What explanation did you make to him other than what I have suggested in my question?

MR. McGOWAN—That is all.

SENATOR KENYON—Did you talk with him about the letter you had written asking him for a $5,000 loan?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir; I did not.

SENATOR KENYON—Did he say anything about it?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir; he did not.

SENATOR KENYON—Was any mention made about $5,000?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir.

Tells of Land Plans.

McGowan said the land he wanted to buy was 640 acres, four miles south of Pasqua, the price of which was $19,200. He was going to borrow $5,000 from Wiehe, pay $3,000 down, and use $2,000 for improvements.

MR. HANECY—I want to call your attention to the letter dated Elora, Ontario, Nov. 11, addressed to A. C. Bailey, Esq., 1607 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. You say, "My Dear Art: Your very kind letter received some days ago, and I note you say you are all business. For myself, eating, sleeping, and smoking comprise my daily duties at present. A day or so after my return home the Hines people sent me a telegram asking me to meet one of them in Toronto. I presume they wanted some more affidavits or something, so I wired them they had better come to Elora." Now I want your particular attention. "By God, they would have been shown what forced hospitality was. The old shotgun would have been loaded with a couple of Peters No. 2." Will you tell where that expression came from, "forced hospitality"?

MR. McGOWAN—From Mr. Bailey.

MR. HANECY—When, briefly, and how?

MR. McGOWAN—When Mr. O'Dowd invited us to take tea with him one Sunday evening I told him I would go, and I went and invited Mr. Bailey to come with us. He sa idhe didn't like that forced hospitality, and I told him he need not mind, that he would be welcomed as a friend of mine.

MR. HANECY—What did you mean by the expression, "The old shotgun would have been loaded with a couple of Peters No. 2"?

Wouldn't Be Made Welcome.

MR. McGOWAN—I meant to convey the impression that they would not be made welcome.

MR. HANECY—They would not have been made welcome by you to Toronto or Elora?

MR. McGOWAN—Elora.

SENATOR KENYON—That is, that who would not be made welcome?

MR. McGOWAN—The Hines people.

SENATOR KENYON—Had you not been at their house before this?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

McGowan said he intended the shotgun hospitality for Secretary Thomas of the Hines company, who wired McGowan about Oct. 30 to meet him in Toronto. He had mislaid the telegram, he said.

SENATOR JONES—I understand you to say you continued to convey to Bailey that the Hines people would not be welcome; would not be treated friendly?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

SENATOR JONES—Why did you want to give him that impression?

MR. McGowan—Well, I told him of Shields not wanting to pay me anything for my services, and he urged that I press them for payment.

SENATOR JONES—But this letter was written after you had settled with Wiehe, was it not?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

Asks Purpose of His Course.

SENATOR JONES—Your settlement with Wiehe had been friendly and he had treated you as you thought, fairly, had he not?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, but I had not spoken to Bailey of that at all or written to him about it.

SENATOR JONES—Why did you want to convey to him that the Hines people would not be welcome?

MR. McGOWAN—The last that he heard from me was that we had a disagreement.

SENATOR KERN—Who had had a disagreement?

MR. McGOWAN—Shields and I.

SENATOR JONES—And you wanted to keep him in the frame of mind to believe that your relations with the Hines people were still unfriendly?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, at that time I did, yes.

SENATOR KERN—Why did you? Here you had been down to Chicago and made an amicable settlement. You had partaken of the hospitality of Edward Hines and his wife. Why should you try to convey the idea to a stranger that your relations with them were such that you would take a shotgun to them or something of that kind if they came around you?

MR. McGOWAN—I don't know why I wanted to, but I did, senator.

MR. HANECY—I read the next sentence of this letter. "I made them come across, at that—not all I expected, though—and I had a h—l of a time getting it, too." What did you mean by that?

Did Make Them Come Across.

MR. McGOWAN—Well, that I did make them come across. That is, they did come across, in fact, and I had quite a time getting it. I had to wait there nine days and I had a row with Shields over it, and I considered that quite a time getting it.

SENATOR KENYON—Were you accustomed to use that expression—"come across"?

MR. McGOWAN—No.

SENATOR KENYON—How did you happen to use it in that letter?

MR. McGOWAN—I learned that from Mr. Bailey in that particular instance.

SENATOR KENYON—You learned nearly everything in this letter from Mr. Bailey, did you not?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, that letter is really conveying to Mr. Bailey his own expressions.

SENATOR KENYON—This "H—l of a time"—is that Bailey's expression, too?

MR. McGOWAN—O, no, that is mine.

SENATOR KENYON—"Come across" is Bailey's expression, is it?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes; yes, he uses that very frequently.

SENATOR KENYON—Did you ever use it until you saw Bailey?

MR. McGOWAN—No; I never heard of it before.

"Got Inference from Bailey."

SENATOR KENYON—Did Bailey suggest to you what "come across" meant?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, I think I got the inference.

SENATOR KENYON—If you were settling a legitimate account with a man would you call it coming across when he paid it?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—That has already been your custom, has it?

MR. McGOWAN—No; it has not always been my custom, because I have not always used that word.

McGowan told Senator Kern that by "them" in the expression "I made them come across" he meant Wiehe. He said he did not mean he compelled him to come across.

SENATOR KERN—The full sentence is "I made them come across at that—not all I expected, though—and I had a hell of a time getting it too. Had to threaten him with all kinds of exposure." To whom did you refer by the word "him" in the sentence "I had to threaten him with all kinds of exposure?"

Thinks He Referred to Shields.

MR. McGOWAN—Mr. Shields, I think. I told him if I was not paid I would make a complaint to the committee.

SENATOR KERN—So in the one sentence you meant Wiehe by the pronoun "them" and in the next sentence you meant Shields by the pronoun "him?" In other words, you meant that you made Wiehe come across, at that—not all that you expected, though—and you had a hell of a time getting it, too. Then in the next sentence you meant you had to threaten Shields with all kinds of exposure?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

SENATOR KERN—Do you not in those two sentences refer to the same transaction, first, that you made them come across—not all you expected—and had a hell of a time getting it, too?

MR. McGOWAN—No; I don't refer to the same person.

SENATOR KERN—And when you said you had to threaten him with all kinds of exposure did you not mean to say that you had to threaten them with all kinds of exposure before you made them come across?

MR. McGOWAN—That was the only exposure I threatened, senator, that I would make complaint to this committee, and I did that to Mr. Shields.

SENATOR KENYON—What exposure was there in making a complaint to this committee?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, it might discredit Mr. Wiehe, that in all reasonable fairness he should pay my expenses, and if he did not do it, why—

SENATOR KENYON—What?

Has Difficulty in Expression.

MR. McGOWAN—I thought this committee would not—I don't know just how to express myself.

SENATOR KERN—Take your time, and let us get it.

MR. McGOWAN—Well, it might hurt Mr. Wiehe if I did make a complaint to this committee that he would not—

SENATOR KENYON—Would not what?

MR. McGOWAN—Would not pay my expenses; would not promise to.

SENATOR KERN—Why did you presume the Hines people wanted you to make some more affidavits, or something?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, I didn't presume it, as a matter of fact. I put that in there, I don't know why.

SENATOR KENYON—You tell us, then, that you threatened Shields with exposure in order to make Wiehe come across; that that is what your letter meant?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, I did not threaten Shields. I told Shields that I would complain to this committee.

SENATOR KENYON—You did not tell him you would come back to this committee and testify contrary to what you had before?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir; I did not.

SENATOR KENYON—And did he not get angry about it?

What He Was Angry About.

MR. M'GOWAN—No, sir; it was not that that he got angry about at all.

SENATOR KENYON—You told him merely that you would complain to this committee that Wiehe had not paid your expenses?

MR. M'GOWAN—Yes, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—And he got angry about that?

MR. M'GOWAN—Yes, he did—no; he got angry because I was asking him anything.

SENATOR KENYON—You did mention this committee, then, in your talk with Shields?

MR. M'GOWAN—Yes, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—And that is what you had in mind when you referred to threatening him with exposure?

MR. M'GOWAN—Yes, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—Was there any other exposure you were going to make as to Mr. Shields?

MR. M'GOWAN—There was not.

SENATOR KENYON—You did not have a hell of a time adjusting this with Wiehe, in the terms of your letter, did you?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir, except I had been there for nine days waiting for him.

SENATOR KENYON—And that is what you called a hell of a time?

MR. McGOWAN—Partly.

SENATOR LEA—You say here, "had to threaten him with all kinds of exposure." You mean you threatened to expose the person whom you called "him"?

MR. McGOWAN—No, that I would threaten Mr. Wiehe.

SENATOR LEA—"Had to threaten him with all kinds of exposure." That is, you threatened Mr. Shields that you would expose Mr. Wiehe?

MR. McGOWAN—Yes, sir.

Didn't Have Much Effect.

MR. McGOWAN—Well, I don't know. It didn't seem to have very much effect on him.

SENATOR LEA—How did you think it would? You did not know of any connection between the two, did you?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, I knew that they were connected; yes.

SENATOR LEA—In what way?

MR. McGOWAN—I heard Mr. Shields' testimony, that he had carried a good deal of insurance with the Edward Hines Lumber company.

SENATOR LEA—And you thought it would terrify Mr. Shields because it would expose a gentleman for whom he had written some insurance?

MR. McGOWAN—I did not say it was the intention of terrifying anybody.

SENATOR LEA—What was your idea of threatening if it was not to create fear?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, to show him that I would do it.

SENATOR LEA—What do you mean by a threat?

MR. McGOWAN—The same as any person else means by a threat.

SENATOR LEA—Well, define it.

MR. McGOWAN—I don't know what the dictionary definition of it is.

SENATOR LEA—What was yours when you wrote this letter

"A Matter of Argument."

MR. McGOWAN—Well, when I told Shields that I would do it; that I would expose Mr. Wiehe.

SENATOR LEA—You wanted to compel Mr. Shields to do something, [illegible] meant by threats, did you not?

MR. McGOWAN—No; I didn't [illegible] compel Mr. Shields to do anything.

SENATOR LEA—Then why did you threaten him?

MR. M'GOWAN—Just as a matter of argument. That was all.

SENATOR LEA—Had you been discussing with Mr. Bailey what you were trying to get Mr. Shields to do in regard to Mr. Wiehe?

MR. McGOWAN—No, but I told him of the discussion with Shields, and that I had [illegible] nothing.

SENATOR LEA—You thought that [illegible] that Mr. Bailey would know when you said "had to threaten him with all kinds of exposure" it meant Shields?

MR. McGOWAN—I was referring to my conversation with Mr. Bailey.

SENATOR KENYON—You would not have to threaten to expose anybody to collect a legitimate claim, would you?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, if you turn that into exposure you would not.

SENATOR KENYON—Have you ever collected any other claims in that way.

MR. GOWAN—No, sir.

Why He Said "Hines Bunch"

THE CHAIRMAN—In these letters you are referring to the Hines "bunch" just as though they were enemies, and you are doing it in a confidential manner, [illegible] aright, with Mr. Bailey. There is some reason why you are referring to them in that way. What had happened between you and Bailey to make you refer to them in that way?

MR. McGOWAN—Well, he was [illegible] urgent.

THE CHAIRMAN—Tell us how he was urgent.

MR. M'GOWAN—He said they ought to come across. That is what he said.

THE CHAIRMAN—Did he say anything about the amount?

MR. M'GOWAN—No mention of the amount was made there at all by me or by Mr. Bailey.

SENATOR FLETCHER—As a matter of fact, in writing to Bailey, did you mean to be really serious and state a condition of facts to him that he was concerned [illegible] involved in in any way as positively true, or did you just throw the letter off in a careless, fun making manner?

Expected It to Be Torn Up.

MR. McGOWAN—Your last suggestion is correct, senator. I wrote it expecting it would be torn up and thrown in the waste paper basket. I never attached any importance to it.

SENATOR FLETCHER—It was not intended to be a serious statement of what had actually occurred, was it?

MR. McGOWAN—Not all of it, [illegible]

SENATOR FLETCHER—As far as I know, he was not involved or concerned in this matter in any way directly, [illegible]

MR. McGOWAN—Not directly.

SENATOR FLETCHER—He had no interest in it except his apparent friendship for you?

MR. McGOWAN—That is all.

SENATOR LEA—Would you have written the letter if you had thought it would be preserved?

MR. McGOWAN—I certainly would not have written it in that manner.

MR. HANECY—Did you tell Mr. Bailey, any one in his presence, or in that of anybody else, that you met Mrs. Hines and she had just read the account of Cook's testimony there, and that when she saw Mr. Hines and you come in she fainted? Did you tell Mr. Bailey that?

MR. M'GOWAN—No, sir; I did not tell him that. I told him this: That I was in the office, in the Tacoma building, of Mr. Hines, and that we were waiting for Mr. Hines to come in; and that she came in and that she was quite faint; that she did not faint, but she took sick.

MR. HANECY—That was not at his house?

MR. M'GOWAN—That was not at his house; and I was there before she was in the office.

Lea Grills McGowan.

Senator Lea submitted McGowan to a severe grilling on the letter. McGowan could not point out any jokes in it. He said it was written in a "light, joking way."

McGowan said not one of the conversations about the Hines matter in the Toronto hotel took place as testified to by Bailey, Kern and Sheridan.

SENATOR JONES—Did you at any time tell Mr. Bailey what you got from Wiehe?

MR. McGOWAN—No, sir; I did not.

SENATOR JONES—Do I understand that you did not talk over with Bailey in Toronto this matter at all?

MR. M'GOWAN—The subject was not mentioned.

SENATOR JONES—Anywhere or at any time?

MR. M'GOWAN—Anywhere or at any time in Toronto.

SENATOR LEA—Mr. Hines' name was not mentioned?

MR. M'GOWAN—It was not.

SENATOR LEA—Or the Hines crowd?

MR. M'GOWAN—Or the Hines crowd.

NEW GOVERNOR IN ROOSEVELT RANKS

Charles H. Aldrich of Nebraska Switches from La Follette to the Colonel.

WISCONSIN MAN IS OUT?

Illinois Progressives Generally Centering Support on the Ex-President.

Another governor has been added to the "Roosevelt group." Gov. Charles H. Aldrich of Nebraska, who has been lined up consistently with the La Follette movement, at Lincoln issued a strong pro-Roosevelt statement. This was in the face of the progressive Republican conference to be held on Monday at which the Nebraska progressives are to consider the advisability of dividing the delegation between Roosevelt and La Follette. The declaration of Gov. Aldrich follows:

"In my judgment the evidence on every hand from straw votes taken by the great metropolitan dailies and from other undoubted and reliable sources of information, shows that the sentiment is rapidly crystallizing around our ex-president, Theodore Roosevelt.

"In the last few days, it would seem, Senator La Follette will not be able, owing to his severe illness and worn energies, to prosecute his campaign and to further conduct his leadership at this critical period of formation of political forces, and the Republican party in this state and nation is indeed fortunate in having in Col. Roosevelt a Republican whose progressive policy and great character have done so much for this country."

California for Roosevelt.

Former Gov. George C. Pardee of California wired the national Roosevelt committee as follows:

Assure people of California that Roosevelt will accept nomination, and he will receive enormous majority at primary; all our people want is opportunity to vote for him; even reactionaries admit this in private conversation. Notice of Chicago meeting too short for me to attend, but am heartily for Roosevelt.

GEORGE C. PARDEE.

Illinois Sentiment Grows.

Illinois progressive Republicans—those who have been at the forefront of the La Follette campaign in the state—are ready to declare for the nomination of Roosevelt.

This condition, which had been indicated from Washington with the news of the physical collapse of Senator La Follette, was made more certain yesterday by the receipt of a telegram from Medill McCormick. The telegram was received at the Illinois state Republican headquarters in the afternoon.

Mr. McCormick in New York wired this message to Paul Steinbrecher, chairman of the progressive campaign committee, in charge of the organization work for Jones for governor and Magill for senator:

"Since I have had an unusual opportunity to secure the opinion of progressives in both houses of congress, and have secured promises from both Stubbs and Pinchot, and expect one from Johnson, to speak in our campaign, I urge our friends to proceed to put candidates in the field and to indorse Roosevelt at once.

"MEDILL MCCORMICK."

There was a preliminary meeting of the progressive organization in Cook county at night, at which the McCormick telegram was considered.

La Follette to Announce End, Rumor.

Within forty-eight hours, it is believed, Senator La Follette will issue a formal declaration as to his own position. Rush orders received in Chicago late in the afternoon, called to Washington all the La Follette field lieutenants and a conference, possibly this afternoon, will determine the course of the Wisconsin senator.

Pending the result of this conference, the La Follette personal lieutenants at the Chicago progressive headquarters insisted that there would be no withdrawal of Senator La Follette. They asserted he will continue in the presidential race to the finish.

This was prior to the receipt of the telegram at the state headquarters from Mr. McCormick. The real feeling—even among Senator La Follette's closest friends in Chicago—appears to be that the thing to do is to place the Illinois progressives strictly in line for the nomination of Roosevelt.

That Gov. Stubbs, Gifford Pinchot, and Gov. Johnson of California had been secured for the Roosevelt campaign in Illinois interested the national progressive headquarters.

At the national Roosevelt headquarters at the Congress hotel it was all one way. Gov. R. S. Vessey of South Dakota was the bearer of the important tidings from a Roosevelt committee standpoint. He said that South Dakota, while strongly for La Follette, as was determined at a progressive roundup prior to the Roosevelt boom, is certain to send a delegation to the national convention which will be either for La Follette or for Roosevelt and not for Taft.

Gov. Vessey said he would attend the Roosevelt conference here on Saturday.

North Dakotans Favor Colonel.

North Dakota will be the first state to hold a direct presidential preference primary. Congressman L. B. Hanna, the Roosevelt leader in that state, was at Roosevelt headquarters during the day and gave out this statement as to conditions there:

"The Roosevelt situation in North Dakota is very good. There is no manufactured sentiment, but the sentiment which is for Mr. Roosevelt—and it is very strong—comes from the hearts of the people of that state, and they are sincerely and earnestly for him by a very large majority.

"Five thousand petitions have been sent out in the state to the chairman, secretary, and treasurer of every county committee and to every precinct committeeman, so that the movement will reach every nook and corner of the state.

"There will be a mass Roosevelt convention held at Grand Forks Feb. 20 for the purpose of presenting to voters names of delegates to be voted for by the people March 19 at the same time that they vote their presidential preference. Under the law the delegates elected must vote the preference as expressed by the people regardless of any personal preference. The estimates coming in from over the state would indicate that 75 per cent of the vote cast will be for Mr. Roosevelt."

"Office Seeks Man"; Sends $1.

An example of the practical indorsement given the Roosevelt movement is embraced in the following letter received during the day by the committee:

"St. Charles, Ill., Feb. 6.—A. H. Revell, chairman Roosevelt committee, Chicago.—Dear Sir: Inclosed herein please find $1 in currency for Roosevelt campaign fund. Wish I could afford to do better. That is the kind of politics I believe in—when the office seeks the man. No answer necessary.

"JAS. R. FERSON."

ROOSEVELT FOLLOWS LINCOLN.

New York, Feb. 7.—With the correspondence of Abraham Lincoln as a textbook and six newspaper reporters as pupils, Col. Theodore Roosevelt addressed today what he called his "first class in applied decent politics."

Col. Roosevelt prefaced his talk with the declaration that he had tried to take Lincoln's letters as a guide for himself and he thought excerpts from many of the martyred president's letters would make proper replies to questions that are being asked him daily.

One of Lincoln's letters especially, Mr. Roosevelt thought, would apply to conditions confronting him today. This was a letter written at Springfield on April 6, 1860, to C. F. McNeil. The part emphasized by Mr. Roosevelt reads as follows:

"I have made this explanation to you as a friend, but I wish no explanation made to our enemies. What they want is a squabble and fuss, and they can have it if we explain, and they cannot have it if we don't."

Roosevelt Cites Caution.

Another missive read by Col. Roosevelt was Lincoln's confidential letter to A. Jonas, written on June 21, 1860. In part it said:

"'And now a word of caution. Our adversaries think they can gain a point if they could openly force me to deny the charge, by which some degree of offense would be given to the Americans. For this reason it must publicly appear that I am paying no attention to the charge.'

"That reminds me of some more of my past answers," commented Col. Roosevelt. "You may recollect that on several occasions I have said that I had nothing to say.

"'If I were to labor a month,'" he read from Lincoln's private and confidential letter of Oct. 29, 1860, to G. D. Prentice, "'I could not express my conservative views and intentions more clearly and strongly than they are expressed in our platforms and in my many speeches already in print and before the public.'"

Refers to General Politics.

Col. Roosevelt interrupted the reading here to say:

"I am not speaking now of my immediate problems but referring only to general politics." He continued: "'And now, my friend, do not misunderstand me. I have not decided that I will not do substantially what you suggest. If I do finally abstain it will be because of apprehension that it will do harm. For the good men of the south—and I regard the majority of them as such—I have no objection to repeat seventy and seven times. But I have bad men to deal with, both north and south, men who are eager for something new upon which to base misrepresentations, men who would like to frighten me or at least to fix upon me the character of timidity and cowardice. They would seize upon almost any letter I should write as being an "awful coming down."

"'I intend keeping my eye upon these gentlemen and not to unnnecessarily put any weapon in his hands.'"

"The politicians of those days," Mr. Roosevelt said in closing, "had much the same sort of problems confronting them as we have today."

ASK PASTOR TO RUN FOR SENATE

Evanston Young Men's Republican Club Calls on the Rev. William McElveen for Candidacy.

Should a minister of the gospel enter politics against the wishes of a considerable part of his congregation? This is the question that the Rev. William McElveen, pastor of the First Congregational church of Evanston, must answer today. The minister last evening received the unanimous indorsement of the newly organized Evanston Young Men's Republican club for state senator from the Evanston district. Two prospective candidates, Alden Carter and George Hollett, made speeches favoring the pastor at the club meeting in the Avenue house and announced their intentions.

"The Rev. Mr. McElveen is my pastor and I am for him if he decides to become a candidate," Mr. Carter said.

FRENCH MISSION TO HERRICK.

Former Governor of Ohio Selected by President Taft to Succeed Ambassador Bacon.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—The nomination of former Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio to be ambassador to France was sent by President Taft to the senate today. He will succeed Robert Bacon, resigned to become a fellow of Harvard university.

SLATE VEXES HARRISON MEN

Many Had Circulated Petitions for Free for All Primary.

HOYNE DISPLACES RIVALS.

Sabath and Devine Said to Have Yielded to Unexpected Strength.

The Harrison-Hearst selection of candidates for the county ticket promises to cause followers of Mayor Harrison almost as much trouble as the famous "harmony ticket" which failed to harmonize from the first time it was mentioned. The Harrison men are anxious to grab all the plums.

Although denying any "slate" was being or had been prepared, Mr. Harrison and his lieutenants lost no time in letting ward workers know the names of the men considered right. A multitude of Harrison-Hearst men have been circulating petitions expecting to enter a free for all primary contest. They were informed the absence of a name from the list meant that further campaigning by the candidate for that place would be distasteful to Mr. Harrison and the Hearst leaders.

Germak Not Slated.

Friends of Joseph Grein, city sealer under Dunne and candidate for bailiff of the Municipal court, asserted they had been assured that Anton J. Germak had not been slated for the place, as reported. It was announced, however, that Grein would make the race at the primary, regardless of Mr. Harrison's wishes.

The question of the state's attorneyship was settled quickly by the support which Maclay Hoyne quietly had gathered for himself. Municipal Judge Joseph Sabath and Miles J. Devine, who were candidates for the same place, and whose petitions have been circulated for weeks, have decided to give way to Mr. Hoyne, it is said.

Hoyne Refuses Promises.

It was reported an attempt was made to satisfy Mr. Hoyne by the promise that he would be named corporation counsel when William Sexton, the incumbent, steps down and out. Hoyne refused. It was said, and then received the O. K. of Harrison and Andrew Lawrence for Hearst. Mr. Devine will content himself with a congressional nomination, it is said.

Former Mayor Dunne spoke at night in his home ward and received the indorsement of the ward organization for the gubernatorial nomination. Although the Harrison men in the ward stood out against such an indorsement for a time, the question was settled amicably and there was no opposition to the resolution.

Alschuler Goes to Alton Today.

Samuel Alschuler will carry his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to Alton today and this evening will go to Springfield, where he will hold a round up of his lieutenants at the St. Nicholas hotel this evening and tomorrow morning. Friday afternoon and evening Mr. Alschuler will speak in Decatur.

The Seventeenth Ward Democratic club at night indorsed Edward F. Dunne for governor.

Among the Democratic gubernatorial developments was the movement in favor of Charles Comiskey, the "Old Roman," as a candidate. This movement is reported fully on the sporting page of this paper.

WARD MEETING BOOSTS DENEEN

Organization in the Twentieth Also Indorses Maurice Kallis for Congressman.

An organization to boost Deneen for governor was started last night in the Twentieth ward—at a hall at Jefferson and Maxwell streets. Maurice Kallis received the indorsement for congressman from the Fifth congressional district, Joseph E. Cohen for representative of the Fifteenth senatorial district, and Fred Kline for alderman. The officers elected are: Samuel Pintus, president; Joseph Daily, vice president; Joseph Cohen, secretary; and Harry Sternberg, treasurer.

PLAN UNANIMOUS ROOSEVELT CALL

Movement for United Appeal by All Republican Members of Congress.

"OLD GUARD" MAY ASSIST.

Importance of Preventing Democratic Control of the Nation Will Be Urged.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—There is a movement on the part of the progressive Republicans in the senate and house of representatives to join in a statement to the country advocating the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt by the Chicago convention.

Since the collapse of the La Follette boom there has been considerable discussion among these men as to the course they should pursue. While all of them now are outspoken for Col. Roosevelt, with the exception of Senator Cummins, who is for himself, and Senator Kenyon, who naturally stands behind his colleague, they are of the opinion that unanimous action will have the greatest effect upon the country.

They have been consulting with members of the "old guard" in reference to the advisability of general support of the Roosevelt candidacy, and are receiving a great deal of encouragement from statesmen whom they have opposed in the past.

Opposed to Democratic Control.

An important reason for getting together is the fact that neither the progressive nor the "old guard" wants the control of the senate to pass from Republican to Democratic hands.

The Republican majority in the senate at present is seven, with one vacancy, which exists in Colorado. The terms of thirty-one senators will expire with the present administration, and a number of these come from doubtful states. It is realized that a Democratic landslide will result in Democratic control of the senate as well as the house, and possibly the presidency.

Under the circumstances there is more talk today than ever of naming as the Republican candidate a man who can win at the polls in November. Few of the Republicans in congress believe any considerable opposition will be suffered by Col. Roosevelt on the ground that he will be running for a third term. Senator La Follette recently said there was nothing in such an argument, because since Mr. Roosevelt was in the White House Mr. Taft has served as president.

Friends of Underwood Active.

The Underwood presidential boom is causing the friends of the other candidates for the Democratic nomination to sit up and take notice. The Underwood campaign committee, headed by Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama, has made a dead set after delegates from the south, and the activity in this direction has thrown a big scare into the following of Gov. Woodrow Wilson in Washington, which has counted upon a solid Wilson delegation from the south.

Senator Bankhead has undertaken to enlist the support of the weekly press of the south and through it to reach the people of that section. He has written to the editor of each weekly paper in the south a letter advising the circulation of a special Underwood supplement, telling why Representative Underwood should be nominated by the Democrats.

He offers to compensate the papers that circulate the Underwood supplement. The price offered varies from $10 to papers having fewer than 1,000 circulation to $20 for papers having 2,000 and more circulation.

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANS TO HAVE COUNTY TICKET.

Slate Selected at Organization Convention Will Be Opposed by Men Approved by Jones and Merriam.

The Progressive Republican league is to have a county ticket in the field to contest the slate picked last week by the regular Republican organization at the county convention.

Progressive leaders met last night at the Lakeside restaurant and began framing a county ticket for the primaries. Candidates for nearly every county office were suggested, and will be considered later by Walter Clyde Jones, Charles E. Merriam, and other leaders before finally ratified by the executive committee.

"It is too early to mention candidates by names," said Paul Steinbrecher, campaign manager for Mr. Jones, "but we have decided that the progressives will have a full county ticket in the field."

Prof. Merriam was the only member of the executive committee absent. During the meeting he telephoned the news that a Miss Merriam had just arrived at his home.

Paul Perry departed for Springfield immediately after the meeting, taking with him the petitions of the progressives' state candidates, which are to be filed with the secretary of state.

TAFT GETS FLORIDA DELEGATES?

Assertion That Convention Split, with One Faction for Roosevelt, Denied.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 7.—Florida will send a full delegation instructed for President Taft to the Republican national convention at Chicago, according to advices received today from Palatka, where the state convention was held yesterday.

The assertion that the convention was split and that two delegations, one instructed for President Taft and the other for Roosevelt, had been selected, was denied. The independent convention, it is said, was made up of contesting delegates, who did not have credentials and who were refused votes in the regular convention.

Resolutions indorsing the administration and naming President Taft as the party's standard bearer for 1912 were adopted without opposition.

RICH MAN OUT FOR ALDERMAN.

C. G. Simmons of Kenosha Will Be Opposed by One of His Factory Employes and a Blacksmith.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—C. G. Simmons, a manufacturer and railroad president, today began circulating petitions in Kenosha for the Republican nomination for alderman of the Third ward. Before leaving for a short trip to the Bermudas and the Panama canal zone he made arrangements for his campaign. He is president of the Simmons Manufacturing company, a $5,000,000 corporation. He will have opposed to him John H. Hegeman, a blacksmith, and Charles Barr, who is employed in the Simmons factory.

FIGHT OVER PETITION FILING

County Clerk and Election Commission Disagree on Place.

BOTH ISSUE STATEMENTS.

Sweitzer: "With Election Clerk"; Board: "In Our Own Offices."

County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer and the Chicago board of election commissioners have hooked up in an unyielding scrap over the proper place to file primary election petitions tomorrow.

Mr. Sweitzer issued a formal statement last night, in compliance with the advice of his attorney. It declares that candidates who desire their names submitted at the April primaries may begin filing their petitions at the election clerk's window, beginning at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, and that petitions received by mail at any time on and after tomorrow, in compliance with the primary law, will be received and filed.

The election commissioners, standing pat upon the principle laid down by them in an official statement last week, reiterated the statement that no names will go on the official ballot to be used within the precincts which are under the jurisdiction of the election commissioners unless the petitions are filed at the office of the election commission.

Csarnecki Issues Statement.

Commissioner Csarnecki, in an interview last night, said the election board will continue to insist that it is preeminent in election affairs in Chicago and Cicero, under the statute which creates the commission. Furthermore, Commissioner Csarnecki said that the election commission is likely to print the names on each of the party ballots in sets of columns, rather than in one continuous column, and that the commission will be entirely within the law in determining such procedure.

In short, the break between the county clerk and the election commission is over the proposition of who shall arrange the order of the official primary ballot and whether the county clerk's certificate governs the subsequent actions of the election commissioners in printing the election ballots.

Petition Bearers in Dilemma.

The "waiters" at the door of the county clerk's office do not know which is the Republican and which is the Democratic line, it was reported last night, and the force was redoubled at midnight for all contenders. The understanding is that the Lorimer-Lincoln league holds first place in both lines, with the petitions of the candidates who will be indorsed by the league's county convention Saturday afternoon.

Dozens of petitions went to Springfield last night, for the legislature, congress, and for the board of equalization and for members of the state committee.

YATES AND SMALL OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Subtreasurer and Former Executive Announce Themselves in Race.

START CAMPAIGN SOON.

Battle for Nomination Expected to Be a Spirited Struggle.

Richard Yates, former governor of Illinois, became an announced candidate for the Republican nomination for governor last night at Springfield. He was followed a few moments later by the straightaway declaration from Len Small, at Kankakee, that he is also an active candidate.

Mr. Yates opened his headquarters at Springfield and made preparations to file his petition tomorrow with the secretary of state. Mr. Small started his campaign by throwing open headquarters at Kankakee and redoubling orders to his representatives who have been holding down the head of the line to file his petitions before all comers.

"I am a candidate for the nomination for governor and expect to be nominated," was the statement Mr. Yates made to THE TRIBUNE over the long distance telephone. "The words of encouragement I have received in all sections of the state make me confident my candidacy is opportune and worth while. I have kept no political books. I am a free agent."

Small Issues Statement.

Mr. Small's official announcement follows:

"After hearing from friends from all parts of the state I have decided to be a candidate for governor. After careful consideration I am convinced that if the Republicans who favor my nomination give me their support I will be nominated.

"I believe in our constitution, in representative government, and in the principles of the Republican party as declared in the platforms of our national conventions from the time of Abraham Lincoln.

To Act at Convention.

This announcement had been expected by the politicians for some time, and the indorsement of Mr. Small for the governorship is a foregone conclusion at the state convention of the Lincoln league at Springfield on Monday.

From Springfield it also was communicated that Lawrence Y. Sherman is to be a candidate for United States senator. Gov. Deneen has not determined when he will open his active campaign, but it is improbable that he will start this week.

'COMMY'-GOVERNOR DEMOCRATS' AIM

Leaders of Party to Ask Comiskey Today to Run for State Office.

HOPE HE WILL CONSENT.

Earl Moseley Quits "Holdout" Class, Signing Cub Contract; Reulbach Recovers Dog.

BY SAM WELLER.

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox and known as the "Old Roman" in baseball, today will be asked formally to come out as a candidate for governor of Illinois on the Democratic ticket. This news was brought into Chicago yesterday afternoon by Mayor E. M. Allen of Joliet, who has been appointed by leaders of his party to approach the White Sox chief in the matter.

An attempt was made yesterday to bring Comiskey and Mayor Allen together, but when they met it was just as Allen was about to take a train to his home, and an appointment was made with the baseball magnate at his office at 11 o'clock this morning. In the meantime Comiskey had been informed of the honor that was about to be placed upon him, and from his talk it was evident that the Democratic party will have to look elsewhere for a man to head the ticket.

The "Old Roman" has declined to mix in politics in the past, and it is hardly probable he will permit his name to be put up.

Democratic leaders in the city who were informed of the matter last night were enthusiastic over the plan, and it was the general opinion that Comiskey would be a strong candidate.

Leak a Surprise to Allen.

When interviewed over the telephone last night Mayor Allen said he was surprised the news had gotten out and until he had talked with Comiskey and leaders of his party he could not give out the facts which led to the movement to bring out the "Old Roman" as a candidate.

"All I can say is that I have been asked to see Comiskey and find out if he will accept the candidacy," said Mayor Allen. "There are some strong Democratic leaders behind me in the movement, but I am not at liberty to give out their names. All I hope is that Comiskey will accept the candidacy. I had hoped to see him today, but was unable to do so until it was too late to take the matter up. I made an appointment with him for tomorrow and I'll be there to talk it over with him. I can say that it's not only men in Chicago but in other parts of the state who are behind the movement, and we are all of the opinion that no more popular man could be selected to head the ticket.

"Comiskey is a man who has come from the bottom and made a name and a fortune for himself. Everywhere he is known as a square man. He's been successful and we believe he's fitted today to take the responsibility of handling the affairs of the state. He has no factions behind him and he has no enemies. To me he stands out as a big man, and he has won his place on his merits. He would make a good governor for the same reason that he made himself a good baseball leader—he was square with everybody."

Moseley Signs Cub Contract.

At the office of President Murphy of the Cubs yesterday it was announced that Earl Moseley, the young pitcher procured from the Youngstown (O.) club last fall, had mailed in his signed contract. Moseley was one of the holdouts on the Cubs' list, refusing to sign the contract when first mailed to him. Whether he gained anything by holding out was not made known. Moseley was the star twirler of the Ohio and Pennsylvania league last summer and is said to have cost the Chicago club $4,500. Manager Chance thinks the youngster is sure to make good in the big league.

Murphy announced that he had hoped to procure Jules Fournier, the young player bought by the White Sox from Boston on Tuesday, but he soon knew that waivers had been asked on the lad by the Red Sox and was scheming on getting the man for the west side team, believing any young fellow who had shown the speed shown by Fournier last season was worth a trial at a cost of $1,500.

Big Ed Reulbach informed his friends yesterday that he has recovered his prize Airedale pup. The dog was lost about two weeks ago and Reulbach advertised his loss in the papers and offered a reward for his return. Tuesday night he was informed over the telephone that if he would come alone to Douglas park the dog would be returned.

Reulbach Pays Ransom; Gets Pup.

Although the message bore the marks of the Black Hand, Big Ed pocketed a six shooter and went out to meet the foe. At 8 o'clock in the morning he was on the spot and a man walked past him without saying a word. Then the signal was given to an associate, who appeared with the dog and accepted the ransom. The big twirler for the Cubs was satisfied without asking any questions and returned home with the dog.

In the list of new corporations sent out from the office of the secretary of state at Springfield yesterday appeared one called the Columbian Association of Professional Baseball Clubs. The business was given as the promotion of the game of baseball and the directors named were John T. Powers, William C. Niesen, and A. F. Gardner. This indicates that the new outlaw league of semi-pro clubs means business.

Rally in Final Inning Causes Defeat of St. Phillip's Nine by Score of 7 to 5.

By scoring three runs in the final inning Lake High won its first game in the Cook County High School Indoor Baseball league from St. Phillip's, 7 to 5, at Sherman park yesterday. Allen reached first on an error, Peters walked, and Burbridge hit safely for a single, filling the bases. Lejeck fanned and Makar scored the first run by a hit to left, again filling the sacks. Wilham was passed, forcing in a run. Hough followed with a hit and the third run scored. The next two batters fanned. Score:

JACK SUNOL TAKES FEATURE.

Defeats Imported Horses with M. B. Crafts in Sulky in Free for All at Garfield Park.

M. B. Crafts of Austin was the "lion" of the matinée on the ice speedway at Garfield park yesterday. The veteran horseman, who carries his 70 years easily, trimmed the free for all pacers behind his gray gelding, Jack Sunol.

Jack Sunol's victory was one of the events of the season. An outsider named Joe Patch with a record of 2:11¼ was brought to Chicago for the express purpose of cleaning up the west side pacers. After deliberating for weeks Otto Zapel also decided to send out the great mare Silver Light and see what she could do on the ice.

The field was so large that Secretary Hayes split it into tiers. Jack Sunol and Joe Patch were pitted against each other in the first tier and ex-Senator Crafts never left the issue in doubt, showing the way to the invader in straight heats after a pretty race. Jack Sunol and Silver Light came out for the final dash and they had it hammer and tongs all the way. In the final strides Silver Light weakened and Jack Sunol flew over the line a length to the good. Summaries:

2:20 trot—Dan [Dr. Kiser], won in straight heats; Queen Rose [Adams], second.

2:20 pace—Ivy Mack [Wilson], won in straight heat; Chicago Boy [Haskins], second; Bay Dan [Smith], dis.

Free for all trot—Little Carrie [Tanner], won in straight heats; John Harper Jr. [Otto], second.

THE SPORTS OF DICKENS—NO. 1, MARK TAPLEY.

Mark Tapley was one of the gamest sports Charles Dickens ever wrote about. Mark was so game that he wanted to have surroundings gloomy enough to prove he could be merry and bright under the most depressing circumstances. Mark was so game that he coveted the job of a gravedigger or a helper around a morgue, positions where a man could prove his worth by smiling—just smiling. Mark declared there was no credit in being jolly when everything was right. Mark was a sport.

If Mark lived today, and possibly he does, he would have the chance of his life to try out his system—say, in a Kelly pool crowd, for instance. Suppose Mark had been "stuck" consistently and with provoking regularity each game, or suppose he had to "dig" for every round—which is some supposing—would or could he come up smiling? Mark would have a severe test for his optimism these days. He would have to stand for an awful lot in a Kelly game if he could "come up strong" every time. Would he "holler" when he scratched? He would not. Would he squeal if caught with two pills? He would not. Would he argue all night over a nickel ante or a shy pot? He would not. Mark was game. Mark was dead game.

BASEBALL BREVITIES.

Columbus, O., Feb. 7.—Catcher Harry Bemis, whose injuries prevented him from playing most of last season, today signed a contract.

Charles Babb, former Memphis manager who managed Norfolk in the Virginia league last year, announces that he has signed to manage Altoona of the Tristate league for 1912.

"Kid" Elberfield, the veteran infielder, a native of Chattanooga, was purchased yesterday by Chattanooga from Washington. Elberfeld is scheduled to play second base. There is some doubt whether Elberfield will accept the salary offered.

New York, Feb. 7.—William J. Klem today signed a three year contract as a National league umpire. Klem has been an umpire in the senior organization for seven years.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—George Gibson, one of the main backstops of the Pittsburg baseball team, will be seen this season in a Saints uniform, if there is no hitch in negotiations between Barney Dreyfuss and Manager Mike Kelly in the O'Toole-Kelley deal of last season, provision was made that Pittsburgh furnish St. Paul with a catcher. Gibson is the man.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—The mystery of how Pitcher Harrington, who was drafted by Louisville from the New England league, came to sign a contract with the Chicago Cubs has been cleared up. Manager Jack Tighe says that he had sold the local club's claim upon the player to the Cubs. It is believed here that Harrington's release was the inducement by which Louisville obtained the services of Pitcher Cyril Slapnicka from the Cubs.

MAGNATES AT MEETING HERE PASS ON DATES FOR WESTERN.

Owners Agree to Open Coming Season on April 19 and Close on Sept. 29—Re-elect O'Neil President.

BY HANDY ANDY.

Baseball magnates of the Western league wound up their annual schedule meeting with an all day session yesterday in the private office of Charles Comiskey at the south side park. Although the schedule was practically drawn up on the previous day, it required much time and many words to bring the matter to a conclusion, because of long jumps and choice holiday dates. When it was finally adopted President O'Neil announced that all were satisfied.

The members went into session at 11 o'clock in the morning and it was after 6 o'clock before they adjourned. Tip O'Neill was reelected president the first thing, no other man in the world even being considered. Ed Hanlon, one of the new owners of the Sioux City club, was elected vice president to succeed Frank Duncan, who has retired from baseball. Jack Holland of the St. Joseph club was elected a director.

The schedule contains 168 games and the season will open on April 19 and will close on Sept. 29, as announced yesterday. The matter of opening dates and holiday games threw the magnates into a prolonged discussion. It was finally settled that Des Moines should open at St. Joseph, Sioux City at Omaha, Lincoln at Denver, and Wichita at Topeka.

Memorial day was the first holiday date to come before the members and it was agreed that Topeka should play at St. Joseph, Wichita at Denver, Omaha at Sioux City, and Lincoln at Des Moines. The schedule for July 4 will be: Omaha at St. Joseph, Denver at Lincoln, Wichita at Topeka, and Des Moines at Sioux City. On Labor day it will be: St. Joseph at Omaha, Lincoln at Denver, Topeka at Wichita, and Sioux City at Des Moines.

A telegram was received from capitalists of Oklahoma City asking for a chance to purchase a franchise in the league. They mentioned either Lincoln or Des Moines. Isbell declares there's no chance for the Des Moines club to be sold, but it was apparent there might be a chance to buy the Lincoln club.

Just before the close of the meeting the magnates drew up a resolution giving a vote of thanks to Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, for the interest he has shown in the success of the Western league and for the advice and aid he has rendered.

PLAN FOR AERO CIRCUIT RACE.

National Aviation Organization Officers Consult with Local Men in Regard to Event.

French, representing the Aero Club of America, arrived in Chicago yesterday to consult with officers of the Aero Club of Illinois concerning the proposed first grand circuit aero contest in America. The proposed route includes Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Chicago, and other large cities. The event would be held in connection with the Gordon Bennett cup race in September. Purses amounting to $75,000 are planned. Mr. French will meet with the board of directors of the local club on Feb. 14 to perfect plans for the race.

CITY NEEDS BETTER TRAVEL

Queensberry Suggests Use of Motor Buses for Chicago.

LONDON IS FAR IN FRONT.

Sees Field for Capitalists to Form Company for That Purpose.

BY THE MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY

I do not think there is any city of its size in the world so badly off for public locomotion as Chicago. What there is is good enough in its way, but it is only the main thoroughfares which are easy for travel. By far the greater number of streets and avenues are not fit for pedestrians, and points are only reached by long, tedious, circuitous routes.

This brings one back to the motor bus, whose great work in London and Paris I endeavored to point out in a recent article. Why is not a company of many companies formed to run motor buses? There is undoubtedly a great field for capitalists to take up the matter. I did not notice at the motor show any public street omnibuses on exhibition, the only ones being a few for hotel use, and one is led to the conclusion that there must be some sort of ban on street motor buses, otherwise motor manufacturers would have them on exhibit, and one would hear the subject discussed.

The late Charles T. Yerkes, who went from America to London and did so much to teach us how to carry our public, always was in favor of the motor bus. The more that were put on the more people traveled in his underground tubes. He looked upon the motor buses as his scouts. They collected the passengers from the highways and byways, and brought them in to his main arteries.

I hear now from London that the latest move of the company controlling the underground is to have made an amalgamation with the largest and oldest of the motor bus companies, and it is possible now to get through tickets from nearly every point in London to another.

University High school's list of forty-five candidates yesterday swelled the number of athletes who will compete in the Princeton interscholastic games on Saturday to over 235. Many of Coach Monilaw's youngsters are juniors, but he has sent in a well balanced team, and the Midwayites promise a number of surprises. Oak Park, Hyde Park, Lane Tech, and Crane are among the local schools to have strong teams in the meet. Motion pictures will have a part in the program when the films depicting the success of the victorious Princeton teams of last year will be shown.

CUTLER VICTIM OF PEDERSEN

Dane Beats Local Wrestler in Bout at Riverview Rink.

ONE FALL DECIDES MATCH.

Chicagoan's Leg Hurt, Forcing Him to Quit After 1:14:57.

BY HAMMERLOCK.

Jess Pederson climbed another notch on the wrestling ladder by winning from Charley Cutler at Riverview rink last night. Pedersen gained the first fall in 1:14:57 by means of a toe hold and head lock. Following the fall a physician examined Cutler's right leg and found several ligaments so badly wrenched that he decided it would be foolhardy on Cutler's part to continue the match and ordered that he forfeit it. The bout was marked by clever work on the part of both men, with Pedersen forcing the work.

Another bout was forfeited, "Kid" Webster winning the clash with N. Peterson. The latter gained the first fall in 15:30 by a leg and crotch hold. After ten minutes of the second encounter Webster secured a hammer lock on Peterson, giving the latter much pain. Peterson claimed he was hurt so badly that he could not continue and consequently retired to his dressing room. Peterson came on for the third fall, but the referee declared the bout forfeited to Webster.

Henry Wirth downed Johnny Malone twice, winning the first in 10:11 and the second in 6:13. Ernst Kartye secured two falls over Bruno Minkley, the first in 26:14 and the second in 12:04.

KELLEY SETS SEASON'S RECORD

Moxley Bowler Averages 238 2-3 in the City League, Beating Previous Mark Held by Blouin.

Eddie Kelley of the W. J. Moxleys in the City league broke the season's record for high average when he hit the timber for 238 2-3, breaking the former mark held by National Champion Jimmy Blouin by four pins. Kelley's great work enabled his team to down the Seng Springs three times and set up a new high game mark for the City league, the winners notching 1,111 in their second game and turning in an average of 1,011 for the series, which is only four pins shy of the City league mark. Kelley's 279 game in his final effort is also a season's record in the City league.

The Weeghmans sprung a surprise and downed the leading O'Learys twice, while the José Gomez team went into undisputed possession of second place through their triple defeat of the Brunswicks.

Other good performances of the night were the Al Toemmels' 216, Chris Kaad's 213 average in the City league, and Davis' 213 1-3 in the West Chicago league.

JOHNSON TO FIGHT 'UNKNOWN' IN EAST

Champion Accepts $30,000 Offer to Battle "Mysterious Stranger" in New York.

PERHAPS IT'S AL PALZER.

Negro Will Go to Gotham Today; Seeks Understanding with Boxing Commission.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Jack Johnson, world's champion, will leave for New York today to sign articles to meet an "unknown" in a ten round bout before the Fairmont A. C. the early part of next month. The champion received a telegram from Baron Wilkins, an easterner, who offered Johnson $30,000 to box ten rounds with a fighter who is unknown to the pugilistic world.

Johnson lost no time in accepting the proposition and made arrangements to leave today on a fast train. He has made arrangements to cancel his engagement at a west side theater, but he asserted he does not know whom he will box in New York.

"I don't care who the man is," Johnson said. "I am not afraid of any man in the world over the short route and I believe I can outpoint any of them in ten rounds without much training. Thirty thousand dollars for thirty minutes of boxing is pretty soft money and Jack Johnson is the man who is going to grab it.

"The boxing commission will not interfere with the bout. As an American citizen, I am entitled to the same rights as other boxers and if they will not allow me to box in New York they will have to stop all the others. I am being persecuted enough and I am going to stand up for what I am entitled to. I make my living by boxing the same as many other men and I do not intend to stand for this discrimination. I'll make a court case of it if necessary and I am willing to spend some money to get a ruling."

Johnson intimated that his opponent in New York would be either Al Palzer or Carl Morris.

George "Knockout" Brown, who is billed to meet Hugo Kelly in a ten round contest at Kenosha, Wis., on Feb. 21, is doing a lot of work at a local gymnasium. Brown is developing a left hook which he said he is going to use on Kelly's stomach. Brown boxed five rounds with Walter Monahan yesterday and went through the tilt in lively fashion.

Kelly drifted into town yesterday from his home in Antioch, Ill., and immediately started training at Wicker Park hall. The Italian did not do any boxing, but confined his work to gymnasium exercise. Kelly said he does not fear Brown and expects to outpoint him easily. Hugo looks to be in good shape and it should take little training to make him fit to step ten lively rounds.

PERJURY IN BOXING HEARING?

New York Commission Asks Attorney General to Investigate Testimony of Recent Attel-Brown Trial.

New York, Feb. 7.—Application has been made by the state athletic commission to Attorney General Carmody to investigate the testimony of Abe Attel and his manager, given during the recent hearing of the Attel-"Knockout" Brown fight here, as the result of which Attel was convicted of "taking a dive" and barred for six months from boxing in this state. The commissioners referred the matter to the attorney general, believing that the conflicting testimony given at the hearing might involve a charge of perjury. The commission today barred "Ty" Cobb, a Philadelphia lightweight, from boxing in this state for ninety days. Cobb, it is charged, failed to appear for a scheduled bout with Patsy Kline.

GIBBONS KNOCKS OUT CASHMAN.

St. Paul Middleweight Encounters Little Opposition in Four Round Bout in New York.

New York, Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul middleweight, knocked out "Young" Cashman, of this city in the fourth round at the Empire A. C. in Harlem tonight in the presence of 4,000 fight fans. It was a slaughter from the start. Cashman, a rugged young fellow with a hard punch and little real science, was no match for the western ring artist, who not only outboxed him with consummate ease, but also outpunched him whenever he pleased.

Johnson's Chauffeur Arrested.

Charles Brown, colored, a chauffeur employed by Jack Johnson, was arrested last night at East Thirty-first street and South Michigan avenue on a charge of violating the speed ordinance and disorderly conduct. Johnson scheduled property for the release of Brown.

R. H. M'ELWEE GOLF SURVIVOR.

Onwentsia Player Only Chicago Contestant Now Remaining in Palm Beach Tourney.

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—R. H. McElwee of Onwentsia is the only surviving Chicago golfer in the first flight of the Lake Worth tourney, and he figured in one of the closest matches of the week. He had been down all the way to the eleventh hole to W. A. Knight of Pinehurst and St. Augustine. From there on, however, McElwee played the course in par and finally won, 2-1. Walter Fairbanks, the Denverite, who took low score honors, won his match on the last green from J. W. Johnson, Ardsley, by 1 up.

In the third division M. M. Townley, Chicago, won over C. B. Prettyman, Philadelphia, by 2 up; C. H. Geist, Philadelphia, defeated W. L. Hodgkins, Onwentsia, by default; J. F. Harris, Shinnecock, defeated B. J. Cahn, Chicago, 2 up, and H. C. Haskins, Baltusrol, defeated R. M. Fair, Midlothian, 5-3.

Indiana Five Beats Illinois.

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—In the most stubbornly fought game of basketball ever seen on the local floor Indiana defeated Illinois tonight, 25 to 24, but it required an extra five minutes of play to determine the victor. When the second half ended the score was 21 to 21.

Maroon Five Loses Player.

Maroon basketball prospects got their worst jolt since the start of the playing schedule yesterday when Molander, the star left guard, was sent to the side lines with an injured ankle and ordered to keep out of athletics for the next few games.

Quincy, Ill., Feb. 7.—Frankie Whitney of Cedar Rapids and Willie Schaffer of Memphis, lightweights, will meet in a ten round bout before the North Side Boat club on Feb. 14.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Mickey Sheridan did not seem to be his old self in his battle with Billy Wagner tonight at Windsor, and the most charitable verdict that could be given him would be a draw. He did all the leading, but could not follow up the advantage of his blows. Wagner seemed to be afraid and covered up continually. The first four rounds were tame, but in the last half the bout was lively.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The next time Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion, goes to English territory he will be served with a judgment of $7,500 for failing to observe a contract. A verdict was rendered here today against him in favor of Frank MacNaughton, the vaudeville manager. Johnson had signed for a tour under MacNaughton's management, and after filling some of the engagements refused to continue.

RITCHIE BESTS "YOUNG" ERNE

Californian Substitutes for Packey McFarland in Philadelphia.

TOO CLEVER FOR EASTERNER.

Final Bell Finds Coast Boy Landing Blows at Will.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Willie Ritchie of California, sparring partner of Packey McFarland, gained pugilistic prominence in this city tonight by substituting for McFarland and giving his opponent, "Young" Erne of Philadelphia, an artistic trimming in six rounds.

The Philadelphian never had a "look-in" after the first round, which was his by a narrow margin. In the second he lost by a shade and in the third it was all Ritchie, much to the surprise and wonderment of the National Athletic club fight fans. In the fourth he handed Erne a right uppercut that put the local boy over the ropes with his head on the floor below. In the fifth and sixth it was all Ritchie.

In the last round Erne, angered to the point of frenzy by the onslaughts of his opponent, who surprised all who were present by his showing, went after Ritchie blindly, only to receive blow after blow. His whirlwind rushes met with prompt repulse and when the bell sounded Ritchie swung a terrific right to the jaw that would have sent Erne down had he not clung to Ritchie's knees.

M'FARLAND RUNS OUT OF MATCH

Chicagoan Refuses to Fight "Young" Erne at Philadelphia and Manager Thiry Says He's Quit Boxer.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Packey McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, did not fight "Young" Erne before the National A. C. tonight, and as a result of his refusal to keep the engagement his manager, Emil Thiry, hinted that the stockyards boy had cold feet and declared that he was through managing Packey.

The Chicago lightweight ran out of his match with the local man, and his manager announced this afternoon that McFarland has refused absolutely to come to this city to box Erne. Manager Jack McGuigan had Thiry on the phone several times this afternoon in an effort to ascertain the trouble. Thiry told McGuigan that McFarland left New York in an automobile before noon and told him to call McGuigan on the phone and tell him that he injured his eye in his bout with "Kid" Burns last night and that the bout was off.

McGuigan then asked Thiry to find McFarland and ask him to talk to McGuigan over the phone, but Thiry told him that he had searched everywhere for Packey and that he could not be found.

W. HOPPE RETAINS BILLIARD TITLE

Champion Easily Defeats Geo. Sutton in Contest at 18-2 Balk Line.

SCORE OF MATCH, 500-280.

Victor Averages 29 1-17, Outplaying Chicagoan at Own Game of Nursing.

New York, Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Willie Hoppe again demonstrated his right to the title of champion 18-2 balk line billiard player tonight when he easily defeated George Sutton of Chicago, the challenger, by a score of 500 to 280, Hoppe making a high average of 29 1-17. It was the second time that Hoppe has defeated Sutton within two months.

It was with an entirely new setting that the cueists battled tonight. The game was played in the ballroom of the Hotel Astor and the attendance was the largest seen since Hoppe returned from Paris after beating Vignaux and played Slosson for the 18-1 title at the Lotos Lyceum. The place was filled.

The early innings promised a better game than materialized. Both counted briskly for a while, and in the fifth inning Sutton led, 131 to 120. This was the only time he was ahead. There was a falling off midway in the second hundred, but Hoppe opened up again with a run of 90 and played strongly after that to the finish.

Although nursing is Sutton's forte, Hoppe beat him at it, and did a considerable amount of delicate close playing. On wide shots for points, too, he was more accurate than Sutton, and in the latter half of the game he made runs of 68, 6, and 78. Scores:

HOPPE—12, 57, 36, 25, 3, 0, 33, 1, 4, 8, 90, 3, 88, 2, 46, 5, 78. Total, 500. Average, 29 1-17.
High runs, 90, 88, 78.

LAUNCH INQUIRY INTO CAR SERVICE

Council Transportation Members Form Subcommittee to Conduct Hearings.

BLAME ON NEW OFFICIAL.

Ald. Cermak Says Company Imported Easterner to Cut Down Expenses.

Investigation of the service on Chicago street car lines was ordered by the city council local transportation committee yesterday. A subcommittee of five was appointed to conduct the inquiry. The service is the worst in years, aldermen charge.

The subcommittee is composed of Ald. Peter Reinberg, chairman; Eugene Block, William F. Lipps, Henry D. Capitain, and Charles J. Lucas. They will hold their first meeting tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Monday afternoon the whole committee will consider poor service charges.

Invite Street Railway Officials.

At Monday's meeting the presidents and superintendents of the street railway companies, members of the board of supervising engineers, and members of the council will be present. Aldermen will make complaints and the railway officials will be expected to answer them.

"Street car service today is worse than it has been in years," said Ald. Anton J. Cermak at the committee meeting. "The number of runs have been cut down and many cars have been taken off. A man has been brought here from New York to show the traction companies how to cut down expenses. He is doing it and the public is suffering." F. G. Hogarth recently became general superintendent of the Chicago Railways company.

STRIKE THREAT IN ABEYANCE.

Leaders of the street car men's union yesterday said no further action toward enforcing their demands upon the Chicago Railways company would be taken until John M. Roach, president of the company, returns to Chicago. Mr. Roach, who has been in Florida, is expected to arrive tomorrow.

Before negotiations to settle the grievances of the union are entered upon, it is said, the removal of James B. Hogarth, general superintendent of the company, will be demanded. With Hogarth out of the way the union officials will be ready to arbitrate their complaints, it is said.

Supt. Hogarth says he intends to "stick." Williston Fish, vice president of the company, said he could see no probability of a strike, as he believed the differences are easily adjustable.

CLEW TO DOROTHY ARNOLD AGAIN PROVES TO BE HOAX.

Woman Nurse in Philadelphia Hospital Turns Out to Be Married—Quest for Lost Girl Abandoned.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 7.—Convinced that the young nurse in the New Philadelphia General hospital, who was believed by some of the attaches to be Dorothy Arnold, is not the missing heiress, John S. Keith of New York, attorney for the Arnold family, and a private detective who accompanied him here returned tonight to New York.

Mrs. Hillegas Bean, the nurse who was believed to be the missing heiress, came to this city last December with her husband and 7 months old baby. The baby was stricken with scarlet fever and had to be removed to the hospital, and the mother accompanied it.

When the child died she remained as an assistant nurse. She told other nurses that she had pawned jewelry in New York, and some of them, thinking she was the missing girl, notified Mr. Arnold.

Phillips left no real estate. Practically his entire estate—capital and income—was in his literary work. He had only a small bank account, $298.

HAWLEY WILL VAINLY SOUGHT.

Financier's Heirs Say They Believe He Destroyed One He Made Ten Years Ago.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—At a conference of the heirs of Edwin Hawley in Chatham, N. Y., tonight, Charles Hawley, a brother, announced that the financier had left no valid will.

A petition was prepared and signed by the heirs for presentation to the Surrogate court in New York county for the appointment of Walter S. Crandell and W. P. Hawley, nephews of Edwin Hawley, and Frank H. Davis, all of New York, as administrators of the estate.

All relatives present at the conference said they believed the financier made a will about ten years ago and destroyed it, intending to make a new will. Charles Hawley admitted there was a probability that a new will was made in 1909, and that Mr. Hawley had forgotten the detail of having it executed. A search is being made for this unexecuted will.

GIVE "AD" AS TESTIMONIAL

Twelve Friends of A. W. Shaw Adopt Novel Scheme.

IN PLACE OF LOVING CUP.

Anniversary Honor for the Founder of the Magazine System.

A full page advertisement in THE TRIBUNE this morning is the testimonial which twelve friends and former department managers for A. W. Shaw, publisher of System, chose instead of the customary loving cup. It is in recognition of the tenth anniversary of Mr. Shaw's entrance into the Chicago work. The form of testimonials was chosen because it was practical.

Mr. Shaw undertook the publication of the magazine against the advices of his friends. Even after it was under way some of them, among them a few of those now helping him celebrate the tenth anniversary, favored his leaving it. He continued and the unusual testimonial is in appreciation of his perseverance as much as anything else.

"I think few of us would have gone on in the work, much less have started it," said one of the twelve friends. "He has won out, though, and this is the best appreciation we can offer. A loving cup is a pretty thing to send a man, but it is not particularly practical. This advertisement is the most practical testimonial we could give, and after all is not lacking in sentiment. I think Mr. Shaw will like it."

The contributors to the testimonial are:

J. A. COCHRANE, western sales manager the American Real Estate corporation.
A. L. LYNN, advertising manager Montgomery Ward & Co.
H. S. WALKER, vice president the Crosy Advertising company.
T. J. ZIMMERMAN publisher of Opportunity.
PHILIP W. LENNEN, advertising manager the Royal Tailors.
E. L. SWIKARD, advertising manager Spiegel-May-Stern company.
C. E. WOLCOTT, managing director Olldag company.
ROBERT JOHN, Van Cleve Advertising company.
WORTHINGTON C. HOLMAN, former sales and advertising counselor the National Cash Register company.
GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS, the Adams Newspaper Service.
F. A. CUDDIHY, Clague-Painter-Jones company.
G. A. HAMMER, Curtis Publishing company.

All these men have been department heads for System at various times since its organization and have retained something more than a speaking acquaintance with the publisher since then.

ASKS DIVORCE; WIFE WON'T COOK

James Griffin Says He Was Given Bread and Coffee While Rest of Family Ate Beefsteak.

When James Griffin of Wilmette asked for bread his wife, he says, handed him a metal cigar holder with much promptitude and force. Furthermore, he alleges in a suit for divorce filed yesterday it has been two years since his wife cooked for him as she did for the rest of the family, and he has been compelled to eat bread and coffee while the remainder of the household luxuriated in beefsteak. He also charges that on one occasion when he desired to buy a farm and settle down to pastoral life his wife refused to have anything to do with the proposition unless he would get her an automobile and two servants.

SAYS LOAN SHARK DROVE MAN AWAY

threatened. The husband was frightened. He didn't want to lose his home and what he had already paid on it.

In Trouble; Seeks "Shark."

So he went to the loan company, feeling that if only he could satisfy the installment man for the present, he could somehow pay off the loan company some time in the future. He was rather vague about just how this would be managed. The only thing he was quite clear about was that this debt was due on in the future, while the installment man wanted his money now.

He signed where the girl made a cross on the blank line. His wife signed just below him. He started to read the document, but it was full of legal language which he didn't understand. Besides the girl said it was the regular legal form.

Then the girl gave him $125 and he felt he had saved his home. But it was loan sharks' money, so instead of saving his home he lost it and his family and his furniture and his manhood.

It is a common enough story, the weak man, the woman signing her name where she is told to, children, and a loan shark.

EMPEROR PLEADS FOR WAR FORCES

Tells German Reichstag Larger Army and Navy Are Needed for Peace.

CHAMPIONS OWN PEOPLE.

Says He Is Doing His Utmost to Promote Welfare of All Classes and Ranks.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—The emperor today opened the first session of the newly elected reichstag, in the white hall of the royal palace. None of the Socialist members attended.

In his speech from the throne the emperor laid stress on the necessity that, in the interests of peace, the navy and the army should be strengthened.

The Moroccan question was a fresh proof of Germany's readiness to settle peacefully disputes with other nations. The imperial finances, he went on, shortly would be on a sound footing, in view of the excellent results and the free spirit and enterprise of trade and industry. The progress in technical improvement had so greatly benefited agriculture, he said, that it was decided to maintain the present tariff policy, and expression will be given to it in the new tariff treaties with other countries.

Champion of People.

The emperor added: "To maintain intact and firmly welded the fabric of the organization of the empire and the state, and to promote the welfare of the people, in all classes and ranks, and to safeguard and increase the strength and prestige of the nation—it is to that aim that my present action is directed."

The kaiser made no reference to the government's defeat at the polls. He said that in concluding the agreement with France on the Moroccan question, the nation had given new proof of its readiness to settle international differences amicably whenever compatible with German dignity and interests. He referred to the alliances with Austria-Hungary and Italy, adding that it had been his policy to cultivate friendly relations with all the powers on a basis of mutual respect and good will.

Looks to Empire's Future.

"I look forward with confidence beyond the struggle of today to the future of the empire, trusting in the healthy force of the German people and relying on God's gracious assistance," he declared.

Following the address, the members returned to the reichstag. In accordance with custom, the body was called to order by the oldest member. This honor fell to Albert Treger, aged 82, a member of the People's Progressive party. After a brief session adjournment was taken until tomorrow, when officers will be chosen.

BELFAST, Feb. 7.—If the conditions tonight are any indication of what may be expected tomorrow the home rule demonstration at Celtic park, where Winston Churchill, John Redmond, and others are to address a Liberal meeting, will pass off without disturbances.

Every one appears to be in the best of humor. The Unionists made no attempt to revive their scheme for a counter demonstration in Ulster hall tonight.

The soldiers, numbering 3,500, remained in their barracks, and the police had little or nothing to do.

COAL STRIKE SEEMS LIKELY.

National Conference of British Owners and Miners Unable to Agree on Wages.

DICKER OVER CHINESE RULE

Trying to Agree on Terms of Abdication of Imperial Throne.

MANCHUS OPPOSE AN EDICT.

Republicans, However, Insist the Surrender Must Be Complete.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 7.—Negotiations are in progress between the republicans and the representatives of the imperial family as to the most efficacious way in which the Manchus may turn over the reins of government to the Chinese.

Yuan Shi Kai, the premier, and Dr. Wu Ting Fang, minister of justice in the republican cabinet, are exchanging proposals as to the treatment of the emperor and the Manchus when abdication becomes a fact. That they will reach an agreement is indicated by the fact that their differences of opinions as to the ushering out of the Manchus are not important.

Opposed to Hereditary Titles.

The republicans declare they will agree to the Manchus retaining their titles and property, but will not agree to these titles becoming hereditary. This, if agreed upon, means that after the present generation China will be a purely democratic country.

The republicans agree to grant an annuity to the emperor of $4,000,000 and there will also be generous treatment of the Manchus as far as finances are concerned. It is believed the terms of the republicans will be accepted.

Delay of Abdication Edict.

Why the edict of abdication has been delayed became manifest today when it was stated that many of the leading Manchus are opposed to the issue of an edict and desire merely a proclamation announcing the throne's decision to step down. Premier Yuan Shi Kai and the republicans, on the other hand, insist that there shall be a formal abdication and no beating around the bush.

ALL SPAIN STORMSWEPT; DAMAGE REACHES MILLIONS.

Heavy Losses Sustained at Seville and Cadiz from Risen Waters—Train Carrying King and Queen Held Up.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MADRID, Feb. 7.—The whole country was swept by storms and floods today. The train in which King Alfonso and Queen Victoria were traveling was not able to proceed beyond Palanquinos.

At Seville the Guadalaquiver has risen thirty-five feet, and great damage has been done. The lower part of the city is afloat, houses have collapsed, crops have been destroyed, and hundreds of beasts have been drowned.

At Cadiz the waves made a breach in the Alameda fifty feet long and forty feet wide. The San Miguel and San Felipe batteries have been destroyed, and the port engineer estimates the damage to the port at $1,000,000.

Portugal Suffers from Floods.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LISBON, Feb. 7.—The floods throughout Portugal are extensive, and the damage has been enormous. The floods are said to be worse than those of 1876. The tracks of the railroads have been submerged under several feet of water in many places. The mail train, which was on its way to Oporto, has been stopped by the water. Bridges across the Douno river have been submerged.

MADERO RESENTS SLUR ON CABINET

Refuses to Entertain Request to Dismiss the War and Interior Ministers.

CALLS THEM BOTH LOYAL.

Many of the President's Former Friends Fear Downfall of the Administration.

Mexico City, Feb. 7.—"For no reason will I change any of my ministers. The members of my cabinet are honorable men. They are patriots. I shall not permit any of them to be slandered as you are slandering them."

In these words President Madero today brought to a termination an interview sought by a committee from the anti-reelectionist party, which was attempting to persuade him to dismiss from his cabinet the ministers of war and of the interior.

In reply to a statement of the president that evil minded Mexicans were aiding the rebels, the spokesman of the committee declared this was true and that, moreover, the president knew these men because they were members of his own cabinet. The president then peremptorily ended the interview.

The committee called on President Madero to interpellate him regarding the source of supplies issued to regular troops, bartered by them for drink and food, and in turn bought up by the rebels.

Immunity Bought of Robbers.

There are stories of haciendados having furnished great quantities in return for immunity from robbery, but the most serious report of all is that supplies have been sent from the government arsenal in the capital itself.

Alfredo Robles Domingues, one of Madero's stanchest supporters during the revolution, publicly criticised the administration today, stating that, in his opinion, even the removal of the entire cabinet could not save the administration.

Scores of the president's most ardent supporters of six months ago are speculating on his ability to carry the country through the present crisis. The element which is giving the most trouble is that which followed Madero during the revolution. This party charges him with not putting into immediate effect reforms promised.

Federal Troops Rout Rebels.

Cuernavaca, Mexico, Feb. 7.—For three hours 200 federal troops fought approximately 400 Zapatistas near Santa Maria today before they dislodged them. The losses are not known. Reports to army headquarters here are that Zapatistas are gathering in considerable numbers at a point forty miles southeast of Cuernavaca.

PLANS TO PROTECT BORDER.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Legislation to give to President Taft added power to protect fully the Americans along the Mexican border at border points is to be introduced in the house soon by members of the foreign affairs committee.

Representative Foster in formulating proposed laws that will meet the view of the president and the state department as to the powers that should be given the executive head of the government.

President Taft and members of the cabinet are known to be deeply concerned over the situation in Mexico, and it is not improbable, according to information of a reliable character, that another mobilization of troops similar to that of several months ago will be ordered within a day or so.

FORT SHERIDAN RUMOR DENIED.

The report that troops at Fort Sheridan are in readiness to proceed to the Mexican border, which was circulated yesterday, was denied last night by Col. Robert N. Getty, commander of the Twenty-seventh infantry and commander of the post.

Her veil was caught by lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. Miss Jeanette Donohue, as one of the bridemaids, wore a gown of pink hand embroidered crêpe meteor trimmed with rose point lace. Mr. Nickerson had just recovered from an operation for appendicitis, with which he was attacked on Dec. 24 as he was leaving Chicago to pay a visit to his fiancée.

Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson will sail on Feb. 14 aboard the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, from New York. Mrs. Roland Nickerson Sr. and Miss Helen Nickerson, mother and sister of the bridegroom, came from the east to be present at the wedding. Other guests were from Boston, New York, and Chicago.

The marriage of Miss Stella Schnitzer and Alvin H. Livingston took place last night at 6:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Schnitzer, 510 Oakdale avenue, the Rev. Dr. Abram Hirschberg officiating. Miss Lillian Freedman of New York was maid of honor and Sidney Schnitzer, brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride wore a gown of white crêpe meteor and duchesse lace with pearls. She carried white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore pink crêpe meteor trimmed with silver and Irish lace and carried pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Only the family were guests at the reception which followed the ceremony. The dining room for this occasion was decorated in tea roses and chrysanthemums. The bride and groom will go south on their wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burchard Fellows, 4958 Washington avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter Cornelia to Curtis Quincy Smith, son of Mrs. Edwin Burritt Smith, 5530 Cornell avenue. The wedding will take place in April.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pratt of Oak Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Verona Fae, to Robert Bernardd Barton of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Barton of Cleveland, O. No date has been set for the wedding. Miss Pratt was a debutante of last week. She has as her guest Mrs. Harrie Taylor of Oakland, Cal.

Miss Jane Addams has taken one-half of the seats in the gallery of Orchestra hall for the Hull house children Sunday afternoon, Feb. 25, when Elith Reumert, the Danish court actor, will give his "Day with the Fairies"—a reading from the tales of Andersen. W. Dalton-Baker, English baritone, will be associated with Mr. Reumert in giving the program. A group of debutantes, under the direction of Miss Leonore Ray, will serve as ushers and will distribute programs. A reception will be held in the foyer, and several teas will follow the program.

Members of Kappa Alpha Pi, one of the largest of high school fraternities, will hold their annual convention at Hotel La Salle tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday. The convention ball will be given in the twin ballrooms tomorrow evening. Grand Master Paul M. Kenny and Miss Lucille A. Miller, assisted by Frank A. Berend and Miss Elsie L. Lukens, will lead the grand march. On Saturday evening the visiting delegates will be tendered a banquet by the Chicago chapters in the red room of Hotel La Salle.

Among those who will occupy boxes at the ball to be given by the alumnæ of the Academy of Our Lady in the gold room of Congress hotel tomorrow evening are Mrs. A. W. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Easter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kaspar, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Martin, Mrs. Molly Netcher, Mrs. W. J. Delaney, and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Power.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cohen, 4531 Vincennes avenue, will be at home informally to their friends on Sunday next in honor of their golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Edward Cribben will give a breakfast, followed by a bridge party, for her daughter, Miss Florence Cribben, on Tuesday morning, Feb. 13.

Mrs. C. E. Carson.

Mrs. C. E. Carson is one of the active committee workers in behalf of the benefit lecture Dwight Elmendorf is giving in Orchestra hall on the evening of Monday, Feb. 19. The beneficiary will be the maternity and children's ward of the Post-Graduate hospital at 2400 Dearborn street, which was established a year ago by the Woman's auxiliary in the hope of giving the babies of the unfortunate districts nearby a chance for life. The auxiliary workers are the woman physicians, wives of men physicians, and their friends who have done active work among the needy mothers and children. Through this personal contact with their want they know the great need for the maintenance of the charity ward. It is one of the active parts of the "help save the babies" campaign to which the professional women of Chicago are giving their time and attention.

Honor to Charles Dickens.

Thousands of persons in Chicago—school children, club women, churchgoers, and neighbors of settlements in the crowded portions of the city—celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Charles Dickens yesterday. It was the climax of the Dickens centenary celebration which began in Chicago last fall when Alfred Tennyson Dickens, son of the author, who has since died, lectured under the auspices of the Chicago Woman's Outdoor Art league.

Special exercises were held in the afternoon and evening at Lincoln center. Moving picture displays retold many of the stories of Dickens. Several hundred children attended. Dr. Jenkin Lloyd Jones made an address on the life and works of Dickens, in which he said:

"Dickens still stands in the foremost rank of novelists and will continue so to do until there is found a greater man than he who will teach the people how to laugh in their misery."

Many of the celebrations were in the nature of plays from Dickens' novels and in representations of his characters. Other programs yet to be given quote from Dickens' works. "Cricket on the Hearth" will be given tomorrow night and Saturday afternoon by chapter 3 of the Junior Drama League of America at the Hyde Park Baptist church. The proceeds will be given to the Home for Disabled and Crippled Children at Maywood. Most of the members of the cast are pupils at the Hyde Park High school.

The Hyde Park High school will hold its Dickens' exercises next Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Jessie Armager Power, a graduate of the school, will give representations of Dickens' characters.

More than 600 women attended a Dickens centennial celebration at Sinai temple on Tuesday, under the auspices of the Chicago Woman's aid. Exercises in honor of the novelist were given Tuesday night at St. Paul's Universalist church. Many of the churches turned over their evening services last Sunday to a Dickens celebration. On Feb. 21 there will be a Dickens banquet, and on Feb. 26 a Dickens pageant at Lincoln center.

Woman Says Lawyers Prey on Foreigners.

PRACTICES of lawyers around the county jails were criticised yesterday by Miss Viola Paradise of the Immigrants' Protective league, who spoke at a meeting of the Isaiah Woman's club.

"There is a class of lawyers who work on the foreign prisoners in the county jail," said Miss Paradise. "The attorney will promise to 'put a man on the street,' to get a bondsman for him, then will get his money, give him a receipt for a retainer's fee, and there drop the matter. A lawyer will get a list of the new prisoners from one of the old ones and divide the fees.

"Another scheme is to obtain postponements of trials and charge for each time the case is mentioned in court. Often when prisoners are guilty they are kept in jail awaiting trial for a longer period than that for which they are sentenced.

"One lawyer told an Italian boy accused of murder that he would free him for $1,000. The boy's mother sold her farm in Italy to get the money. At the trial there was almost no defense made by the lawyer. The reason he gave was that he thought the boy was guilty, but he kept the money and offered to appeal the case for an extra $300.

"The foreigner also suffers in the courts and in police stations because of a lack of capable and honest interpreters. There is no adequate interpreter in any court in Chicago. Recently men have been sent to jail practically without trial because there was no one in the court who could speak the language."

Miss Paradise recommended official interpreters for all courts in which foreigners are tried, and state's attorneys for the defense as well as for the prosecution.

Miss Julia Felsenthal said only a good "reception committee" in Chicago is necessary to make good citizens of the Russian immigrants. Dr. Joseph Stolz spoke on "Immigration."

Fancy Skating by Miss Sears.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Miss Eleanor Sears, whose exploits as a long distance pedestrian, aviator, polo player, tennis expert, and all around athlete have brought her into international fame, has taken up fancy skating as her latest fad.

Boston society has followed her leadership, and the younger set has organized a skating club, which leases the Boston arena rink.

Miss Sears appeared in a coon skin toque, a broadcloth suit, and heavy tan skating boots, and performed with graceful ease the "Dutch roll," cut figure 8's like a writing master, and then waltzed around the rink with the skating professor.

As a speed skater Miss Sears was equally proficient, and her admirers lost their wind trying to keep up when she cut loose and shot around the rink like a meteor.

"Cocktail" Lecture Causes Stir.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 7.—The dropping of the word "fruit" before that of "cocktail" in the program for a lecture at a pure food show caused considerable discord, and it looked for a time as if the woman lecturer would have to talk to vacant chairs. A woman sent a note to the speaker protesting, as a total abstainer, against the subject of cocktails.

The speaker eased the tension by explaining that the cocktails she was about to mix were "soft ones." The audience settled down then.

Then for [illegible] quart of fruit take a quart of sugar and [o]ne cup of water. Boil all together till the grapefruit is transparent. Dip out rind and roll in granulated sugar. Very delicious. ### To Become a Nurse.

"Replying to the queries of 'M. S.' I would say that the requirements for a nurse's training are good health, sound character, at least a grammar school education (from one to four years' high school work is required by most schools), good common sense, a willingness to work, and the ability to give prompt, unquestioning obedience. Having this equipment, a young woman should write to the various hospitals in the city in which she wishes to train (addresses may be obtained from any physician of standing, or she might write to the postmaster of the city in question) asking them to send the announcements of their schools. She should compare these carefully, selecting the school that seems best suited to her needs, remembering always that a charity hospital most

Are we thrilled at the name of 'Old Glory'?
Then the old banner leaped like a sail in the blast

'By the driven snow white and the living blood red
Of my bars, and their heaven of stars overhead—
By the symbol conjoined of them all, skyward cast,
As I float from the steeple, or flap at the mast,
Or droop o'er the sod where the long grasses nod—
My name is as old as the glory of God!
So I came by the name of "Old Glory."'"

Women and Her Interests.

Laura Jean Libbey's Comment and Advice.

Married Women's Folly.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1912: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

WAS there ever a man who did not admire the merry lass who would go to balls and parties six evenings a week and whose enthusiasm never waned? Such a maiden would make a delightful life companion, a young man naturally concludes.

For her sake he throws over the demure young girl who frankly confesses that she does not feel quite at home amid social gatherings. She refuses to participate in more than one a month, giving as her reason for not going that there's so much to see to at home, which would be neglected if she were to go. She may hear of the young man's inviting some other girl to the ball, but she banishes her regret, telling herself that duty comes first. The man who marries the girl who cannot resist party going six nights in a week in many instances lives to rue it. Such delights are all well during courtship, but marriage changes people as nothing else in this world can.

There are more vital interests to be considered than that of practicing a new two-step and planning dance frocks which will outshine all others and make her the belle of the ball. The girl who is too fond of dancing is frivolous.

Tripping the light fantastic is all right if not indulged in to extremes. But as every one knows, pleasure can be carried a step too far. The girl who thrusts aside all duties before marriage will be apt to do so after marriage. It is a habit which strikes so deeply in her nature that it is hard to break off and to content herself with the duller joys of home life.

The lights and the music have become so much of a part of her existence that she cannot content herself among somber environments.

Her excuse for craving to go to balls after wedlock is that she doesn't want the young folk of her set to fancy that she has settled down into a prosy home body, simply because she got married. She is annoyed that her husband suddenly develops a liking for toasting his slippered feet before a grate fire, especially when some fine ball is on the tapis, inasmuch as he was the best dancer in all the social entertainments they attended.

What's the use in having a husband who waltzes divinely if he insists upon staying home? Even with the coming of children the woman who is passionately fond of dancing is reluctant to forego it. There's a fascination about it which she finds almost impossible to resist. Her collection of dainty furbelows would be useless if she couldn't show them off now and then. Such a woman remains frivolous to the end of the chapter. She is loath to take a back seat, even after she has become a grandmother. In selecting a wife, every young man should take care to choose one whose regard for duty is greater than her desire for a surfeit of pleasure.

She Wants Some Pointers.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have known a young man of 22 for about six months now. During the first four months he came to see me every week, but here of late he does not do so. I love him very much, but the last time he was out here he told me he liked me and thought a good deal of me as a friend, but did not love me. What I want to know is this: How can I gain his love? Give me a few pointers if you can, as I simply adore him. I do not let him guess the truth about my loving him, but I think perhaps from different things he says that he knows I love him. He will see me in a week or two, and I would like to change my attitude toward him from what it has been in case you think it necessary. Give me a few hints as to what to talk about and how to act, and I will thank you very much. "MISS T."

The girl who wishes to be liked by men must be willing to be guided. Let a girl once get a man to feel that she looks to him for advice and that girl comes pretty near to having the fellow think she is clever indeed. The girl a man likes is not too clever. She must never be witty at his expense or cause him to feel belittled or out of it. Man's heart recovers from a wound, but his vanity never.

Lucy's Troubles.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I would like your opinion of a young man who pays particular attention to me for the last four years without really speaking of love matters. He has been out of the city for the last two years, during which time he writes me a nice letter every week. I love this young man dearly. Wouldn't it be wise to tell him so, or wait for him to speak? I know I'm the only girl he pays attention to. LUCY."

The fellow is selfish. I think I should try to get interested and go about a bit with other men. Write and tell him about being out to entertainments and how much you enjoyed yourself, and see how he accepts the matter.

She's Unconventional.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 21. Some time ago I met a nice looking girl, who would occasionally drop in to see me at my place of business. Now it happened that I changed my position, which is some distance from her home, but she still calls to see me once in a while. And when she would call in she would kiss me and talk in a loving manner, as if she had some hopes of marriage. I do not think of marrying her, but on the other hand I can say that I like her, as she is very attractive, and I would like to take her out just as a friend. The only way she would go out with me is with her parents' permission, which I am sure I could get. But I wouldn't like to go and ask for their permission. Kindly inform me whether I should take her out without asking her parents' permission, and in what manner I should act in her company, as I do not want to give her any fond hopes of marriage. ANXIOUS."

As long as you have no intention of marrying the girl don't go about with her at all. Don't see her when she calls to see you at the office. She acts most unconventionally and unwisely.

Goes to Public Dances.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Having read your Cupid column for several evenings I ask what a fellow should do who is in love very strongly with the sweetest girl on earth. Sometime ago I met her at one of our large public dance halls and after talking with her found that she was a refined and upright girl. After seeing her frequently I loved her stronger and stronger, and, now being engaged to her, I have tried to persuade her to keep clear of any public hall, but she refuses to listen. What would you advise me to do? I love her too much to give her up for any such reason, but could not think of having a girl wife that flew around to such places. HARRY."

You are quite right, Harry, in not wishing her to go to public dances. Why not arrange to take her to the theater or some other entertainment on the night of the next public dance that she wishes to attend? I think you can gradually get her to give up going to public dance halls.

Economical Housekeeping

A Beefsteak Pudding (Dickens).

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

PERHAPS we could not make a beefsteak pudding by following Dickens' description of Ruth Pinch (in "Martin Chuzzlewit") as she did it, but we could learn some things about the ingredients and how they should be handled and put together. The meat pudding is a great English institution, as well as the meat pie, which seems so often to be one and the same thing, and there is no end of interesting lore concerning these dishes.

To begin with, Ruth was delighted to keep house. She was "cheerful, tidy, bustling, quiet." She loved everything about housekeeping. At breakfast she blushes and says to Tom, her brother:

"I am not quite confident, but I think I could make a beefsteak pudding, if I tried, Tom."

"In the whole catalogue of cookery, there is nothing I should like so much as a beefsteak pudding!" cried Tom, slapping his leg to give the greater force to his reply.

"But if it should happen not to come quite right the first time," his sister faltered, "if it should happen not to be a pudding exactly, but should turn out a stew or a soup, or something of that sort, you'll not be vexed, Tom, will you?"

Tom and his sister laugh and play about the lottery the pudding may be, and the possibility of its turning out some wonderful discovery, while they get ready to go to the butcher's and see the steak cut with their own eyes.

"To see the butcher slap the steak before he laid it on the block, and give the knife a sharpening, was to forget breakfast instantly. It was agreeable, too—it really was—to see him cut it off, so smooth and juicy. There was nothing savage in the act, although the knife was large and keen; it was a piece of art, high art; there was delicacy of touch, clearness of tone, skillful handling of the subject, fine shading. It was the triumph of mind over matter; quite.

"Perhaps the greenest cabbage leaf ever grown in a garden was wrapped around this steak, before it was delivered over to Tom. But the butcher had sentiment for his business and knew how to refine upon it. When he saw Tom putting the cabbage leaf into his pocket awkwardly, he begged to be allowed to do it for him. 'For meat,' he said with some emotion, 'must be humored, not drove.'"

Brother and sister go home discussing their future—for they are poor—and the pudding. Then Ruth begins her work, and Tom, who is trying to do some writing, finds his attention constantly wandering to her.

"First she tripped downstairs into the kitchen for the flour, then for the pieboard, then for the eggs, then for the butter, then for a jug of water, then for the rolling pin, then for a pudding basin, then for the pepper, then for the salt, making a separate journey for everything, and laughing every time she started afresh."

Finally she is horrified to find she has no apron on, and the getting and putting one on is an elaborate performance, which she pretends is indispensable to the composition of the pudding. Then she is actually going to begin.

"It was a perfect treat to Tom to see her with her brows knit and her rosy lips pursed up, kneading away at the crust, rolling it out, cutting it up into strips, lining the basin with it, shaving it off fine around the rim, chopping up the steak into small pieces, raining down pepper and salt upon them, packing them into the basin, pouring in cold water for gravy, and never venturing to steal a look in his direction, lest her gravity should be disturbed; until, at last, the basin being quite full and only wanting the top crust, she clapped her hands all covered with paste and flour, at Tom, and burst out heartily into such a charming little laugh of triumph that the pudding need have no other seasoning to commend it to the taste of any reasonable man on earth.

"Where's the pudding?" said Tom, for he was cutting his jokes, Tom was.

"'Where!' she answered, holding it up with both hands. 'Look at it!'

"'That a pudding!' said Tom.

"'It will be, you stupid fellow, when it's covered in,' returned his sister."

The process was interrupted here, but the pudding was such an unalloyed success that both Tom and John Westlock agreed that she must have been studying the art in secret for a long time past. There was a "merry present of a cookery book awaiting her in the parlour next morning, with the beefsteak pudding leaf turned down and blotted out." It was from John Westlock.

A Woman of No Age.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1912: By Lillian Russell.]

AN acquaintance asked me the other day, "How old do you think she is?"

"I haven't the slightest idea; I never think of age in connection with that woman," I answered.

"It is true she cultivates an appearance of youth," said my "catty" questioner.

"Certainly she cultivates youthful illusions, youthful enthusiasms, and that hopeful view of life which fades many times as people grow older," I volunteered. "She seems to feel under any circumstances that she is fortunately placed in life. Because she has learned to smile when things look darkest, smiling has become habitual to her, and although I am satisfied that she has learned of how little importance are most of the things a woman longs for, yet she is willing to sympathize with you always when you wish for them.

"She is vivacious and animated and always gives the impression of a dynamo stored with power because she always takes interest in the every day affairs of everybody. I have known her to spend an hour with a little ragamuffin and have seen her face light up with the same interest and enthusiasm as when she was talking to the most fêted society man in New York; in both cases the child and the man were reluctant to let her go.

"She is a versatile woman—you can hardly ever guess just exactly what she will do and, consequently she is a relief from the commonplace woman and even while she is sometimes not absolutely conventional, you may be sure that she never outrages the canons of good taste. She always dares to be herself and never seems to consider what some one else would do in her place, and although she seems to have arrested time and be the embodiment of youth, yet she is never kittenish nor coy. In fact, she never calls one's attention to her age by trying to appear younger than she is. You simply do not think of age at all, she makes herself so interesting in other ways. Bernhardt and Ellen Terry are women of this type."

"I wonder if that is the reason of our friend's popularity?" asked my acquaintance, curiously.

"Try the same tactics," I answered, "and see if it will do the work in your case."

Lillian Russell's Answers.

M. J.: Are you sure your teeth are in good condition? Frequently it is the cause for sunken hollow cheeks. I advise you to use a good skin food and facial massage. Leave a portion of the skin food on at night. This will fatten the cheeks. If your teeth are in poor condition, better have them attended to. If you will write me again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I shall send you formula for skin food and complete instructions for facial massage.

BLONDE: To keep the hair light it should be washed at least every two weeks. Be sure to rinse all the soap out of it, for there is nothing that will spoil the golden glints as soap if it is allowed to remain. A tablespoonful of peroxide of hydrogen added to the last rinsing water will help to keep the hair light. Only do this once a month. I shall be happy to send you the formula for a shampoo for blonde hair upon receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

E. J. C.: I cannot give you the date of the paper that the formula for the hand lotion appeared in, but shall be glad to send you the formula if you will send me a self-addressed envelope.

GOLDIE: Blackheads are usually caused from a sluggish circulation, indigestion, and sometimes are due merely to neglect. Each night before retiring cleanse the face with a good cold cream, rubbing it well into the skin until nearly all of it has disappeared, then wiping off what is left with a soft cloth. Wash the face in warm water, not hot, as this dries and yellows the skin, and plenty of good castile usually agrees with a thin, sensitive skin, using a complexion brush so as to get all the dirt out of the pores. Dry the face carefully and in the morning cleanse the face with the cold cream. Keep this treatment up for a couple of weeks and you will see a marked improvement in your skin. Do not eat sweets, rich foods, or greasy meats. If you care for it, write me again, inclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope, and I shall be glad to send you formulas for an excellent cold cream which will work wonders with the complexion, and green soap treatment.

X. Y. Z.: Are you sure your teeth are in good condition? Most frequently this is the cause of hollow cheeks. I advise you to use a good skin food and facial massage. Leave a good portion of the skin food on over night; this will nourish the skin. If your teeth are in bad condition better have them attended to at once. If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I shall be glad to send you the formula for an excellent skin food and complete instructions for facial massage.

MRS. J. S.: Do not steam your face so often. It will leave the skin shriveled and always ready to peel and without elasticity. The best way of applying hot water is by using hot cloths, and then the water should not be hot, but just warm enough to be pleasant. After using the hot water dash cold water on the face. This will make the flesh firm. If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I shall be glad to send you the formula for an excellent cold cream which will work wonders with the complexion; also the formula for a [illegible] garian water, which will close the pores and tone up the skin.

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Returns.

Charles S. Ward, international secretary of the Y. M. C. A., whose residence is in Evanston, yesterday arrived in Chicago from London, where he has just finished a campaign for $1,000,000 for his organization. When Mr. Ward went to England two months ago he found the Y. M. C. A. suffering from antiquated methods and lack of funds. He interested leading Englishmen in the organization and started a movement under which $350,000 was pledged. To this J. Pierpont Morgan added $50,000. An English organization raised $500,000. The remaining $100,000 is in course of being pledged. Mr. Ward was presented with an old "grandfather's clock" which had stood for generations in the residence of Sir George Williams, founder of the English organization. The gift was in token of his services.

Urge Advertising in Religion.

Preaching the gospel of advertising in addition to advertising the preaching of the gospel is the latest plan of the Men and Religion Forward movement. It was formulated at a dinner meeting of the publicity commission at the Great Northern hotel yesterday. It will be put into effect at the convention of Advertising Clubs of America soon to be held at Dallas, Tex.

"Our ad men will arrive in Dallas on Saturday, two days before the opening of the convention," said G. W. Coleman, president of the association. "On Sunday morning sixteen of them will occupy sixteen of the pulpits of the city. We will make these two points clear: That advertising is inherently righteous and that it may be used in promoting religion. The advertising clubs intend to clean up their own ranks and admit only clean, honorable, and truthful business."

The commission spent yesterday and Tuesday in studying conditions in Chicago with reference to advertising the movement. Their findings are to be embodied in a report which will cover the whole country and will be presented and discussed at the conservation congress which is to be held in Carnegie hall, New York, beginning April 19. The special eight day campaign to be held in Chicago from April 8 to 16 will be the last of the local campaigns.

Converted Crooks Tell of Past.

The Pacific Garden mission, where the doors have been open to the underworld of Chicago for thirty-five years, last night celebrated the thirty-second anniversary of its present management.

The evening was set aside as a special testimony meeting. More than a dozen former convicts and "bad men" of other days told of their first evening in the little room on Custom House place.

Supt. Harry Monroe told of his conversion to Christianity in the mission hall and of his taking charge later of the work. The institution was founded thirty-five years ago by Col. and Mrs. George Clark. The doors have been open every night since.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 6.—One of the features of the national convention of Polish Catholic clergy which opened here today was the expulsion from the convention of the Rev. ### Blind Profit $100 in Entertainment.

The Xavier Braille Publication Society for the Blind realized about $100 last night from an entertainment at the association hall, 19 South La Salle street. The money will go to further the circulation of Braille copies of Catholic text books among the blind.

One blind man, Bertram Bell, took part in the program. He played a violin solo. The other participants were: J. Francis Connors, piano solo; Miss Mae Riley, reading; Miss Daisy Franchere, soprano solo; James Tiegh, stories; Silas Leachman, selections; Lawrence O'Toole, recitation; and a short skit by members of the White Rats. The Rev. Thomas V. Shannon, spiritual director of the Braille society, talked on the organization's aims.

"It was incorporated only a little more than a year ago," he said, "and already we have published four books and are starting on a monthly Catholic magazine, also for the blind. The expenses have been heavy and subscriptions have been light. The society needs help. Its work has only begun, and the field is unlimited."

Calls Woman Suffrage Wicked.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Archbishop Sebastian G. Messmer, in an address before the members of company A, Knights of St. George, said concerning the woman suffrage proposition:

"I am utterly and absolutely opposed to suffrage, and as for woman's political equality with man, I regard that idea as incorrect. The idea of women voting is against the laws of the holy Catholic church and the laws of God."

Power wagon advocates attending the [com]mercial truck show in the Coliseum and [First] Regiment armory yesterday added add[itional] lubrication to the skids that are carry[ing the] much abused dray horse to eternal re[st].

Representatives of municipalities and [manu]facturers thronged the show and [some] closed contracts that mean the gradua[l elimi]nation of horses as the means of h[auling] heavy loads. It is the consensus of [opinion] that competition in all lines of busin[ess has] become so keen that economical and [rapid] handling of goods is an essential fa[ctor in] maintaining a foremost position in th[e com]mercial world.

Salesmen in charge of the various bo[oths in] the big show buildings reported a gra[tifying] business and predicted that the grow[ing de]mand for power trucks assures the r[apid growth] of the various factories to their full ca[pacity]. Yesterday's attendance was the large[st ever] experienced at a local power wagon sh[ow and] exceeded any day's business recorded [at the] recent New York exhibition.

Banta Tells of Exhibit.

"The early days of the pleasure ca[r busi]ness were not marked by the startling [growth] which one sees today in the com[mercial] vehicle industry," asserted A. J. Bant[a, Chi]cago manager of the Locomobile Com[pany of] America. "People at first were incl[ined to] attribute this startling advance to [various] reasons, but today most purchasers [know] this development is principally the r[esult of] experience gained in building pleasu[re cars]. It is significant to note that nearly al[l the] foremost makers of pleasure machine[s have] gone into the truck branch of the in[dustry] and are exhibiting models at the [present] show."

The exhibition requires close stud[y on] the part of visitors to take in all th[e inter]esting features the first trip. Door[s] call attention to the fact that many [are here] in addition to the show attachés, have [visited] the affair every day this week. The [small] manufacturer and the retail mercha[nt had] no occasion to go away from the sho[w feel]ing that his requirements as to desi[gn and] price have not received enough conside[ration]. He will find lively little delivery [wagons] costing from $650 to $800, that have [tre]mendous work capacity, and yet are c[heap to] operate and maintain. There are [several] makes of motorcycle parcel carrie[rs for] shoe stores, haberdashers, bakers, [and] others engaged in retail lines.

Fascination About Fire Truck[s].

To the laymen there is a fascinatio[n about] the many fire trucks on view and the [space] where this apparatus is shown are [always] filled with interested spectators. The [Pope] people show a great piece of apparat[us that] is a whole fire department in itself. [It car]ries a powerful pump, hose, chemic[als] and ladders and has room for near[ly a] company. Others that display fire [trucks] are the Harder, Pope-Hartford, Loco[mobile], Rambler, Kelly, and White concerns.

[Among] the other features of the show are the [Pack]ard truck that carried a three ton lo[ad from] the Atlantic to the Pacific and back [again] and the Premier "prairie schooner" [which] accompanied the "ocean to ocean" [tour] across the continent last summer. B[oth ma]chines are plastered with tags gather[ed dur]ing their trips.

NOTES OF MOTOR TRUCK S[HOW]

After having spent three days at the aut[o show] tion Frank A. Seiberling, president of th[e Good]year Tire and Rubber company, returned t[o Akron,] O., yesterday. The Premier prairie schooner baggage [car of] last summer's ocean to ocean caravan o[n the] Premier cars is one of the interesting fe[atures of] the show. It was on the Chicago street[s last] week and attracted much attention.

Optimistic reports on motor truck c[onditions] were brought in yesterday by dealers at [the head]ing of the Alco forces in the Blackstone h[otel. A. W. Robinson, truck sales manage[r of the] Locomobile Company of America, is o[ne of the] strongest advocates. "The service depa[rtment]," he said, "is a necessity in the automobile [field], but I regard it as being particularly es[sential in] the commercial vehicle business."

After fifteen months' service of a five to[n ...] ton truck the Mosler Safe company of N[ew York] has ordered a second Sampson. Both ve[hicles are] equipped with windlasses, operated by th[e power] of the motor, enabling the crews to lift the [heavy] safes in much less time than is required [by hand] power.

Visitors find many points of interest in [the] cushion tire now being adopted by leadin[g makers] of light delivery commercial cars. Not [only the] 10,000 mile guarantee of the Motz cush[ion tire,] but the remarkable efficiency of the tire [is com]mended on all sides.

Fire wagons of the Pope-Hartford m[ake are] being used in many cities and towns i[n all] parts of the country, and have met a[ll re]quirements of fire authorities. The succ[ess of the] auto chemical is evident from the large n[umber of] repeat orders which are filed.

"We feel," says F. F. Phillips, manag[er of the] solid tire department of the United St[ates Tire] company, "that our new demountable t[ire is one] of the most progressive steps in motor tr[uck tires]."

Before building the American Commer[cial ...] many jigs, dies, and tools were impor[ted from] the English factory at Luton and a corps [of] engineers bent their efforts towards prod[ucing an] exact duplication of the English Commer on [this side] of the Atlantic. The assistant works m[anager of] the English company, together with c[ertain] assistants and inspectors, supervised the A[merican in]stallation of the drawings and the completi[on of the] truck.

General Motors Truck company occup[ies more] space than any other single corporation, [showing] nine gasoline and four electric models.

The Behrends Fuel and Ice company [has] placed an order with the Avery comp[any for a] three ton truck for ice hauling. This [order followed] a four days' demonstration, in w[hich an] Avery truck worked against three team[s hauling] ice from the foot of Spring street to th[e ...] Harrison street. The round trip c[overs] about forty blocks.

The recent association of Mack and Sau[rer] trucks through the formation of the Int[ernational] Motor company—a $10,000,000 organizati[on, incorpo]rated under the laws of Delaware—has a[roused interest] to the industrial world which is c[oncerned] with transportation problems.

"The newest additions to the line of [...] truck tires are primarily heavy service ti[res]," [says] A. W. Moore of the local Firestone branc[h, "and] are built to cut down tire upkeep on hea[vy trucks] and to increase the popularity of tha[t ...]."

POWER WAGONS IN BIG DEMAND

Commercial Trucks Attract a Big Crowd to Coliseum Exhibition.

FIRE APPARATUS SHOWN.

Display of Department Includes All the Details of Business.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

Power wagon advocates attending the commercial truck show in the Coliseum and First Regiment armory yesterday added additional fabrication to the skids that are carrying the much abused dray horse to eternal rest.

Representatives of municipalities and manufacturers thronged the show and many closed contracts that mean the gradual elimination of horses as the means of hauling heavy loads. It is the consensus of opinion that competition in all lines of business has become so keen that economical and rapid handling of goods is an essential factor in maintaining a foremost position in the commercial world.

Salesmen in charge of the various booths at the big show buildings reported a gratifying business and predicted that the growing demand for power trucks assures the running of the various factories to their full capacity. Yesterday's attendance was the largest ever experienced at a local power wagon show and exceeded any day's business recorded at the recent New York exhibition.

Banta Tells of Exhibit.

"The early days of the pleasure car business were not marked by the startling growth which one sees today in the commercial vehicle industry," asserted A. J. Banta, Chicago manager of the Locomobile Company of America. "People at first were inclined to attribute this startling advance to various reasons, but today most purchasers know this development is principally the result of experience gained in building pleasure cars. It is significant to note that nearly all of the foremost makers of pleasure machines have gone into the truck branch of the industry and are exhibiting models at the present show."

The exhibition requires close study upon the part of visitors to take in all the interesting features the first trip. Door tenders call attention to the fact that many people, in addition to the show attaches, have visited the affair every day this week. The small manufacturer and the retail merchant have no occasion to go away from the show feeling that his requirements as to design and price have not received enough consideration. He will find lively little delivery wagons costing from $650 to $800, that have a tremendous work capacity, and yet are cheap to operate and maintain. There are several makes of motorcycle parcel carriers for shoe stores, haberdashers, bakers, hatters, and others engaged in retail lines.

Fascination About Fire Trucks.

To the laymen there is a fascination about the many fire trucks on view and the booths where this apparatus is shown are always filled with interested spectators. The Knox people show a great piece of apparatus that is a whole fire department in itself. It carries a powerful pump, hose, chemical tank, and ladders and has room for nearly a full company. Others that display fire wagons are the Harder, Pope-Hartford, Locomobile, Rambler, Kelly, and White concerns. Among the other features of the show are the Packard truck that carried a three ton load from the Atlantic to the Pacific and back again, and the Premier "prairie schooner" that accompanied the "ocean to ocean" tourists across the continent last summer. Both machines are plastered with tags gathered during their trips.

NOTES OF MOTOR TRUCK SHOW.

After having spent three days at the auto exhibition Frank A. Seiberling, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, returned to Akron, O., yesterday. At a banquet in the Congress hotel, at which all the Goodyear branch managers and officers were present, he said Chicago's exposition showed this company would have the biggest year in its history.

The Premier prairie schooner baggage truck of last summer's ocean to ocean caravan of twelve Premier cars is one of the interesting features of the show. It was on the Chicago streets all last week and attracted much attention.

Optimistic reports on motor truck conditions were brought in yesterday by dealers at a gathering of the Alco forces in the Blackstone hotel. It was said this year will see more buying of power vehicles than any three years previously. The dealers were guests of B. C. Day, manager of the local branch.

Space 20 in the armory balcony is one of the most popular exhibits at the show. There are crowds at the EssenKay exhibit day and night.

A. W. Robinson, truck sales manager of the Locomobile Company of America, is one of its original advocates. "The service department," he said, "is a necessity in the automobile business, but I regard it as being particularly essential in the commercial vehicle business."

After fifteen months' service of a five ton Sampson truck the Mosler Safe company of New York has ordered a second Sampson. Both vehicles are equipped with windlasses, operated by the power of the motor, enabling the crews to lift the heaviest safes in much less time than is required by hand power.

Visitors find many points of interest in the Motz cushion tire now being adopted by leading makers of light delivery commercial cars. Not only the 5,000-mile guarantee of the Motz cushion tire, but the remarkable efficiency of the tire is commented on all sides.

Fire wagons of the Pope-Hartford make are being used in many cities and towns in various parts of the country, and have met all the requirements of fire authorities. The success of the auto chemical is evident from the large number of repeat orders which are filled.

"We feel," says S. F. Phillips, manager of the truck tire department of the United States Tire company, "that our new demountable tire is one of the most progressive steps in motor truck business."

Before building the American Commer the necessary jigs, dies, and tools were imported from the English factory at Luton and a corps of skilled engineers beat their efforts towards producing exact duplication of the English Commer on this side of the Atlantic. The assistant works manager of the English company, together with competent mechanics and inspectors, supervised the Americanization of the drawings and the completion of the truck.

General Motors Truck company occupies more space than any other single corporation, showing four gasoline and four electric models.

The Behrends Fuel and Ice company of Peoria has placed an order with the Avery company for a five ton truck for ice hauling. This was done following a four days' demonstration, in which the Avery truck worked against three teams hauling ice from the foot of Spring street to the foot of Harrison street. The round trip for a load was about forty blocks.

The recent association of Mack and Saurer motor truck interests through the formation of the International Motor company—a $10,000,000 organization chartered under the laws of Delaware—has a degree of interest to the industrial world which is concerned with transportation problems.

The newest additions to the line of Firestone truck tires are primarily heavy service tires," said A. W. Moore of the local Firestone branch. "They are built to cut down tire upkeep on heavy trucks and increase the popularity of that class of vehicles."

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

"THE SIREN" seems to have nearly everything that is needed to make a bright musical entertainment. An ideal formula for such an exhibition, one surmises, is a story full of minor romance, a pretty tune or two, half a dozen young men and women of attractive personality and physique, some bizarre dresses worn by the "ensemble," and, if the librettist is remiss, as he always is, Mr. Will West, with his husky and extemporaneous clowning. Of course that cryptic thing known as the "wallop" is essential at this time to long runs and huge profits. Possibly "The Siren" does not possess this wallop, but it has all the other ingredients, including a moderate cleanliness; and it seems a safe investment for those who care for frivolous plays with music.

All of which sounds like a bulletin from the Drama league, though expressed in terms much less apt than those employed in the decisions by the studious members of that final and usually unreversed court of the theater. In case it is not the habit of the Drama league to consider a romance, with tunes, one may venture further, in a Drama league mood, to tell what is enjoyable in "The Siren." First, there is the music—music which is a melodious concession to the passion for tinkle, and yet showing a sympathy for what Mr. Gunn would describe with a vocabulary known, but unfamiliar, to me. Queer little unexpected harmonies, tunes that one wishes to whistle, but can't, minor surprises, brought out impertinently by strange instruments in the orchestra. They all make one feel that unique sensation of liking good music, than which nothing is more flattering.

Then there is Mr. Donald Brian, slim, manly, a bit aloof, with a great deal of American elegance, singing in an excusable falsetto and dancing like poetry which clatters. He is Armand, and he has to do with numerous Suzannes, and Ninons, and Pepis, and at the end he embraces matrimonially Lolotte, a simple lass from the outlands. Miss Julia Sanderson, too, as this same Lolotte—she coos in a manner newly acquired, and dances—how she dances! In musical comedy there are many dancers, but, I think none who has the grace, the peculiar combination of the sensual and the sensuous; in short, none who knows the art of the skirt, like Miss Julia Sanderson. The things she does with her legs and her petticoats, I maintain, are the quintessence of some art or other. In one scene, for instance, she appears as a rural Hebe, simply dressed all in white, but with disclosures at once innocent, daring, and discreet—a perfect picture at once of purity and sophistication.

She and Mr. Brian have a dance together, "The Waltz Caprice," maybe full of alluring harmonies and most chastely done, though chances are taken. Without knowing anything about the plot, a happy habit of mine at musical comedy, I was really glad when Mr. Brian, as the Marquis de Ravallac, a seditious poet, found out that Miss Sanderson had not betrayed him to the emperor's secret service and espoused her at the end. Mr. Brian did what used to be known in minstrel days as a "neat clog" on a table in the last act and that helped to inspire sympathy for his suit. There was another dancer, Mr. Alan Mudie, an Englishman, with interesting feet, who announced some unimportant lines with much individuality. That conventional standby, Mr. Frank Moulan, was likewise present, with the blinking eye, the smirk, and many of the other tricks of other days, substituting them skillfully for a personality that has in it no jot of comedy.

Here it is time to stop, and not half the nice things said about "The Siren" that might be said. Briefly, Miss Ethel Cadman, a prima donna of distinction, sang wonderfully well, and it was most generous of Miss Sanderson to let Miss Cadman show her up vocally as a pretty dramatic duet in the second act. Mr. West is one of my weaknesses. To me his bland semi-coarseness is delightful. He is always big, comically painted, wearing funny waistcoats and all the other things that I usually loathe, but he makes me laugh. He has the comedy spirit, the sense of the seriously ludicrous, and the burlesque of Mr. Brian's and Miss Sanderson's sentimental waltz with Miss Florence Morrison was funny indeed. The chorus was unusually handsome for a Charles Frohman show this far west of Manhattan, and it could both sing and act.

MISS JULIA SANDERSON IN "THE SIREN"

Theatrical News Notes.

Miss Maude Adams is announced, tentatively, in "Chantecler," by Mr. Davis for the Illinois following the three weeks' season of Donald Brian in "The Siren."

Mme. Bernhardt, who will soon play American vaudeville engagements under the management of Martin Beck, has written a play intended to make fun of many of her personal friends. The name of it is "A Man's Heart," and in it there are slightly disguised portraits of Rejane, Jane Hading, Coquelin, Le Bargy, Charles Frohman, and Mme. Simone. The book, which is for private circulation only, is dedicated to Paul Hervieu, who also figures in its pages. The dedication runs: "To Paul Hervieu I inscribe this work, which has been cruelly criticised by the press, but which is very fine indeed, nevertheless."

Mme. Simone's next production, it is announced by Liebler & Co., will be the poetical romance by Edmond Rostand known in the French original as "La Princess Lointaine," and played for the first time by Mme. Bernhardt at the Renaissance, in Paris, on April 5, 1895, at which time Mme. Bernhardt was seen in the title rôle of Melissinda.

For the use of Mme. Simone M. Rostand has revised the play and written in a comedy scene. The adaptation into English has been made by Louis N. Parker. The first American presentation of the romance, which in its new form will be known as "The Lady of Dreams," will be at the Hudson theater, New York, on the evening of Feb. 26, until which time Mme. Simone will continue in her current drama, "The Return from Jerusalem."

Ted Marks, vaudeville impresario, is ill in New York. It is said that his condition is serious.

Brilliant Program Given by Cincinnati Orchestra

BY GLENN DILLARD GUNN.

So engaging were the artistic qualities disclosed by Leopold Stokowski and the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra at the first of their concerts yesterday afternoon in Orchestra hall that the smallness of the gathering which greeted them is subject for sincere regret. Like most matinée audiences, that of yesterday was undemonstrative. But the magnetic personality of the young conductor and the splendid responsiveness of his men elicited expressions of approval that approximated, if only distantly, the cordiality merited by the performance.

The Cincinnati Symphony orchestra was reorganized under Mr. Stokowski's leadership only three years ago, but such have been the fruits of his discipline that it already may challenge comparison with orchestras far more widely known. The New York Symphony orchestra, as it was when Mr. Damrosch invited Felix Weingartner to conduct a series of concerts here and in the east, did not advance standards of ensemble that were comparable with those maintained by Mr. Stokowski and his men. It, too, was then a young orchestra; and though it had several brilliant players in its ranks, it lacked both in point of tonal unity and of flexibility as contrasted with the results obtained by the Cincinnati orchestra.

The latter is already a well balanced body. The strings have solidity, warmth, and brilliancy; the wood-winds are remarkable, especially notable being the first oboe, clarinet, and bassoon; the brasses are sonorous without being harsh, and the percussion instruments are handled discreetly. An accurate estimate of the individual quality of the various choirs is the more easily accomplished because Mr. Stokowski, who has the true feeling for orchestra melody, constantly lifts one or another section into prominence. The certainty with which these contrasts are accomplished indicates a discipline far beyond the ordinary, and is quite as worthy of note as the fine unity of violin tone in cantilene, that occasionally brought the melodic line into beautifully proportioned relief.

On the other hand, one misses that curious amalgamation of the orchestral tone represented in its highest manifestation by the Boston orchestra. But it does not follow that the lack of this quality is to be construed as a shortcoming. Rather it represents one of the interpretative characteristics of the conductor, as the Tschaikowsky symphony in E minor and the Beethoven "Egmont" overture were calculated to demonstrate them. Many gifts and attainments are united in Mr. Stokowski's art. But the most conspicuous is his feeling for the polyphonic orchestral utterance and his passion for giving it that sharply defined enunciation that sustains a perpetual contrast between the different color groups of the tonal body.

His reading of the fifth and best of the Tschaikowsky symphonies was a revelation. The work is universally recognized as the most melodious of the Russian master's inspirations. Mr. Stokowski discovers melodies and countermelodies previously unheard. The voices of the wood-winds that commented so exquisitely upon the song of the violins in the andante were new to our ears. New, also, was the faculty to impart to every orchestral inflection its rhythmical impulse.

The soloist of the afternoon was Mrs. Olga Samaroff-Stokowski, who played the Grieg concerto with delightful freshness and charm and much brilliant display of pianistic art. In response to hearty applause she added as an encore the G minor prelude of Rachmaninow. The Cincinnati orchestra and Mrs. Stokowski will give a second concert this evening, at which the Brahms C minor symphony, the Tschaikowsky B flat minor piano concerto and the prelude to "Die Meistersinger" will be heard.

"We have a SPECIAL PROPOSITION for those who are willing to FINANCIALLY AID ONE OR MORE persons afflicted with ALCOHOLISM who are unable to pay for the treatment themselves, which we feel sure will appeal to and please those who feel disposed to help at a comparatively SMALL COST TO THEMSELVES, in restoring 'BREADWINNERS' to suffering families. WHEN you buy an automobile, the first one you ever bought or the twenty-first, it will interest and pay you to take a good look at the Mitchell car.

Maybe you intend to spend $6,000 or $7,500 for a car; all the more reasons for looking at the Mitchell. You'll find so many points in the Mitchell six-cylinder cars at $1,750 and $2,250 that are features of the $6,000 cars that you'll begin to wonder what it costs the manufacturer to put these things in a car.

Of course there are some things in the $6,000 car that you won't find in the Mitchell cars at $2,250, but they arn't the things that make the car run well, or climb hills easily, or last a long time with little expense. The Mitchell has all of these.

THE END OF THE EPISODE.

The "American episode," which had strange setting in the orient, now is closed in Persia. Shuster's assistants, who had appealed to congress for help in the settlement of their claims against the Persian government, have accepted the money offered in satisfaction of their broken contracts and for traveling expenses and are departing from the land where their fidelity and probity proved as embarrassing to the chancelleries of Europe as a diplomatic intrigue.

Shuster had picked explosive young men for the work he undertook. Before their contracts were satisfied they had dared every interested power in Europe to "step out in the alley," they had decorated the American minister to Persia with a collection of epithets, and were insisting that the American government maintain its self-respect by making others respect the rights of its citizens.

They depart in peace and with profit, and the curtain will be dropped on a scene which was attracting too much publicity.

MEXICAN DISTURBANCES.

Two areas of imminent danger seem to exist in Mexico to threaten the Madero administration.

The first is in the state of Morelos, where Zapata has maintained an armed force in the mountains which overhang the high valley of the capital city on the south. A generation ago this district was a resort of bandits and the little station of Tres Marias, now mentioned in the reports of Zapata's operations, is in the heart of it. It is a country into which a band of horsemen can disappear as if swallowed up. It is not to be wondered that Madero has not yet put this "insurgent" down.

But while the Zapatistas are vexatious and on account of their nearness to the capital may even be a dangerous focus of revolt, they represent a less serious threat than the situation existing in Chihuahua. Zapata, after all, seems to be nothing more than a guerrilla leader of the older Latin-American type, and modern conditions in Mexico are not favorable to insurgency as a profession. In Chihuahua the case is different.

In the first place, it is plain that in this northern state it is not a question of one man. It is not hero worship. There is a general disturbance. Whether this is merely among malcontents in the army who do not like Madero's republican tendency to emphasize civil government, whether it is a recrudescence of the Porfiristas, or supporters of Diaz, or whether it lies deeper is not yet disclosed.

THE MAN IN THE KITCHEN.

Some years ago Mayor Harrison confessed modestly that he could and did make his own mint juleps and that he grew a bed of mint in the back yard that he might have the aromatic herb in all its freshness. He also told how he made the juleps, and in consequence was obliged to pack his grip and depart for the woods to get away from persons violently insistent on telling him where he was wrong.

Now we are given his modest confession that he can boil an egg and his explanation of how he does it. The subject is not controversial and the mayor is not likely to be challenged. Almost any man who could get a dozen good eggs these days could make a fairly successful attempt at cooking them. The difficulties are in the markets and not in the kitchen. If the mayor will explain how he comes "into possession of a dozen perfectly good eggs" he will be recognized as a friend of his fellow man.

It is a current superstition that a man who can cook is a sort of uncanny phenomenon. The truth is that about 75 per cent of the male population has a hankering to mess around in the kitchen, and that any number of men succeed in gratifying their ambitions.

The complaint of the housewife usually is not directed against the meal thus prepared, but against the condition of the kitchen afterwards. When a man cooks—excepting the professional—he reproduces original chaos, uses every utensil in the house, spreads them all over the floor, and steps in most of them as he moves about. When he has cooked the meal it generally is a debatable question whether to try to return to housekeeping or to send for the insurance adjusters.

GERMANY TO SPEND MORE.

"To maintain and strengthen both on land and on sea the defensive power of the German people, which does not lack young men capable of bearing arms." In these words Kaiser Wilhelm reminds the pacifists that the day of armament restriction is not yet, and informs the groaning German taxpayer that his burden is to be heavier, not lighter.

Happily for these plans for armament expenditure, Germany has just come out of a serious diplomatic crisis and is still in a situation which gives weight to the demand for increase of military and naval strength. The tension of Anglo-German relations continues to be high, and considering the recent course of events, the anxiety of Germany, flanked by Russia and France, is not unreasonable.

The chancellor probably will be supported on armament measures by all parties save the Social Democrats and some of the Liberals. This will give him a working majority, though it may compel him to make concessions. The fact that the speech from the throne was so general in terms foreshadows compromise.

If some of these concessions take the form of reasonable modifications of the tariff privileges of the agrarians and some direct measures of social relief for the wage earners, the threatening bulk of the Socialists will have brought about some immediate practical good.

It is to be hoped on behalf of the German people that the present parliament will do some legislating on the basis of rational compromise, rather than precipitate dissolution with deadlocks.

As to serious constitutional reforms, such as making the ministry responsible to the reichstag, they do not seem near. Whether the huge Socialist vote will moderate the demand of the bourgeois class for a reapportionment of representation remains to be seen.

THE MINIMUM WAGE QUESTION.

Massachusetts has a commission to study the minimum wage idea, and its report will not lose public interest because of the Lawrence mills strike.

In fact the strike, according to its leaders, turns upon exactly this question of a living wage. The American Woolen company when confronted by a fifty-four hour a week law reduced wages, but points out that as the time of work was shorter the "rate of wage" was not reduced. The chief strike leader puts the issue thus:

> What is this strike about? They say it is about the fifty-four hour week. No. The question is not fifty-four or fifty-six hours. It is the reduction of wages to $5.50, which meant death. The fifty-four hour week was but a match put under the magazine to blow it up.

President Wood of the woolen company replies that "Massachusetts was already working on a shorter time schedule than practically every other state having textile business. The further reduction in hours lessened by that much the production of the mills. The close competition between the mills all over the country would not allow such a reduction to go into effect without a corresponding reduction in aggregate wages."

He also declares that $5.50 a week is paid for labor that requires little if any skill and that it is "an adequate wage for the character of work performed and the degree of skill possessed."

Whether it is a wage adequate to sustain life under proper conditions, according to American standards and American necessities, does not seem to have awakened Mr. Wood's interest.

But that is a question in which society itself is deeply concerned. If a considerable part of the population is underfed, underclothed, and badly housed it concerns more than that class. It concerns all the community, not on humanitarian but upon utilitarian grounds. Mr. Wood's theory of what is adequate is purely comparative. It does not go far enough.

The other defense made by the company also raises a vital issue. Mr. Wood points out that his corporation is in competition with companies in other states the laws and therefore the competitive conditions of which are more favorable. Taking this as a fact, it is one of the fair considerations in the Lawrence problem, and illustrates one of the serious weaknesses of our federal system developed by the growth of modern business. Uniform legislation seems the only way to remove this objection to regulative laws in social interest. The recent minimum wage conference held by the Chicago Woman's club ended in a resolution calling for action by Illinois clubs to obtain legislation for a commission like that of Massachusetts. It is to be hoped a campaign will be carried forward to secure the creation of a suitable body. Illinois owes it to other progressive states to join them in constructive social investigation and legislation. One backward state can hold back many more enlightened ones under our system, which does not permit national legislation upon many subjects that have become national.

THE INFLUENCE OF MIND ON NUTRITION.

Of course, the fat man is jolly and the thin man is a "born worrier." Can it be concluded from these truths that the mind influences nutrition and, carrying it a step further, that the mind can influence the nutrition of any particular organ, say the lung or a structure more under the will—a muscle of the arm?

Being fat or thin depends upon how much fat or grease is slipped into spaces here and there. The deposition of fat in an organ is quite different from nourishing its cells. The food which the body takes up is used first to nourish the healthy cells, to repair wear and tear, and then the surplus is deposited as fat. The fat man has all of his organs nourished and some to spare. Therefore, he ought to be happy and he frequently is.

Many things work together to make a man thin. If he worries he burns up a lot of food energy and just the amount used in that way may mean that, in his ledger, his "fat" account shows more liabilities than assets. There is no doubt but that some men worry themselves thin. The way it is done is by the useless burning of food, not through any direct influence of the mind on the tissues. Fat is always a foreign body amongst the cells proper to the organ.

To influence the nourishing of the cells proper to any important degree is beyond the power of the mind. The mind can round out the arm. If a man eats and digests well and does not worry, he can increase, let us say, his biceps measurement. It increases because the surplus nourishment fat is deposited under the skin as fat. But no amount of thinking can make the biceps muscle have more fibers or grow larger ones.

Nourishment comes through use rather than through mind. This illustration applies to all the cells of the body. Mind influences the features greatly; it has not much influence on the essential tissues. The fact is that the frame of mind has little influence on the nutrition of those tissues that have work to do. Nor can concentration of the mind on any particular organ or its work in any material way modify its nutrition or its working.

BAD AIR IN PUBLIC LIBRARY.

C. H. B. writes: "The air in the reading room of the Chicago public library is terrible and is an effective barrier to all those who have regard for their health and comfort. I seldom visit this room on this account."

REPLY.

The odor is principally from the bodies of the occupants. However, the ventilation of the library is poor. It is one of those mechanically perfect but hygienically bad systems.

WASH THE THROAT DAILY.

A. L. F. asks: 1—Would the daily use of a throat wash be advisable? 2—If oxygen in air is good for use why not breathe oxygen out of a tank?

REPLY.

1. Yes. It is wise to wash the teeth, gums, tongue, and throat every day.

2. Good pure air is 1 part oxygen, 4 parts nitrogen, a trace of carbonic acid, and a little moisture. Pure oxygen is not as good for a well man as pure air. There is such a condition as "too much of a good thing." Pure air contains about the best proportion of gases for human use. The harm that is done by bad air is due to the impurities in it rather than to a lack of oxygen.

PROTECTING WORKERS FROM HEAT.

E. D. D. writes that he has a factory with an occupied basement. In one corner the boilers are located. The remainder of the basement and the floors above are occupied as workrooms. The men complain that the rooms are too hot; that they get heated and the cold air rushing in chills them. In the summer they are much too warm. Can anything be done about it?

REPLY.

In the dairy husbandry building of Cornell university they have a large workroom, in the middle of which is a sterilizing room. The milk cans are run into the sterilizing room, the doors are shut tight, and the steam is turned on. The temperature of the sterilizing room gets to 200. The large workroom is not heated by it. How is it done?

The walls of the sterilizing room are made of hollow tile. The doors are heavy, double walled, with insulation between. Try it. You will get more work from your men. They will have less pneumonia and be generally healthier.

CONSULT YOUR LAWYER.

A. B. writes: "Is there any department of the city to which one can appeal in case the apartments are not kept warm according to contract?"

REPLY.

There is not.

TRY READING THESE BOOKS.

H. P. P. writes: "I frequently have sensations of fear that any breath may be my last, or something sensational. My heart is in excellent condition. Please give me your opinion."

REPLY.

You probably have a simple neurasthenia and are in no danger. Go to the library and read "Physiology of Faith and Fear" by Sadler, or "Mind and Work" by Gulick, or "Making Life Worth While" by Fisher. You must be trained or train yourself so that you can control foolish fears.

WORTHLESS AS A REMEDY.

W. S. asks if whisky and glycerin are good for a "cold on the chest."

REPLY.

No.

VALUE IN CHANGE OF CLIMATE.

H. E. K. writes: "Kindly advise me whether a warm, dry climate, such as exists at San Antonio, El Paso, and Tucson, has any beneficial effect upon kidney trouble (sugar). It has occurred to me that in view of the fact that physicians frequently resort to sweating a patient to relieve the kidneys, a climate where one perspires freely and naturally would be a good thing in kidney troubles, as compared to a place like Chicago where we have two seasons—winter about eight months and summer four months. When I refer to these places as residences I mean for twelve months in the year—not for what is known as the tourist season.

"We have three little boys—4, 9, and 12—who are troubled greatly each year with coughs, colds, 'croupy' conditions, etc. Last winter we were in San Antonio and remained there until July, when we returned north, as my wife thought the heat of that country was worse for the boys than the cold here, though I don't agree with her. They had no colds or coughs all the time we were away."

REPLY.

A warm climate such as Tucson, San Antonio, and El Paso is excellent for Bright's disease. Sugar, called diabetes, is not a kidney disease. The climate will not help it.

For boys subject to colds, coughs, and croup San Antonio, Tex., has a much better winter climate than Chicago. Chicago has a better summer climate. If the boys stay twelve months in one or the other place, make it San Antonio.

[Copyright: 1912: By the Brentwood Company.]

ALTHOUGH when the Duke of Connaught accepted the appointment of governor general of Canada it was understood that he would retain the office for two years instead of the customary term of five, it is on the cards that he may be summoned home before the end of the year to assume the post of commander in chief of the British army. There is serious talk in England of the necessity of reviving the office, with the object of putting an end to the scandals in connection with favoritism in the matter of appointments and promotion which have characterized the administration of the former office of commander in chief, by the so-called army council.

These scandals have become so numerous that they fill the columns of the press and bid fair to take up a good deal of the time of the cabinet ministers in answering questions and offering explanations when parliament reassembles. Moreover, the resignations by officers of their commissions have become so frequent as to give serious cause for alarm, while the candidates for commissions are falling further and further below the required number.

It is now generally admitted that the only way of restoring confidence in the army will be by doing away with the army council, which has proved so signal a failure—in fact, one of the worst failures of Lord Haldane's lamentable and disastrous administration of the war department and the revival in its stead of the former office of field marshal commanding in chief, held in turn by the great Duke of Wellington, by Lord Hardinge, by the late Duke of Cambridge, by Lord Wolseley, and by Lord Roberts.

Of all these commanders in chief the best was undoubtedly the Duke of Cambridge, whose royal status rendered him insensible to social intrigues and maneuvers, which now play so great a rôle in the matter of appointments and promotions in the army.

The Duke of Connaught's rank as a prince of the blood and as an uncle of King George will convey, when he is commander in chief, the conviction that there will be no more favoritism, at Whitehall and that petticoat intrigues, personal spite and jealousies, and social maneuvers will no longer play a rôle in the making or the marring of the career of a meritorious soldier.

The duke is liked and trusted by the officers and by the rank and file of the British army, who know him as a capable soldier and as a singularly upright, high principled man. That he has been abominably treated by Lord Haldane merely adds to his popularity not alone with the army but with all classes of the public.

True, the duke is over 60. But being a field marshal the age limit does not count and he remains on the active list to the end of his days.

That radical changes are impending in connection with the army is positively known in political and official circles in England, where even the supporters of the government are compelled to admit that the management of the war department and of the army has been the greatest failure of the cabinet, its chief cause of unpopularity and its principal source of weakness.

Only two officers are spoken of in connection with the commander in chief, namely, the duke and Lord Kitchener.

However, in the first place, Lord Kitchener is badly needed now and will be for some time to come, in Egypt. Then, too, he is so masterful that it is pretty well recognized that he would not be able to get along with any secretary of state for war, save one who yielded to him in everything, whereas the duke is a man of great diplomacy, of patience, and of tact, which he displayed under the most trying conditions until forced by his sense of self-respect to give up all idea of military employment as long as Lord Haldane remained in office.

It will be found in the impending session of parliament that the condition of the army upon which the safety not only of England but of the entire British empire depends will prove the most important and most vital issue, superior even to Irish home rule, tariff, and the Lloyd-George schemes.

Col. Lowther, military secretary of the Duke of Connaught and who accompanied the prince on the occasion of his recent visit to New York and Washington, has just been placed in mourning shared by his brothers, Sir Gerard Lowther, ambassador at Constantinople, and James Lowther, speaker of the house of commons, through the death of their wonderful old father, the Hon. William Lowther, at the advanced age of 91.

The elder Lowther, who celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his wedding to the daughter of the first and last Lord Yensleydale seven or eight years ago, was a brother of the last Lord Lonsdale, an uncle therefore, of the present earl of that ilk, and was an attaché of the British embassy at Berlin as far back as in 1841; was first secretary of the embassy there at the time of the accession of old Emperor William to the throne of Prussia and of the appointment of the then Herr von Bismarck to the Prussian premiership, and was minister plenipotentiary at Buenos Aires just about the time when the civil war in this country was brought to a close.

He left the diplomatic service in 1868 to enter parliament, where he represented his native county of Westmorland throughout the following quarter of a century and, whenever in London, was wont, with his charming old wife, to dispense a singularly gracious hospitality at Lowther lodge, his picturesque metropolitan home at Kensington Gore, occupying the site of the so famous Kensington residence of the Earl and Countess of Blessington.

In Lady Blessington's day Kensington Gore was the headquarters of a sort of brilliant Bohemia, which she entertained with the assistance of her cavaliere servente, Count d'Orsay, the habitués of her salons including Louis Napoleon, afterwards emperor of the French, and Benjamin Disraeli, who died as Lord Beaconsfield. In fact, Lady Blessington, prior to being overtaken by financial disaster, was the financial backer and benefactress of Napoleon III. in the days of his London exile.

When, after his accession to the throne of France, she visited Paris he avoided her, manifesting a singular degree of ingratitude.

One night, however, he met her, much to his dismay, almost face to face at a reception and expressed his surprise at seeing her in Paris, remarking: "And when do you return to London, Lady Blessington?"

To which she replied, with an inquiry of the same character, "Et vous, sir?" (And you, sir?), which, in view of the precarious nature of his tenure of the throne of France and the possibility of being compelled to seek refuge in London once more, was, to say the least, a neat retort.

The Friend of the People

SOME SHOW FOR IMPROVEMENT.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Now that the double track is finished on Lawrence avenue, why can we not have better service? There are now only two cars running, half an hour apart. The addition of four, or even two, more cars, thus giving us ten or fifteen minute service, would be a great accommodation to the people of this section, as we are now compelled to use the elevated trains almost entirely.

We should much rather have more of the old cars put on at once than to wait indefinitely for better ones.

E. F. C.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The traction company has provided waiting rooms quite liberally all over the city, but it occurs to me that they have neglected one deserving spot by not doing anything for the public which waits at Lawrence and Evanston avenues for the west bound cars. These cars run at intervals of thirty minutes, but at times are rather irregular, which, no doubt, is due to operating conditions. On the north are several saloons which seem to care for some of the men, and on the south are a fruit and a billiard room which care for a few more men.

I have seen women with children standing in the lee of the buildings on bitter cold days this winter, with no protection.

C. D. W.

The double track on Lawrence avenue has only been completed half way. Improvements on this line are under contemplation as soon as it will be possible to place the double track in condition the entire distance.

WILL HAVE MORE TENNIS COURTS.

F. R. McC.

The south park commissioners decided to abandon the Washington park speedway and replace it with tennis courts, which action has not been rescinded by them, and the work of installing the tennis courts will in all probability be commenced in the early spring. J. S. NEIL, Secretary.

GAS PIPES FROZEN.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The lights on Trumbull avenue between Harrison and Van Buren streets have not been lighted for the last ten nights. The police have been notified regarding this matter, and no action has been taken. You will confer a favor on the residents of this vicinity by advising the city authorities to take immediate action. Hoping this will bring about better service in the future, I beg to remain.

E. B. WHITNEY,
409 South Trumbull Avenue.

I have a report from the bureau of gas to the effect that these lights are frozen up. The gas company has been instructed to thaw out the service as soon as possible. Owing to the severe weather a large number of gas lamps have failed to burn on account of a formation of ice in the service pipes, but they will be thawed out as promptly as possible.

BUMPING THE BUMPS ON WESTERN AVENUE.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The car tracks on Western avenue are so uneven that the cars only strike the high portion in passing over and the noise is becoming unbearable. The old bells have been discarded, and where the different egress and ingress cars passed on and off for duty there must be lumps, so to speak, for it sounds just that way when the cars are in action. You have no idea what the hollow bumping sound is, and it is simply grating on our nerves and disturbs our rest at night, and as we are employed during the day and our mother is an invalid we ask you to take the matter up, for we need all the rest and sleep we can get. We live one-half block from the disturbance, and if it is so terrible now what will it be when the home is open during the summer?

This letter has been referred to the track department of the Chicago Railways company and to condition of the track will be investigated.

NOT A PUBLIC STREET.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Can anything be done about having a sidewalk placed on Center avenue from Forty-third street to Forty-second? We are obliged to walk in the road, which is muddy at nearly all times, and after a storm it is something fierce. A lot of young ladies who work in the various Yards offices have to come down this street twice a day to the Forty-seventh street line, and if you could do anything to get the city to fix this we would all be very grateful.

ELIZABETH MORRIS.

The premises mentioned are wholly within the boundary lines of the Union stockyards and are not a public street. This department does not exercise jurisdiction over the same. In order to secure a walk an appeal must be made to the stockyards authorities. N. B. MUNDAY,

THINKS SHE IS OVERTAXED.

Wilmette, Feb. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I read this morning with considerable interest the letter of "R. E." concerning personal property taxes in Evanston.

Within a few weeks the writer, a woman, has received postal notice that she owes $12.40. I removed from Evanston in April and never was previously assessed, owning nothing assessable, to my knowledge, except a dog which was always promptly paid for. There was no assessor at the house and no schedule left thereat before removal.

As "R. E." also had no schedule left at his place of residence, it would seem as though these two, at any rate, were omitted. It would appear that it was easier to send in the figures without giving the taxpayer a chance to file. As my residence was supplied with a mail box in plain view the schedule, if left, could have been easily placed therein and could not have gone out.

Am I not correct in ignoring this portion referred to.

A MERE WOMAN.

You should have received a schedule. The law provides for this, but there is no penalty to prove that the assessor did not leave one at your home. Never ignore a tax notice. In Cook county an addition of 50 per cent will result if you do. See the board of review.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

A PLUMBER'S CHARGES.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Please inform me how much a plumber can charge per hour. In his bill he charges 85 cents per hour, and he was not in the apartment over ten minutes. J. E.

GIVE HIM BATTLESHIPS.

Chillicothe, Mo., Feb. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Regarding the recent action of congress in cutting out the usual appropriation for battleships, you ask, "If the voters had a chance to vote on the proposition how many would they vote for?"

I, for one, would vote for twenty-four of the Nevada and Oklahoma type, or even larger—twelve to replace ships now and soon to be obsolete, such as the Indiana, Massachusetts, Oregon, Iowa, and later ships, and twelve additional, all to be built as soon as possible in order to bring our navy up to its proper standard.

The present Democratic congress is true to its tradition of stupidity. W. W. SMITH.

CANNOT STAND T. R.

Hampton, Ia., Feb. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Let me ask your multitudes of intelligent readers if they believe that Mr. Roosevelt speaks the truth when he says "he don't want to be" again the president of these United States? And, secondly, does he deserve a reelection, in view of the fact that he was the most quarrelsome as well as the most deceptive of all the presidents? It seems to me that no intelligent American citizen can look back over the past ten or twelve years and fail to discover that Mr. Roosevelt is a man entirely unreliable, and that he really belongs to that class which he himself has designated as the "Ananias class." It is hardly discernible as yet which side THE TRIBUNE is championing. I do hope, however, as do thousands of stanch Republicans, that THE TRIBUNE will help to put a quietus on all third term advocates and let it be known that you are opposed to giving to Roosevelt what Washington refused and what Grant could not get—viz: a third term in the presidency.

H. H. JOHNSTON.

BELONGS ON WOMAN'S PAGE.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Briggs' series of cartoons on "Why Some Men Leave Home" is undoubtedly the finest feature THE TRIBUNE has ever published. Or, rather, it would be if it were placed in the proper part of the paper. It is just as amusing and interesting on the sporting page, but what good does it do? To achieve the maximum of efficiency and produce results it should be placed where the women would see it—for instance, in the section where Richard Henry Little struggles for air, surrounded by Lillian, Marion, Laura Jean, and Jane. My experience is that those who would benefit most by these cartoons never look at the sporting page, and we who do look at it can't dare point out the cartoons to them.

TEACHING SEX HYGIENE.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your recent editorials on "Liberty of the Press" and "Teaching of Sex Hygiene in the Public Schools" must certainly be satisfactory to all good citizens. In no public question are we more in need of wise leadership than in our educational policy. You say, however, that "general instruction in sex hygiene is impossible." But, in the opinion of most educators of authority today, the matter is susceptible of a practical solution by instructing the children from their earliest years concerning the facts and laws presented in the phenomena of the origin, growth, and mature activities of plants, fishes, birds, and animals. The life histories of these creatures are both attractive and illuminating; the instruction as given becomes part of the emotional and moral training of the child, and is in a vital way furnishing the right impulses to a sane and self-controlled life. DAVID BEATON.

WHEN DICTIONARIES DISAGREE.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Kindly decide an argument over the word "economical." PRIMARY LAW AND THE BOSS.

Carbondale, Ill., Feb. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The pre-primary convention recently held in Chicago is a valuable object lesson in machine politics. For bare, shameless effrontery it surpasses anything in recent years. It plainly shows to what extent the professional politician will go in defiance of public opinion and evasion of the law. It is very obvious that the old guard in Cook county are determined to regain control at all hazards. By what authority in law was that convention held?

It was the purpose of the primary law to put into the hands of all the voters the nomination of candidates. The aim also was to put an end to political bossism and to relegate to the political junk pile such bosses as Busse, Fease, and their ilk. Lorimerism, too, was to be dethroned. T. R. "A JOKE"? PERISH THE THOUGHT!

Moline, Ill., Feb. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The letters headed "Opinion of Roosevelt" and "What Has the Colonel Done?" in today's TRIBUNE present Roosevelt precisely as he appears to the American people, I believe. How can he appear otherwise to any well informed man of average intelligence? Mr. Baird intimates that THE TRIBUNE is in favor of Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy. I do not so understand THE TRIBUNE'S attitude. THE TRIBUNE is, as I understand, keeping its readers informed on the Roosevelt "boom."

"Mr. Taft is, by all relevant tests, from either Republican or Democratic standpoints, immeasurably superior to Roosevelt. Mr. Taft has "kept faith" with the Republican party. He has done his best to get the party to fulfill its platform promises, and he has insisted on the strict enforcement of the Sherman law—a law passed by the Republicans. While La Follette is the "man of the hour," Taft is, as deserves honor, the sole alternative of the Republican party. And as to Roosevelt—he is a joke.

T. R. "A JOKE"? PERISH THE THOUGHT!

Moline, Ill., Feb. 6.—[Editor of The Trib- une.]—The letters headed "Opposed to Roosevelt" and "What Has the Colonel Done?" in today's TRIBUNE present Roose- velt precisely as he appears to the American people, I believe. How can he appear other- wise to any well informed man of average intelligence? Mr. Baird intimates that THE TRIBUNE is in favor of Mr. Roosevelt's can- didacy. I do not so understand THE TRIB- UNE's attitude. THE TRIBUNE is, of course, keeping its readers informed on the Roose- velt "boom." "Mr. Taft is, by all relevant tests, from either Republican or Democratic party standpoints, immeasurably preferable to Roosevelt. Mr. Taft has "kept the faith" with the Republican party. He has tried his best to get the party to fulfill its platform promises, and he has insisted effectively on enforcement of the Sherman law—a law made by the Republicans. While La Follette is the "man of the hour," Taft is, in decency and honor, the sole alternative of the Republican party. And as to Roosevelt—he is simply a joke. E. H. P.

CAN-A-CHICAGO-MAN BE-A-PROPHET-IN HIS-OWN-COUNTRY?

This is a tribute paid to a Chicago man who is doing an international work for business men. It was prepared and is inserted without his knowledge by a group of his former department heads, in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of his undertaking.

Do you know, Mr. Chicago-Business-Man, that right here at your own door there is a man who has smoothed and sweetened and enriched the affairs of business men all over the world? Do you know that this fellow-townsman of yours, who works within your very walking distance, has brought system and sure-footedness, success and substantiability to thousands of struggling businesses everywhere?

That he has made hopes come true, pay envelopes fatten, and abilities enlarge for ambitious employes almost without number; that he has helped to materialize the aims of real flesh-and-blood Dawsons of many Alma Maters and Class-years?

Do you know that this man has established right here in our own homely loop district an institution that stands alone, of its kind, in all the world; an institution that is becoming as much a part of our national educational system as our schools and colleges and universities; an institution—deep-rooted, globe-encircling, permanent—that our children's children will turn to fifty years from now, as half a million outside business men do today, for business ideas and enlightenment? Do you know—

—but we are getting ahead of our story

AT the corner of Madison Street and Wabash Avenue lives and prospers System—with its voice, eyes, ears and arms encompassing the Business World. And this month System celebrates its tenth anniversary.

It is quite the fashion these days, on an occasion like this, for the employes or former employes of a business to get together, pass the hat, and amalgamate a purchasing pot to buy the business owner some jeweled or metallic commendation.

We do not mean to disparage this practice; often it is inspired by the sincerest and most appropriate of motives. But, somehow, when the undersigned group of former System men met the other day to decide upon an anniversary tribute to System's publisher, the "gold and silver whatnot" idea seemed a bit out of tune with the sentiment we wanted to convey. It appeared a trifle hollow, in the light of the years of stored-up respect and admiration each man felt towards System, to perfunctorily slide a few convenient dollars out of our pockets and let it go at that.

These undersigned twelve men constitute, in a sort of a way, the G. A. R. of the System organization—the men who were with System when it was a mere hip-pocket pamphlet—a baby magazine feebly struggling to enkindle its first flickering life-signs. And this first decade birthday—with System now a world-wide institution, hale, hearty and opulent—is no meaningless date to us. When we take off our hats to its publisher and creator, Mr. A. W. Shaw, we can do it with something besides our loose-change hand and perfunctory ceremony.

We felt that as the first and oldest employes of System we would like to make our token some definite and emphatic appreciation of the magnificent work System is doing for the Business World, a work that we, of all men outside the present System organization, have reason to know best; a work that we can speak of now just as independently, unbiasedly and impartially as any other group of Chicago business men.

And out of this idea was born this advertisement—a birthday token to System, the Magazine of Business, from its first twelve Department Heads.

IF System were merely a money achievement—the product of huge cash capital—the chances are that this form of a tribute would never have been dreamed of. For the homage we pay is to something greater than the dollar sign represents.

When Mr. Shaw came to Chicago from a small Michigan town, he gave up a profitable interest in a growing manufacturing business—and burned his bridges behind him.

He came here with the System idea—and himself. These were his chief assets.

Authorities without number held up a warning hand—and advised him to go back. Magazine men, advertising agents, paper jobbers, circulation specialists, editorial writers, even the sacred advertiser, were all generous in handing out the ice water.

"You can't do it," they said—"Chicago isn't a publishing center. Look how few of the hundreds of magazines that have tried this field have ever lived to tell the story. It's against all precedent. It's doubtful if a million dollars could put it over."

And Mr. Shaw did not have a million dollars. He had an idea—and himself.

So he used the difficulties simply to plow through and to keep up his working dander.

That's why we say that it isn't to System's mere bigness alone that this tribute has been written. It is to the character and fiber of the man behind System. It is to those human qualities that in a football game or on the athletic field bring spectators to their feet and an involuntary cheer to their lips.

It is to that dogged refusal to resign to conditions or listen to precedent; it is to that unfaltering faith in an idea that will recognize no setbacks and rebound from all hardships—it is to these qualities in the man behind System that this tribute is intended. For it is to these that Mr. Shaw owes not alone his success, but the silent respect and inward admiration of every man that has worked with him.

TODAY System is said to be one of the most valuable publishing properties in America.

Today System's subscription list is almost a replica of the aristocracy of Dun's and Bradstreet's.

Today System is read by half a million business men; and wherever buying and selling is done there some man is getting added power, added skill, added profit and success through System.

And this Magazine, Mr. Chicago Man, is your home product—your local property—bringing better business days and ways to business men everywhere, but published right here in the loop district—at the corner of Madison Street and Wabash Avenue.

THE name "magazine" is a misnomer as applied to System. System is simply a magazine in form. But no more than a greenback is a scrap of paper, no more than a diamond is a mere shining substance, no more than the combination of your safe is an array of valueless figures—no more than that is System simply a magazine.

System is business brains, business counsel, business "know-how" culled for you from the lives and achievements of the greatest business men in the world and brought to your desk in easily digested form—for your daily and hourly guidance and profit. System is more result and less wear, more accomplishment and less energy, more speed and less friction, more efficiency and less effort in every department of your business.

System has brought comfort and peace to baffled business men in hundreds of lines. Every one of the undersigned can recall at least a dozen instances where a man up against a business stone wall has turned to System for a solution and found it ready and waiting for him.

Factories have lowered their costs. Managers have bottled up disastrous leaks. Sales generals have found the clew to widened markets. Advertising managers have discovered the twist to make dead ads "pullers"—through some article, page, paragraph or picture in a copy of System.

It is all in the day's work—with System.

When the tired business man faces the end of a weary day it is System that whispers: "Instead of a Musical Comedy sedative tonight to deaden the cares why not an evening with System and a remedy that will banish the cause of the cares? Take a cure instead of a palliative."

EVERY one of the undersigned men has been separated from System and its affairs for from one to eight years. And every man in the group has diverged his interests and his ambitions into channels utterly foreign to those of his former associates.

It isn't so unusual perhaps that such men, most of whom make a living through advertising, should turn to advertising as a means of paying this tribute. Any advertising man would feel that he could express himself most strongly through the craft he knows best.

But what we do think unusual is that twelve men—with twelve separate business interests of their own—should retain through all the years of disassociation from System, the same common feeling of "college loyalty" and fervent respect for the work that System is doing.

And to make that thought clear is, we believe, to accomplish the strongest tribute that it is within our power to pay System.

No business can long maintain any false glamour to the men inside of it. And still less can it hold any rosy illusions for the men who leave it and look back on it with a new perspective, a clarified vision and an unshackled view-point.

That twelve men, with no selfish object to attain, should voluntarily and spontaneously put on paper the enthusiasm and admiration they feel for a former business connection is the feature of this advertisement we count upon to express to Mr. Shaw our deep and unchanging admiration for his work.

We believe Mr. Shaw deserves this hearty appreciation of his contribution to the business world. Loyalty so well spoken must be well earned.

ABSOLVES WILSON IN LAND SCANDAL

Solicitor McCabe Says Effort to Besmirch Secretary Will Fail.

HOUSE TO START INQUIRY.

Democrats Today Will Plan Investigation in the Florida Everglades Case.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—Thorough investigation of the charges that government reports on Florida everglade lands were suppressed by officials of the department of agriculture at the instance of land speculators, and that department engineers were dismissed because of controversies in this connection, was determined upon today by the Democratic members of the house committee on expenditures in the department of agriculture.

"The house committee has determined that there are circumstances in connection with this case that need thorough investigation," said Chairman Moss, "and we already have decided to subpœna as one of the first witnesses J. O. Wright, the chief drainage engineer of the state of Florida, formerly an engineer in the drainage division of the department of agriculture, who made charges against his former associate engineers in the department, which resulted in their dismissal last Saturday by order of Secretary Wilson."

"Accusations Will Fail."

A statement issued tonight by Solicitor McCabe of the department of agriculture, with the approval of Secretary Wilson, declares that the charges against the department are untrue, and that "the effort to besmirch the secretary of agriculture will fail."

The house committee tomorrow will plan the form of investigation, and probably the first witness will be the chief accountant of the department of agriculture, A. Zappone, who also was first to appear as a witness in the case against Dr. Wiley.

C. G. Elliott, former chief engineer of the drainage division, and his assistant, A. D. Morehouse, who were dismissed upon recommendation of Solicitor McCabe, today engaged Henry E. Davis, who defended Dr. Wiley, as counsel to represent them at the hearings.

Gives Out Statement.

Solicitor McCabe's statement, approved by Secretary Wilson, follows:

"In a prejudiced, one sided statement given out by Representative Frank Clark of Florida on the everglades controversy it is sought to show the reason the secretary of agriculture suppressed a circular on information which has been prepared by the office of drainage investigations, and declined to print a complete report of the drainage work which the department had done in the everglades, was because the secretary did not regard the circular and reports as sufficiently favorable to please the land promoters who were operating in the glades. In Mr. Clark's statement it is further sought to show that the recent dismissal of Messrs. Elliott and Morehouse, drainage engineers, was for failure to show sufficient favors to the land promoters.

"Both of these statements are untrue, and Mr. Clark's efforts to besmirch the secretary of agriculture will fail. The secretary refused to print the report of the work done in the glades because not only were his engineers, Wright and Elliott, in disagreement as to the correct interpretation of the work done by the department in the glades, but Elliott, without further investigation, radically changed his position, and the experts of the bureau of plant industry familiar with Florida conditions disagreed with both Wright and Elliott.

PLAN LUMBER "TRUST" TRIAL.

Attorneys Begin Second Conference on Evidence Taking and Agree to Name Special Masters.

A second conference of government attorneys and lawyers for the alleged lumber trust was held yesterday to devise methods for taking evidence in the government's action against the lumber interests. Present were Clark McKercher, assistant to Attorney General Wickersham; M. D. Purdy, St. Paul; L. C. Boyle, Kansas City; C. D. Joslyn, Detroit, and William A. Lancaster, Minneapolis, the latter representing lumber organizations. The conference will last for several days. Special masters will be appointed in St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul, Chicago, Detroit, and New York to preside. Taking of evidence will begin within thirty days.

MOTOR DIVIDEND IS HELD UP.

Directors of United States Company Decide to Keep Money for Labor and Material.

New York, Feb. 7.—[Special.]—At a meeting of the board of directors of the United States Motor company today it was voted to pass the February quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent cumulative dividend on the preferred stock. The reason, as stated by the directors, is that the heavy demands of the business at this season of the year for outlay for labor and materials made it seem a wiser proceeding to keep the money payable on the dividend in the business, thus conserving resources until a more convenient time for the payment of the dividend.

BUTTER AND EGGS WEAKER; STORAGE STOCKS FALL OFF.

Lower Grades Pressed on Sale at Further Reductions—Cheese Market Strong—Potatoes Drop Again.

Weakness again pervaded the market for butter and eggs at Chicago yesterday and lower grades of both commodities were pressed on sale at reductions of ½@1c. The trade derived little benefit from the cold storage report, although the showing of returns appeared to be in favor of holders.

According to the Warehousemen's association there were only 10,596,000 lbs of butter in cold storage houses Feb. 1, 1912, against 18,639,000 lbs a month ago and 36,580,000 lbs a year ago. Holdings of eggs were reduced to 61,560 cases, against 521,000 cases Jan. 1, 1912, and 241,800 cases Feb. 1, 1911.

Cheese market was in an exceptionally strong position, with prices higher and dealers reporting it easier to effect sales than to find offerings. Stocks of cheese are practically cleaned up.

Potato market continued in a weakened condition and reductions of 2@3c a bushel had to be made to move offerings. Receipts were 53 cars.

WANTS U. S. TO OWN PHONES.

President of Independent Association Indorses Plan of Postmaster General—Telegraph Lines Included.

Indorsement for Postmaster General Hitchcock's advocacy of government ownership of telegraph and telephone lines was given by Manford Savage of Champaign, Ill., president of the National Independent Telephone association, in a talk before that organization at the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

Six hundred representatives of telephone and supply companies are attending.

"The advantage to be gained by the independent telephone companies and by the public in having this means of wire communication a part of the government postal system should be apparent to all," Mr. Savage said. "It would enable us to transmit telephone messages to any part of the nation at fair rates by relaying the message by telegraph when necessary."

Case Set for Tomorrow, When Victims of Failure Will Testify Against Indicted Banker.

Archie C. Tisdelle, former La Salle street banker, whose institution became insolvent about three years ago, will be summoned for trial before Judge Denis E. Sullivan tomorrow morning. He is under indictment for receiving deposits when he is said to have known his banking institution was insolvent, and on a charge of embezzlement. The true bills were voted March 19, 1908. Among the accusers are A. W. Wadsworth and Mrs. Jennie B. Mitchell. Wadsworth was an officer of the Progressive lodge of the International Association of Machinists.

FIELD INTERESTS BUY IN THE LOOP

Merchant's Estate and Brother in England Pay $1,571,000 for More Holdings.

LAFLIN HEIRS TAKE PART

Property Valued at $2,526,229 Closed Out; New Skyscraper to Result.

Joseph N. Field of Manchester, England, brother of the late Marshall Field, and the estate of the latter concluded the purchase yesterday of downtown property of the value of $1,571,000. The purchases were made in connection with a partition sale of the Matthew Laflin estate properties, nine in number, which sold for a total consideration of $2,526,229.

The Joseph Field purchase, which comprised the premises 209-19 South Wabash avenue, west front, 80 feet south of Adams street, was the conclusion of a transaction announced in THE TRIBUNE in November. The lot is 80x171 feet, improved with two story building, and the consideration was $730,000. The board of review valuation was $682,002, of which $26,000 is in the building.

Estate in Two Purchases.

The Marshall Field estate made two purchases, the northwest corner of State street and Couch place, between Randolph and Lake streets, for which it paid $500,000, and the property at the southeast corner of Wabash avenue and South Water street, for which it paid $341,250.

The sale of the former, which comprises the premises 174-184 North State street, was made through Albert L. Strauss. The lot is 80x80 feet and is improved with a four story building. Board of review valuation is $388,995, of which $30,999 is in the building.

The Wabash and South Water street corner has ground dimensions of 140x67½ feet, with four story building, and was valued by the board of review at $328,440, of which $35,001 is in the building. An important feature in connection with this transaction is that the Field estate will improve it at once with a twelve or thirteen story modern fireproof structure to cost about $500,000, to be occupied under long term lease by D. B. Fisk & Co. F. J. Tucker, with A. G. Pauling, was the broker in this sale.

Laflin Heirs Take Six Holdings.

The remaining six holdings were purchased by the Laflin heirs, the most important parcel comprising the premises 14-16 West Randolph street, 40x180, south front, 80 feet west of State street, with four story building, which were purchased by Louis E. Laflin for $375,000. Board of review valuation $276,198, of which building is $18,997.

Louis Laflin, as trustee, purchased the southeast corner of Wabash avenue and Randolph street, 48x81 feet, with seven story building, known as the Henrietta, for $288,240. Board of review valuation $328,440, with $35,001 for the building.

The Merchants' Loan and Trust company and Louis E. Laflin, trustees, under will of Arthur S. Laflin, purchased the premises 349-51 River street, 34x100 feet, for $40,362. Also the premises 360-364 River street, 72 feet front, with four story building, for $123,600; the premises 347 River street, 34x100 feet, for $45,244. Louis E. Laflin as trustee purchased the property in North Water street, 120 feet east of Wells street, 40x90 feet, for $30,000.

The sale was in pursuance of a decree in partition, in which Ellen P. and Mollie S. Laflin, Grace Laflin Whitehead, and Margaret Laflin are the complainants, and the Merchants' Loan and Trust company and Louis E. Laflin as trustees under the will of Albert S. Laflin and Hector N., Louis E. Jr., Lloyd A., Josephine K., and Louis E. Laflin, as surviving trustees under last will of Matthew Laflin, deceased, and others.

The sale of all the properties was concluded in forty-five minutes.

Lease on Thirty-first Street.

Israel and Samuel Lanski have leased from John Studebaker of South Bend, Ind., the property at the southwest corner of Thirty-first street and Indiana avenue, fronting 160 feet on the former and 150 feet on the latter. The lease, which is for ninety-nine years, provides for an annual rent of $7,500 for the first ten years, $9,000 for the next ten years, and $10,000 for the remaining seventy-nine years. The average is $9,646, which on a 5 per cent basis is equivalent to $192,929, which is at the rate of $1,205 for the Thirty-first street frontage, $1,286 for that of Indiana avenue, or $8 a square foot.

It is the purpose of the lessees to improve the property within ninety days with a store, hotel, and theater building, probably five stories high, to cost around $175,000. It will contain about fifteen stores on the ground floor, rathskeller, billiard, bowling alley in basement, and hotel on the upper floors. The theater will have a seating capacity of from 1,000 to 1,400 people.

Rounds & Wetten represented Mr. Studebaker and Mark Levy & Bro., who will have charge of the building, represented the lessees. Mr. Studebaker purchased the property a few years ago for $86,000. The legal details were attended to by Mr. McIlvaine of Wilson, Moore & McIlvaine, and by Mr. Wilharty and Mr. Hirsch of Ringer, Wilharty & Tower.

Plans Handsome Residence.

Byron L. Smith, president of the Northern Trust company, is to build a handsome new town residence at the northwest corner of Lake Shore drive, extended, and Diversey, on ground which he has acquired from the estate of Dunlap Smith and from Henry Ives Cobb of New York City. The lot, which fronts 165 feet on the drive, and 405 feet on Diversey boulevard, running back to Commonwealth avenue, he bid in at judicial sales yesterday for approximately $75,000. The property which is regarded as an exceedingly desirable residence site, has Lincoln park on the south, the new extension of Lincoln park on the east, and is on two boulevards. Paul Steinbrecher & Co. represented the sellers.

Jacob J. Kern will build a forty-eight apartment building with stores on the ground floor to cost $150,000 at the northeast corner of Dearborn avenue and Division street, on property which he has just purchased from Dr. Vincent C. Price. The lot, which fronts 120.9 feet on Dearborn avenue and 131 feet on Division street, is vacant, and the deed recites a consideration of $55,000. The building will be divided into apartments of two and three rooms. The preliminary work of construction will begin at once. W. H. Wollenbar represented Dr. Price and F. C. Amberg & Co. Mr. Kern.

Sells Oak Street Flats.

William C. Chadwick of Detroit, Mich., has sold to Fred H. Atwood the Mineola apartment building at the southwest corner of La Salle avenue and West Oak street. The lot fronts 47¼ feet with a depth of 118 feet. The building, which is a seven story and basement structure, contains twenty-eight apartments, having a frontage of 26½ feet. It has a gross annual rent of $12,220. A nominal consideration is given, but it is understood the property was held at $100,000. The sale is subject to an incumbrance of $43,750. R. G. Ingersoll of E. Orris Hart & Co. was the broker.

The store and flat property in Milwaukee avenue, 154 feet southeast of Logan Square, 50 feet southwest front with 50 feet front on Logan boulevard has been sold by Charles Peterson to August W. Fleck for $40,500, subject to an incumbrance of $14,000.

Surplus from Banquets.

The report of the banquet committee having in charge the recent annual banquet of the Chicago real estate board was submitted at yesterday's monthly meeting of the board. It showed for the first time in the history of that organization a surplus instead of a deficit in connection with those functions. The report showed gross receipts from the sale of tickets of $2,830 and total disbursements of $2,668, a surplus of $162.

The board instructed its public service committee to coöperate with the committee of the city council, of which Ald. Bellfus is chairman, in the effort being made to protect purely residence districts from business and factory encroachments. Harry Goldstine and George Birkhoff spoke earnestly in favor of what they asserted to be a most important matter.

Announces Louisville Meeting.

V. H. Surghnor announced the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges would be held at Louisville, Ky., on June 19, 20, and 21. He said it was proposed to change the name of the association to the International Association of Real Estate Boards.

At today's weekly luncheon Ald. Ellis Geiger of the Twenty-first ward will urge coöperation in favor of the ordinance providing for an increase of 20,000 arc lights in order to secure better lighting facilities for the city.

FIVE LIVE ON $629 A YEAR

That's the Cost to the Steel Worker in South Chicago.

SEEK J. J. HILL AT INQUIRY.

Investigator in Washington Tells of Flogging of Prisoners.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—The average steel mill employé in South Chicago supports a family consisting of himself, wife, and three children on $629.48 a year, according to figures submitted to the Stanley steel investigation committee today by John A. Fitch. The items of the annual family budget follow:

| | |
|---|---|
| Rent, $9 a month | $108.00 |
| Food, $6 a week | 312.00 |
| Milk, one and one-half quarts a day | 43.18 |
| Clothing—Husband, $28; wife, $10; children, $24; shoes, $38 | 100.00 |
| Light and fuel | 50.00 |
| Insurance—Adults, $2 quarterly; children, 5 cents each weekly | 15.80 |

Beer often is substituted for milk.

The figures for Pittsburgh showed the average family expense as $728, and that the worker who gets 15½ cents an hour in the Pittsburgh mills saves $1.50 a year. Unless the Chicago wage is lower the average worker there saves nearly $100 a year.

Seek Hill at Inquiry.

James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railroad, was sought tonight by a deputy sergeant at arms of the house of representatives with a subpœna from the Stanley steel trust investigating committee returnable next Monday.

Word came to the committee that Mr. Hill was visiting here at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel Hill. Up to a late hour Mr. Hill had not been located.

Word was communicated to the headquarters of the committee that Mr. Hill, knowing of the subpœna, had agreed to accept service and would appear next Monday.

The committee seeks information from Mr. Hill regarding the Lake Superior ore fields, the so-called Hill lease of those fields to the United States Steel corporation, which recently was ordered canceled in 1915, and the transportation facilities of the steel corporation.

No Steel Company Convicts.

Attorney Reed, for the steel corporation, reiterated no state convicts were now being worked in Alabama by the company. Chairman Stanley replied that the company officials would be called to testify to that.

Special Investigator Harrison said the warden who flogs convicts in labor camps is employed by the steel company. He said he had seen a prisoner flogged with a three ply leather strap and had seen black and blue marks on one convict's back. Failure to do the required tasks was punishable by flogging, solitary confinement, and by other methods, he said.

Mr. Harrison said convict laborers were forced to lie flat on their faces to be flogged.

"Flogged with a thorn, as big as a wagon trace or tug?" suggested Mr. Stanley.

"By a strap five feet long."

Sees Method of Torturer.

"Ever see this instrument of torture?"

"Yes."

"What's the usual punishment?"

"Fifteen lashes."

Representative Bartlett of Georgia, a member of the committee, observed that the whole system of convict labor was wrong.

"I don't think there is any difference in committee as to that," added Representative Gardner of Massachusetts.

"No difference of opinion as to that with us," interjected Attorney Reed for the steel corporation, "and we are getting out of it as soon as possible."

Explains Loss of Evidence.

New York, Feb. 7.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, gave out a statement tonight in exaplanation of the charge made by the government that certain evidence used in the prosecution of the so-called Jackson wire pools and needed to support the government's suit to dissolve the corporation had been destroyed.

Gary says the evidence, a trunk full of "old papers" that had been before the federal grand jury in New York and returned after the indictments in the wire pool investigation had been "disposed of," was ordered destroyed by Frank Haackes, vice president of the American Steel and Wire company, who "supposed that all the prosecutions growing out of the wire pool were at an end and that the papers were no longer needed for any purpose."

MILWAUKEE ELECTRIC FEES UP.

Attorney Tenney Tells What His Firm Did to Earn Money Under Receiver—Others to Follow.

Horace Kent Tenney, member of the law firm of Tenney, Coffeen, Harding & Sherman, counsel for Osborn, Moore & Hanna, former receivers for the Chicago-Milwaukee Electric company, was placed on the witness stand before United States Judge K. M. Landis in the controversy over attorneys' fees that came up for a hearing. Mr. Tenney's firm have received $23,000 in fees from the former receivers and recently presented a petition asking that they be paid a balance of $52,000 for services rendered the defunct railroad. Lawyers representing the new organization committee of the road and bondholders are fighting the attempts to collect the fees, declaring they are exorbitant.

MONEY IN CHICAGO SHOWS EASY TONE

Banks Take Commercial Paper at 3½ Per Cent; Limited Demand for Funds.

DEPOSITS CONTINUE GAIN.

Northwestern Railroad Sells $15,000,000 Bonds of Branch to New York House.

Money in Chicago is distinctly easier. A number of the banks are taking commercial paper freely at 3½ per cent. Some that are fairly well loaned up have a minimum of 3¾ per cent. The market, however, may be quoted from 3½ to 4½ per cent with conditions easy.

Deposits continue to grow. This is true of all the banks. Meanwhile general business in the last ten days has not kept up with the promise of early in January, so that the demand for funds is relatively limited.

Stock market conditions are on about the same level as general business. The demand from brokers is ordinary in volume, so that all borrowing sources produce a minimum of business at the banks.

Northwestern Sells Bonds.

The Chicago and Northwestern has sold to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. $15,000,000 Milwaukee-Sparta and Northwestern railway company first mortgage 4 per cent gold bonds, due March 1, 1947. Both principal and interest are guaranteed by indorsement and are to be assumed by the Chicago and Northwestern railway company. This bond issue was determined upon some time ago and the Northwestern has taken advantage of an easy money market to get a good price for its paper.

Gold Exports Not Significant.

It is announced by one of the largest international banking houses of New York that the gold being shipped to Paris goes as a commodity. The foreign exchange market is further away from the gold exporting point than when the first of the $6,000,000 shipment began.

Case Stock on Curb.

J. P. Morgan & Co. have made application to list the preferred stock trust certificates of the J. I. Case Thrashing Machine company on the New York curb and the application has been approved by the listing committee. The stock was offered at par in New York and Chicago and the price has since gone above 101.

Biscuit Common.

National Biscuit common was somewhat irregular yesterday. Some friends of the company are beginning to be a little uncertain as to whether the board of directors at the next dividend period will increase the rate by 1 per cent to 8 per cent regular and 2 per cent extra. The stock now pays 7 per cent regular and 2 per cent extra. For some months it has been understood the dividend would be increased.

Chicago Securities.

Sears-Roebuck common was again the feature of trading on the local exchange. The price sold off from the opening to 147⅝, but on buying from two prominent houses advanced to 148⅝. The rise in the stock has been a quick one. The shares moved up from 140 to 153¾ in less than a week. After an advance of 13 points a reaction was due.

Chicago Pneumatic Tool worked fractionally lower, closing at 47. While the company made a good showing for its fiscal year it was not quite what news announcements had led the public to expect. There may have been some disappointment over the showing, but all the markets were weak at the opening yesterday.

McCrum-Howell common showed some further firmness, closing at 38⅝. The preferred was steady at 90. A few shares of Western Stone sold at 14⅛. In the bond department prices were steady.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Repayments to the Bank of England made the supply of money short today. Discount rates were easy and the market expected a reduction in the bank rate tomorrow. The stock market moved irregularly. Home rails were depressed by unfavorable dividend reports and labor unrest in the coal trade, and Mexican rails were flat and kaffirs weak. Gilt edged securities hardened in anticipation of a reduction in the bank rate, consols gaining three-sixteenths. American securities opened steady and about unchanged from yesterday's New York opening. Fair buying appeared during the first hour and prices advanced from ¼ to ⅝. Later Southern Railway shares were steady on favorable dividend reports, but the rest of the list declined on Wall street offerings. The closing was easy.

INQUIRY A FACTOR IN WALL STREET

Waiting on "Money Trust" Caucus Given as Cause for Narrow Movement.

JERSEY CENTRAL GAINS.

Stock in The Texas Company Strong; More Gold Is Exported.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, Feb. 7.—[Special.]—According to Wall street's own account of its affairs, the stock exchange was waiting today on the outcome of the caucus called a week ago to determine the attitude of the Democratic majority of the lower house toward the proposed "money trust" investigation.

The narrowness of the movement in the stocks which occupy the central position in speculative activity and the contraction in the total trading were pointed to as indicating that the stock exchange was waiting for this news from Washington.

The action of the market tomorrow will supply the practical comment on this view of today's listless dealings on the exchange, but it would afford no occasion for surprise if with this situation settled it were found that the stock exchange again waited on some other incident.

Advance in Jersey Central.

It had pretty definitely made up its mind today what the outcome of the caucus would be, and this fact militated against the assumption that the day's limitation of trading was solely the result of the wish to see the "money trust" investigation question definitely settled.

In stocks other than those upon which professional trading operations are largely centered there were a number of wide movements, some being gains and others losses. The further advance in Central of New Jersey kept interest alive in the reports current for some time of a proposed distribution of special value to the shareholders of this road.

Higher prices for crude oil were pointed to as the explanation of the strength of the stock in The Texas company and among the railroad issues which reflected special influences a movement which attracted considerable attention was the advance in Southern Railway preferred. Report had it in this connection, although it was unconfirmed, that the dividends on the stock now being paid at the rate of 2 per cent will be increased to 4 per cent.

More Gold for Export.

Altogether $1,000,000 gold was added to the previous engagement for export, bringing the total on this present movement to Paris up to $6,000,000. A further easing in sterling exchange would seem once again to point to the termination of this gold outflow were it not, that the shipments have taken place under special conditions and that exchange rates have not been the controlling factor in the negotiations which led up to the export of this gold.

Money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2¼; closing bid, 2⅜; offered at 2½. Time loans easier; 60 days, 2½@2¾ per cent, and 90 days, 2¾ per cent; six months, 3@3¼ per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4 per cent. Sterling exchange weak with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8450 for 60 day bills and at 4.8715 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83⅝. Bar silver, 58⅞c. Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds, steady. Railroad bonds, steady.

STEEL TRUST HAS BUSY TIME

Now Has 86 Per Cent of Blast Furnaces in Operation.

PIG IRON PRODUCTION GROWS

February Promises a Considerable Increase, Says Trade Paper.

New York, Feb. 7.—The Iron Age will say tomorrow:

"That the increased operation of steel works due to the large business booked in December has centered in the steel corporation's plant in the Pittsburgh district is strikingly shown in the pig iron statistics for January. In that month thirteen steel corporation furnaces were blown in. That also is exactly the number by which the total of active furnaces in the entire country, of Feb. 1, exceeds that of Jan. 1, 227 against 214.

"Pig iron production in January was 2,057,911 gross tons, or 66,384 tons a day, as against 2,043,270 tons in December, or 65,912 tons a day. Severe weather cut down the output of a good many furnaces. February promises a considerable increase, however. While eight furnaces were blown out last month, twenty-one were blown in, and the capacity active Feb. 1 was 71,106 tons a day, a gain of nearly 3,500 tons upon Jan. 1. Production is now at the rate of 26,000,000 tons a year, or 1,250,000 tons a year more than on Jan. 1. In 1911 the total for the country was 23,650,000 tons.

Five Furnaces Blown In.

"The steel corporation now has 86 per cent of its blast furnace capacity in operation. It has blown in five furnaces in the last week—two at Cleveland, one Isabella at Pittsburgh, one in South Chicago, and one in Joliet—making a total of eighteen furnaces it has blown in this year. The Bessemer blooming mill of the American Steel and Wire company at Newburg, O., has been started up for the first time in four years.

"It should be said that this scale of activity at steel corporation plants is not shared by the independent steel companies generally. One or two of such companies are running schedules since Jan. 1.

Mills Satisfied with Tonnage.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 7.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say:

"The mills are well satisfied with the situation as far as tonnage is concerned, but ins some quarters there is disappointment over the failure of the market to advance. In the Chicago district some tendency to weakness is noted on plates and structurals, and it is possible that attractive business will bring out prices lower than 1.30c Chicago."

BALTIMORE AND OHIO JOINS ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS CRUSADE.

Railroad Fits Up Exhibition Car for Maryland Association—Will Present Lectures in Many Towns.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad has fitted up an "anti-tuberculosis car" for the Maryland Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis. The car will form a part of a special train which will visit the towns of Maryland in an educational campaign looking to the eradication of that disease. Later it may be sent to other states.

The tuberculosis car is enameled in white, inside and outside, and is thoroughly sanitary in design. It will display anti-tuberculosis exhibits, and lectures will be delivered on the prevention of the disease by local physicians at the cities and towns visited.

Frank H. Davis, treasurer of the Chicago and Alton railway, was elected vice president of the road, and James Stuart Mackie, secretary and assistant treasurer, was chosen a director and member of the executive committee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Edwin Hawley at a directors' meeting in New York yesterday.

BULGE IN GRAIN FAILS TO STICK

Cables Strong from All Foreign Marts, but Wheat Pit Offerings Are Heavy.

DOMESTIC INQUIRY SLOW.

Coarse Grain Prices Higher at Start, but Close Is Not Much Changed.

Strong Liverpool and continental cables gave wheat prices a sharp upturn at the start yesterday. The advance, however, was met with heavy selling by commission houses, and late in the day prices receded. In the last hour the tone of the market was weak, and final quotations were ⅛@¼c to ⅝c lower. Aside from the strength shown in the foreign markets there was not much in the news to make for higher prices, and the commission house selling was on too heavy a scale for the market to hold. Local traders were the chief buyers on the advance, and later in the day there was liquidation by this class of speculators.

The selling of the day was led by Chapin-Harris-Winthrop, Logan-Bryan, Bartlett-Frazier, Ware-Leland, and Noyes-Jackson. Lamson was a seller. Clement-Curtis, King-Farnum, Wagner, Barrell, and Barrett were early buyers. Near the close Barrett was credited with selling.

Good Bulge at Liverpool.

Liverpool was ¾@1d higher on the prospective light Argentine shipments, the firm tone of Buenos Aires, and a continued good spot demand. Paris was 1½@1¾c up on the refusal of the French government to consider the proposition to reduce import duties. The other continental markets were firm, but did not show as much excitement as the Paris market. Antwerp was ⅝c higher, Berlin ¼c higher, and Budapest ⅛c up. Foreign markets generally appear to be nervous in regard to the supplies for the coming six or eight weeks, and short sellers abroad have been the principal buyers.

The dock laborers at Argentine ports have decided not to strike, and it is believed that the railroad officials have the strike well in hand. Consequently, liberal exports from South America are expected from now on. The quality of the Argentine wheat is a matter of much concern at Liverpool, and on the character of this wheat will depend largely the question as to whether there will be any further purchases of American red winter wheat. If it should happen that the supply of good wheat abroad is short, then there is a possibility that our wheats will again be in demand.

The local cash situation is considered discouraging inasmuch as millers show no inclination to buy. At St. Louis there was a fair demand, with sales of 65,000 bu, but locally sales were only 5,000 bu, and there was more wheat bought to arrive than there was sold, one house buying 100,000 bu No. 2 red from the country.

Receipts Continue Large.

Primary receipts were 424,000 bu, against 466,000 bu a year ago, and northwest arrivals were 214 cars, against 255 cars a year ago. Winnipeg had 238 cars, against 29 cars a year ago, and local receipts were 32 cars, with 17 cars inspected yesterday. The movement in the southwest was light, Kansas City and St. Louis having 74,000 bu, against 123,000 bu a year ago. Reports from Minneapolis indicated a little better flour inquiry and a fair cash demand, but stocks there increased 215,000 bu for the four days. Some of the grain firms up in the northwest are predicting a smaller movement, but predictions of this kind have been so numerous that the trade paid little attention to them. Clearances for the day were light at 75,000 bu wheat and flour.

Corn Breaks After Upturn.

The action of the corn market was a good deal like that in wheat. The higher Liverpool cables caused a general rush to buy at the start, giving prices here a substantial rally. The advance was taken advantage of by local longs and commission houses to dump a lot of corn on the market. With the principal demand coming from local bulls, the offerings were too heavy to permit of prices holding. The cash market was ¼ to ½c higher early, but prices were unchanged, except white corn, which was about 1c lower. Futures finished at ⅛c decline.

A bearish feature of the day was the reselling of 100,000 bu corn here by a Baltimore exporter. Export bids were said to be away out of line and there is not much prospect of any new export business at this level. Country offerings continue fairly liberal and primary receipts for the day were 1,608,000 bu, compared to 935,000 bu a year ago. Receipts here were 409 cars, with 370 cars inspected yesterday. Clearances were liberal at 385,000 bu. The southwestern cash corn situation is not so strong and prices from St. Louis were bearish. The Texas demand is said to have been filled up and Kansas City stocks increased 70,000 bu for one day.

Liverpool was ¾ to 1¼d higher, the advance being due to the light offerings of American and Plate corn and the scarcity of stocks. Commission houses were good sellers of corn, Bartlett-Frazier being credited with selling much more than they bought, and the buying demand was less urgent.

Oats Close at Bottom.

Oats were strong at the start and weak at the finish. Much of the early buying was induced by the strength in wheat and corn, but on the swell in prices offerings were heavy and it was believed a large quantity of long oats was put on the market. Bartlett-Frazier were the leaders in the buying early, but were sellers later. Selling by local traders increased the late pressure. All the early advance was lost and prices finished unchanged to a shade lower. A better cash demand from the east was reported and shipping sales were 265,000 bu. Sample prices here were unchanged to ½c higher, the market closing with the advance lost. Receipts were 145 cars with 12 estimated for today. Primary arrivals were 661,000 bu, compared to 531,000 bu a year ago.

Hog Products Are Dull.

Provisions were dull and with the exception of ribs were a little lower at the close. Tietgens was a fair buyer of product and selling was scattered. Hog receipts were enormous at 56,000, but this fact did not have much effect upon the market. The estimate for today is 39,000. Prices at the yards were 5c lower. In the west hog receipts were 168,200, compared to 107,400 a year ago. Liverpool was 6d higher for Cumberland sides and is lower for hams. Receipts of products here were 29 cars and shipments were 89 cars. The cash demand was moderate.

Rye Market on Firm Basis.

Rye market exhibited firmness and No 2 sold on a stronger basis at 94c. No. 3 made 90@92½c, and sample grade 88c. No. 4 closed at 80@89c. Receipts were estimated at 8 cars.

Barley was firm, with malting $1.10@1.32; mixing, 90c@$1.00; feed, 80@90c; screenings, 50@80c. Receipts, 43 cars.

Timothy seed was steady at $16.50 nominal for March and $12.00@15.00 for cash lots. Clover seed held steady, with country offerings $16.00@22.50.

Duluth flax was unchanged to ½c lower. Cash on track closed at $2.10¼; February, $2.08½; May, $2.09¾. Receipts were 19 cars. Minneapolis flax closed 1½c lower at $2.09¾ for cash on track. Receipts were 19 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Wheat buyers were not so excitable yesterday as recently, and in spite of the strong foreign developments there was not much response. Local bulls who were early buyers counted on some support from the outside, but it was not forthcoming. On the contrary, commission houses were free sellers. That there was not more buying was discouraging to the bulls, and they were of the belief that the leaders who profess to be bullish are holding the market in check. Judging from the character of the foreign cable advices, there is a fair possibility that some of our wheat will be wanted, although Baltimore wired their prices, which are about 8c lower than Chicago relatively, are out of line for export. New York wired there were bids on No. 2 red about 1¼c out of line from France. Local exporters do not enthuse any, however, on the subject of foreign business and say there are few prospects of anything important developing in this line.

Quite a little wheat was bought to arrive yesterday, No. 2 red wheat being sold to come here from Indiana and Michigan. On the other hand, the shipping demand was slow. St. Louis was the only market showing much demand for wheat, and sales there were 65,000 bu to outside mills. Kansas City prices were unchanged to ½c up. Minneapolis was firm and premiums for No. 1 northern were ½@¾c oevr the May. Cash corn here was a little higher early, but closed with the advance lost. White corn at the close was 1c lower. Offerings were fair and the demand moderate. Oats were unchanged at the finish after being ½c higher early. Shipping sales were 140,000 bu corn and 265,000 bu oats, the demand for the oats being more active.

One local cash man sold 100,000 bu No. 2 red to arrive to another local house yesterday. There was said to have been more wheat offered. Terms of the sale were not given out.

Joseph E. Otis and the estate of John B. Adams posted memberships on the board of trade for transfer, while Francis D. Strawbridge made application for membership.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 17 cars; corn, 370 cars; oats, 121 cars; rye, 8 cars; barley, 42 cars; hogs, 39,000 head.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ⅛@⅜d lower; corn, steady to ⅛c lower; oats, ¼@½c lower; rye unchanged.

Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 215,000 bu for four days.

LIVE STOCK MART CONTINUES SLIDE

Hogs Overrun Expectations; Opening Decline of 5 Cents Increases to 10 Cents.

CATTLE DROP, BUT RALLY

Trade Closes in Strong Position; Sheep and Lambs Excessive; Many Are Unsold.

Live stock prices at Chicago yesterday continued the downward slide started Tuesday, and further losses of 5@15c were recorded in quotations on hogs, sheep, and lambs. Cattle opened on a weak basis, but rallied and closed steady when estimates on receipts were materially reduced.

First guess on the probable supply of hogs was posted at 40,000 head, but this was later raised to 56,000, and an early decline of 5c was enlarged to one of 10c. Eastern shippers maintained their position as leaders in the trade, taking 10,000 hogs, while packers took hold sparingly and pounded prices continuously. The top for the day was $6.32½, and the average $6.16, the latter showing a loss of 7c.

Cattle trade finished in a strong position, with shippers taking an aggressive part in the late trade. Sales were made at up to $9.00 for fancy 1,663 lb beeves, it being the first time since last December that the $9.00 mark was attained.

Sheep and lamb supplies were excessive and the market closed with many loads being carried over unsold. Lambs topped at $6.75, but few sold at higher than $6.50, while yearlings stopped at $5.50 and wethers at $4.60.

CONCEAL SECRETS OF GUGGENHEIMS

Wife of Millionaire Said to Be on North Shore as Divorce Suit Starts.

ASKS FOR NEW ALIMONY.

Plea of Woman Believed to Be for Much Money; Attorney Says It's Status' Appeal.

Some north shore suburb is a haven from publicity for Mrs. Grace Brown Guggenheim, former wife of the multimillionaire smelter man, whose bill to set aside her decree of divorce went to a hearing before Judge T. G. Windes in the Circuit court yesterday afternoon.

It was said by Attorney John J. Lorden of New York, Mrs. Guggenheim's counsel, that she is ready at telephone notice to come to court and assist him with information, but that her temporary residence will be kept secret until after the hearing.

Lawyer Explains Status.

"There seems to be a general belief that Mrs. Guggenheim is seeking additional alimony—more than the $150,000 she received in 1901," Mr. Lorden said. "To correct this impression I will say that she is only endeavoring to determine her status. If the court declares she still is the wife of Guggenheim, because of lack of jurisdiction of Illinois courts to grant the decree, she will begin new divorce proceedings at once in New York, her legal residence. She already has made stipulation in New York to the effect that she seeks no further alimony."

Mr. Lorden is being assisted at the hearing by Attorney Charles J. Trainor of Chicago. Attorney Samuel Untermeyer, well known lawyer of New York, appears as chief of counsel for Guggenheim. It was noted that Mr. Lorden referred constantly to his client as Mrs. Guggenheim, while Mr. Untermeyer called her Mrs. Wahl, her name after a second marriage in Paris. This marriage has been annulled.

Pleas End Today.

Most of the day's three and a half hour session was taken up with the reading of pleadings and portions of the bill and of proceedings had in New York. Most of the argument will come this morning, when it is believed the hearing will end.

SCHOOL TEACHER DENIES HE'S "MISSING" OR "SHORT."

Louis F. Boarini of the Wendell Phillips High Says All Student Publication Funds Are Intact.

Three angles appeared in the case of Louis F. Boarini, a Wendell Phillips High school teacher, yesterday reported to have been "missing," while pupils of the school wondered what had become of money belonging to a school publication of which Mr. Boarini was treasurer.

Mr. Boarini was very much in evidence in his house at 2714 Lexington street at night. He declared no money had been misplaced; that there were no discrepancies, and that the only reason certain bills had not been paid was that they had been held up for auditing. The only time he had been "missing," he said, was one day, when he left the school by permission.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, said she was investigating certain reports that had come to her.

Spencer R. Smith, principal of the Wendell Phillips school, said he knows nothing about the "mystery." If he did, he wouldn't say anything, he said

Mr. Boarini, it is believed, will make a full report to Mrs. Young this morning.

SAYS DOCTOR STRUCK HER.

Woman Asks Arrest of Hospital Physician, Whom She Accuses of Dislocating Shoulder in Transfer.

Mrs. Dorothy Hunter, who lives at the Bradford hotel, 8000 Michigan avenue, obtained a warrant yesterday before Municipal Judge Rooney for the arrest of Dr. F. Deacon of the Rhodes Avenue hospital on assault charges.

Mrs. Hunter says the hospital authorities attempted to remove her to a smaller room while she was there for treatment and she objected.

Thereupon, she says, Dr. Deacon knocked her to the floor and dislocated her shoulder.

EVIDENCE ON 2 MORE PACKERS

Charles Swift and Francis A. Fowler Named in Testimony.

ATTORNEYS ARGUE HOTLY.

Counsel Debate Repetition of Grand Jury Questions.

With the jury in the packers' case excused from Judge Carpenter's courtroom yesterday, District Attorney Wilkerson and counsel for the packers argued hotly on the right to question a trial witness on what he had said at the grand jury investigation two years ago.

The witness, John M. Chaplin, chief accountant for Swift & Co., had made certain statements before the inquisitorial body which were said to be in regard to conferences with Charles Swift, one of the defendants in the "beef trust" prosecution.

Judge Carpenter reserved ruling, but the prosecutor brought from the witness an admission of conferences with Mr. Swift over figures which Chaplin had submitted.

"I would just tell him how much change there was," he said. "He didn't care anything about the details or how the cost was arrived at. What he was interested in was how much was back of the cost."

"Did he ever tell you how much should be kept back of the cost?"

"Why, I just gathered it from the figures I presented—what he would say about them, if they were too high or too low he might make some remarks about them."

Chaplin identified among a list of initials of men to whom certain reports were sent "F. A. F." which he said meant Francis A. Fowler, another of the Swift group of defendants.

TWO "TRIBUNE" WANT ADS SOLVE LOST WATCH PROBLEM.

Their Position Side by Side—Loser and Finder Have Trouble in Meeting for Some Hours.

Two want ads placed side by side in THE TRIBUNE Tuesday morning kept two persons unintentionally dodging each other for four or five hours later in the day. The ads were as follows:

WATCH—LOST—LADY'S GOLD WALTHAM; marked Maud from Grandma; reward; no questions asked. M. PEARSE, 600 W. Washington-st

WATCH—PARTY LOSING WATCH GIVEN TO them by grandma, 15th birthday, may have same by calling 2800 Armour-av., 2d flat.

"M. Pearse" is Myron Pearse, auditor for the Chicago Railways company. The finder of the watch was Mrs. F. Alexander of St. Paul, who is visiting at the residence of John Ball at the address given in the ad. As soon as they had seen the paper both Mr. Pearse and Mrs. Alexander began looking for each other. When Mr. Pearse was on the west side Mrs. Alexander was somewhere on the south side. Finally they met at the Ball residence.

Mrs. Alexander found the watch on the sidewalk at Archer avenue and Halsted street. She refused to accept any reward. In view of all the circumstances Mr. Pearse regrets the phrase "no questions asked."

Electric Worker Overcome by Gas.

Le Grande Dyke, an employé of the Commonwealth Edison company, was found in his room at 2960 Groveland avenue yesterday overcome by gas which had escaped from a heater.

Notice to Fat Women

Presumably you know, ladies, that the proper caper nowadays is lines. Curves are passe. You have got to take off your fat. This must be done in one of three ways. By dieting, by exercise, or by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. The two former will keep you busy for months and punish you pretty severely, the latter will cost you 75 cents at the druggist's. The tablets will not make any alteration in your diet necessary, and yet in all probability, before you have used up one case, you will be losing from 12 to 16 ounces of fat a day. Which method do you like the best?

If you fancy this pleasant method of getting off the fat, see your druggist instantly, or else write the Marmola Co., 1409 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., to send you a case by mail. These cases contain so generous a quantity of tablets that the treatment is very economical. It is, also, quite harmless, for the tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription. —Advt.

The Case of Richard Meynell

By Mrs. Humphry Ward

The romance of a man who revolts against the established order. It is a strong story in Mrs. Ward's best style.

READ THESE TWO OPINIONS

In "The Case of Richard Meynell," Mrs. Humphry Ward has done the best work of her literary career. In "Richard Meynell" she has come into her own again. The story itself is strong, deep with human feeling and compelling in its interest.—Sacramento Union.

A Reader says:

"'Richard Meynell' came very opportunely, in a time of depression and literary drought. I read it once, quickly and eagerly, for the story, you know. Now I am giving it a second, and more careful, perusal. It is a fine piece of work, fulfilling all the promise of 'Robert Elsmere.'

"Both as story and argument it seems to me a much better book than that. My sympathies and convictions are so markedly on the side of the Modernists that it is a rare pleasure to me to have their cause argued so clearly and ably."

The Harvester

By Gene Stratton-Porter

Author of "Freckles," etc.

No book by this well-known author has met with such immediate and widespread success. 150,000 in the first five months! It is a book that everybody likes, young and old.

READ THESE OPINIONS

"The love story is intensely interesting and as exciting as possible and yet so much charm is in the author's writing that no description is too long nor is it ever wearisome. How well she herself knows and often loves the country she writes of is seen by her description of it. It is the best novel from the pen of this author and can be recommended to readers of all ages."—San Francisco Call.

"It is a beautiful book in every respect, whether it be classified as one thing or the other, as romance of two hearts or that of the fields and woods."—Washington Evening Star.
